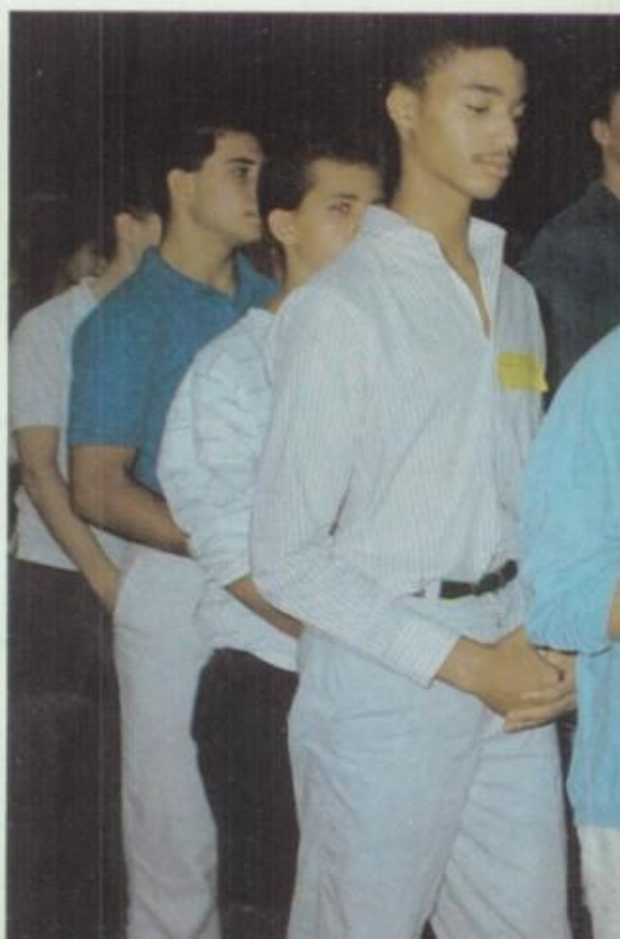
Come and Celebrate

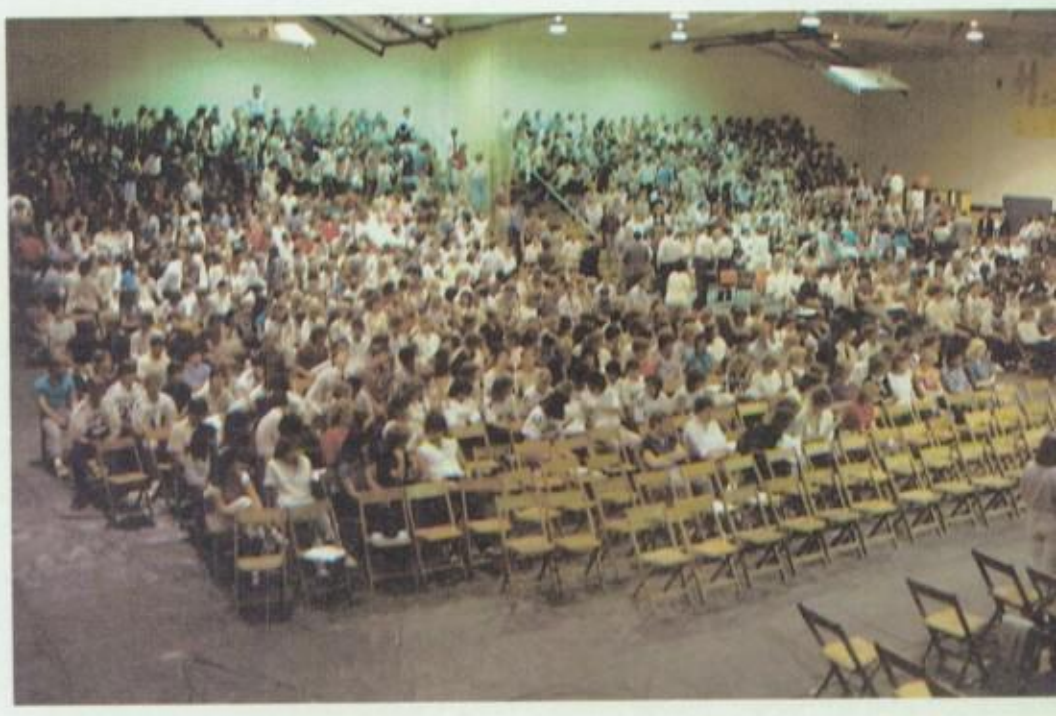
As tradition has it Bishop Foley started off its eighty-six, eighty seven school year with an opening school mass. The invitation of spiritual celebration was extended to many. It was a communal event which united a variety of priests from several parishes, school board members, parents, faculty, administration and students. This year there was something unique included in the mass. Mr. Gajewski got everyone involved by having students, faculty and parents take a public oath to try to go through the year with scholastic and spiritual excellence.

Bishop Melczek and Fathers Pouget, Lewandowski, Babich, Babcock, Bretz and Sobiak were the celebrants bringing across the theme "We Touch the Cross, We Touch the Future". The theme stresses the importance of students doing well in everyday activities which directly affect the future. Also, a long time friend at Foley, Sr. Angela Rees was honored for her fifty years in religious life. She was presented with a plaque commemorating her years of dedication and service to the school. Opening school mass was another way for Bishop Foley to extend an invitation to us.

Sister Angela Rees presents to Bishop Melczek a special offering made by the Foley faculty, for a year of academic excellence.

When we touch the cross we touch the future, an important message heard by all who attended opening school mass.





Gathered together in all their glory, the entire student body at Bishop Foley and many more accepted the invitation to celebrate and rejoice in His word.

The cross is the ultimate symbol of the faith we share and the strength we have through Jesus. It is used in daily and special masses.

A special moment to receive the Host and to be touched by God. Bishop Melczek passes out Communion to seniors, Craig Lawson, Eddie Jones, James Schaefer and Jeff Curcio.

An Invitation to Faith

An important part of our life at Foley is our faith; faith in God, and faith in each other. As we begin each day with prayer, we outwardly show the importance of God in each of our lives. It is a great way to start our day together as one, by asking God for His guidance and help.

Reflections of our faith are present throughout our school community. These reflections help to remind us that God is present in our lives. One special place in our school is the chapel. The chapel is placed in the center of our school, in the same way God is placed in the center of our lives. On some occasions, religion classes may take their time together to celebrate their faith in God. This is another way in which students at Foley worship as a community.

"Seeing is believing" is an expression that holds true at Foley. Our faith is visible not only by the appearance of pictures, statues, and our chapel, but by the continued expressions of our faith and love shared by students and faculty. These signs of faith help our community become united as one. The faith that we share at Foley will grow with us, and continue to be an important part in our lives.

One of the most interesting religion classes offered at Foley is Christian Parenting. In this picture, senior Tracy Kource shows us that being a parent really is easy.

This statue of Mary represents many things for students at Foley. It can mean tranquility, goodness, or even peace. Mary is an inspiration to those in need of encouragement.

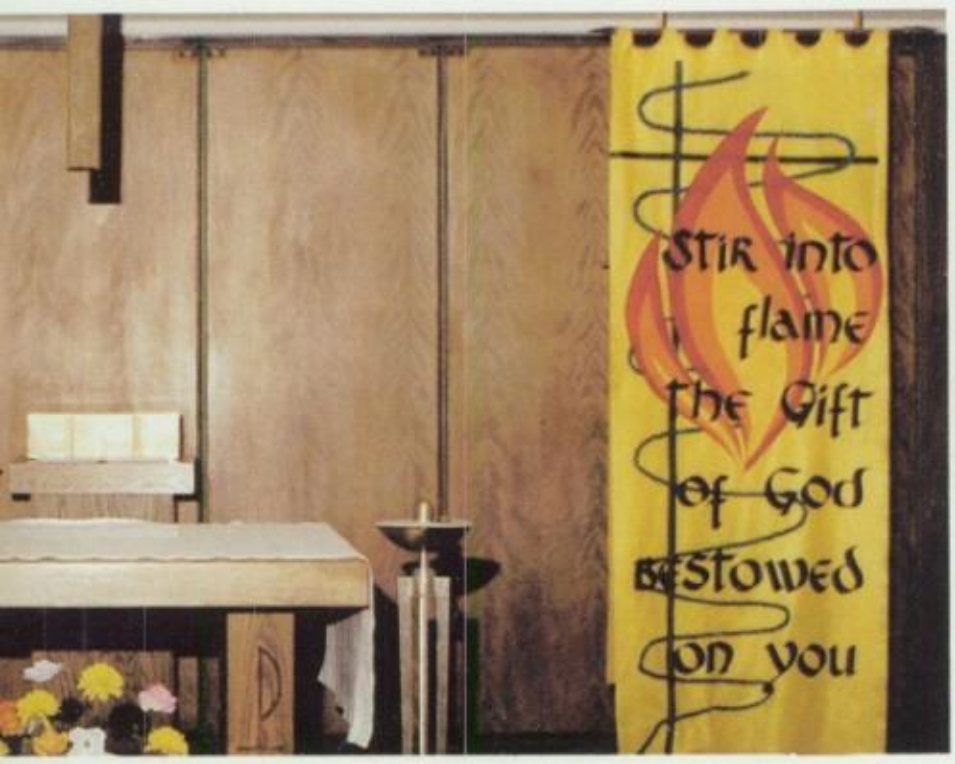
Members of the religion department invite Allison Pankey (10) Lisa Condino (12) and Steve Mitchell (12) into the Shalom Center for a tour of this fascinating room.

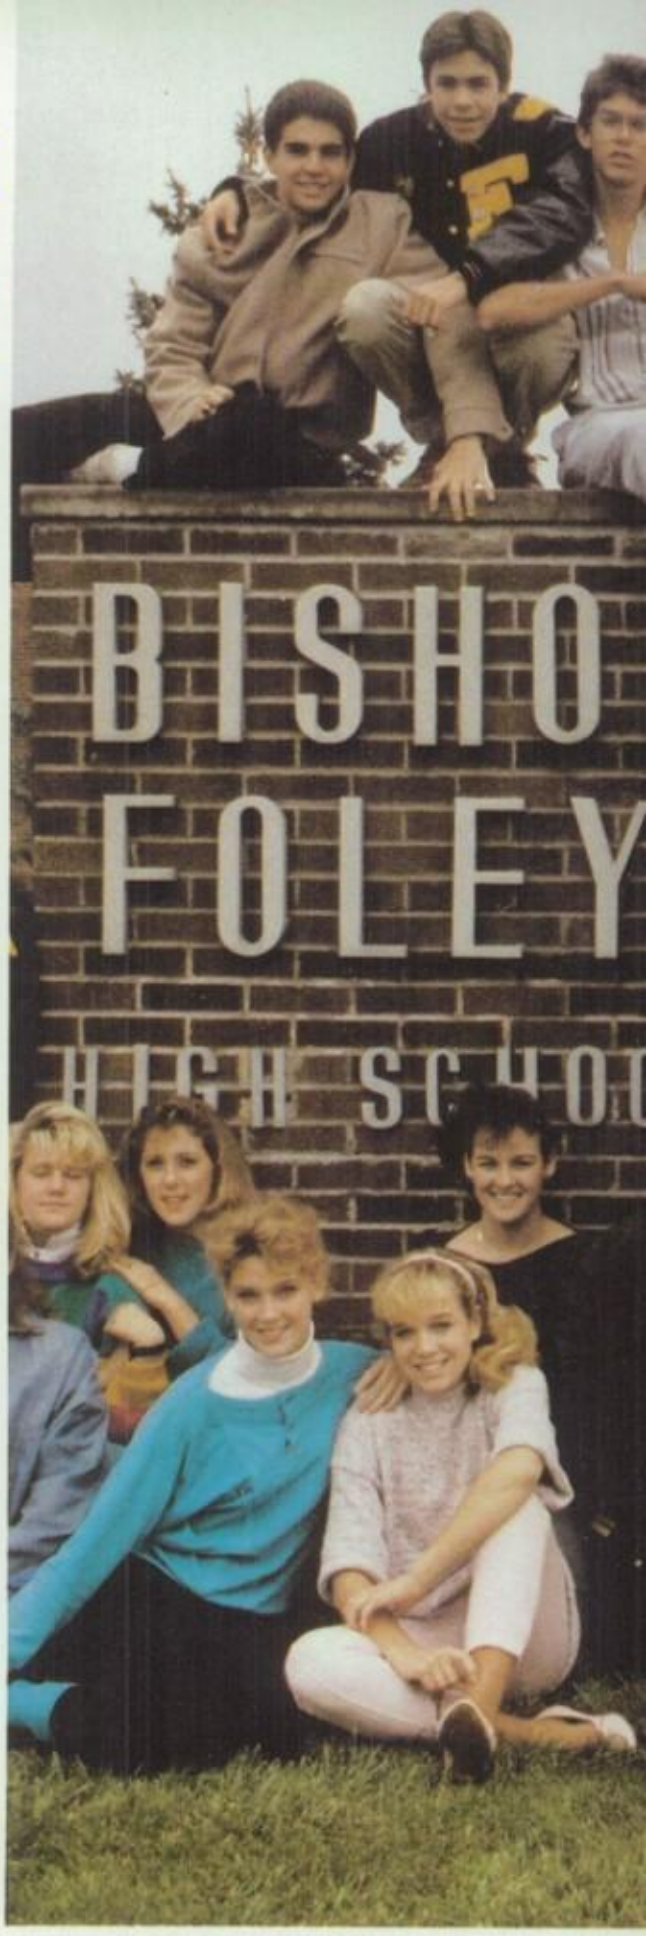


The chapel, located in the center of our school, is a place for students to quietly reflect. Special times during the school year, classes gather to pray and thank God for the many things He has given us.

Life After Hours

Everyday after school you see tons of students milling around. Some may wonder what would possess students to stay in the school longer than necessary? Well, there are thousands of reasons; well not exactly thousands but you get the picture. Anyways some reasons to stay after school may involve practice for a sport, cheerleading or Venturettes. Others stay after the computer time, extra school activities or play. Sometimes, believe it or not, students just stay after school to socialize and hear the latest gossip. Sophomore Joey Goralewski stays after school because "I wait for a ride to swim practice at either Page or Lamphere because Foley doesn't have a pool." Junior Derek Maroto says he stays after school "To work on computers and because I have nothing better to do." Freshmen Mike Tan, Sophomore Chuck Alo, and Senior Donna Orzame said they stay after school "To socialize." And Junior Diana Heydel's reason for staying after school is "I have play practice."

Foley students have many reasons for staying after school. If its not for sports, its academics. At Foley the after school hours are just as full as normal school hours. Life does go on past 2:35.



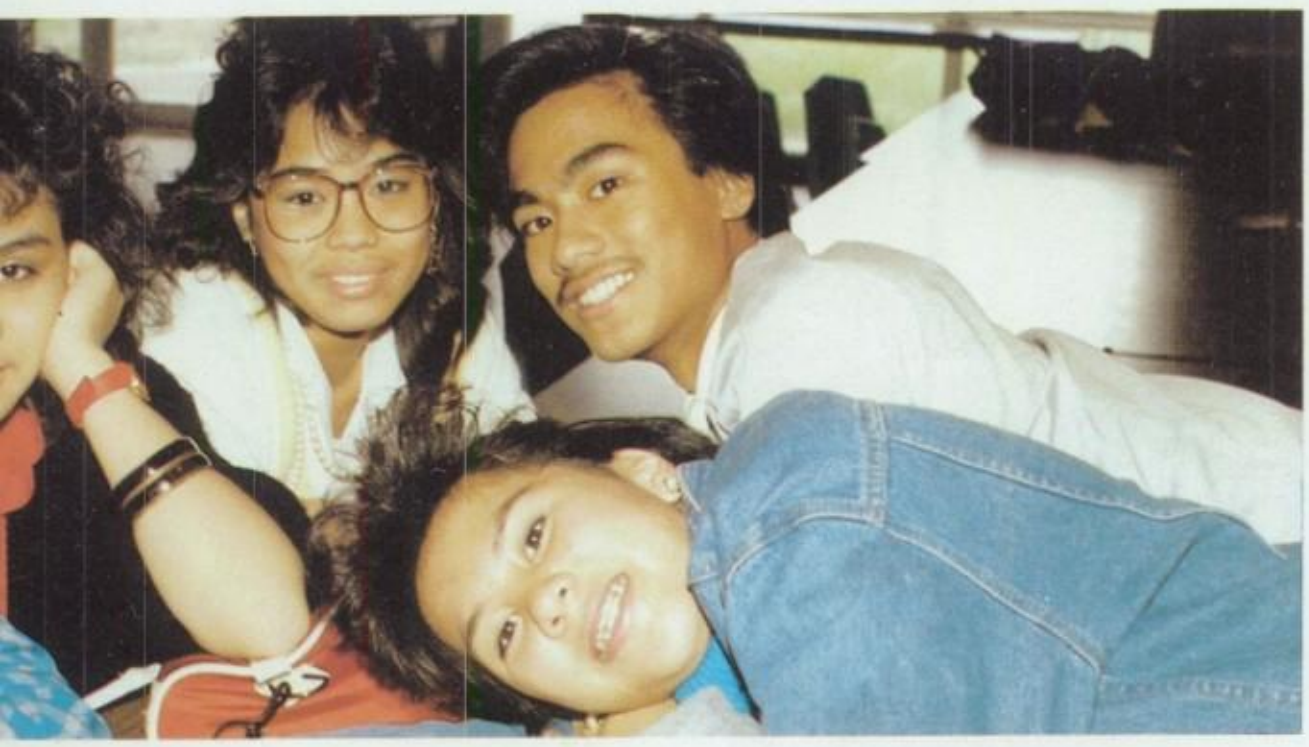
A few of Foley's finest take time out to pose for a picture in front of the sign revealing the yearbook's theme "An Invitation to Us."

Advanced chemistry students Tim Smith, Anthony Agbay, and Marlo Alo protect Andy Miriani and Madette Mojares from the objects growing from the wall.

In the midst of a song, Mr. Turball's sixth hour choir class savagely attacked him and he was never heard from again.

After school Senior Linda Wittmer and Junior Colleen Tierney were caught playing patty cake.

Gina Tan, Ann Almagro, Mike Sare, and Donna and Art Orzame are just hanging out before making their way home.

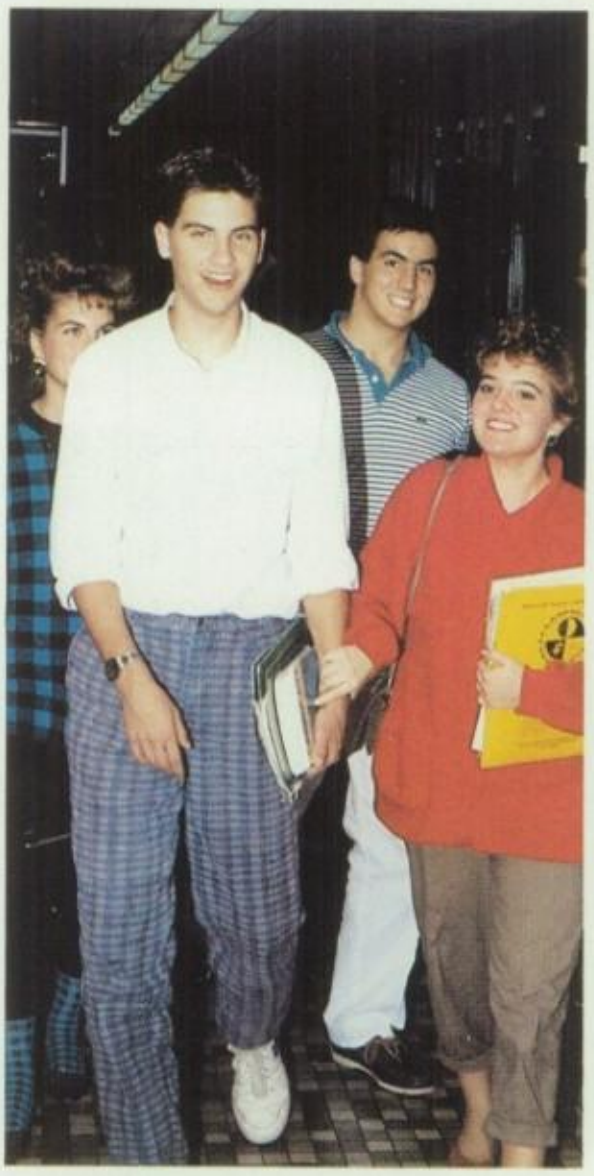


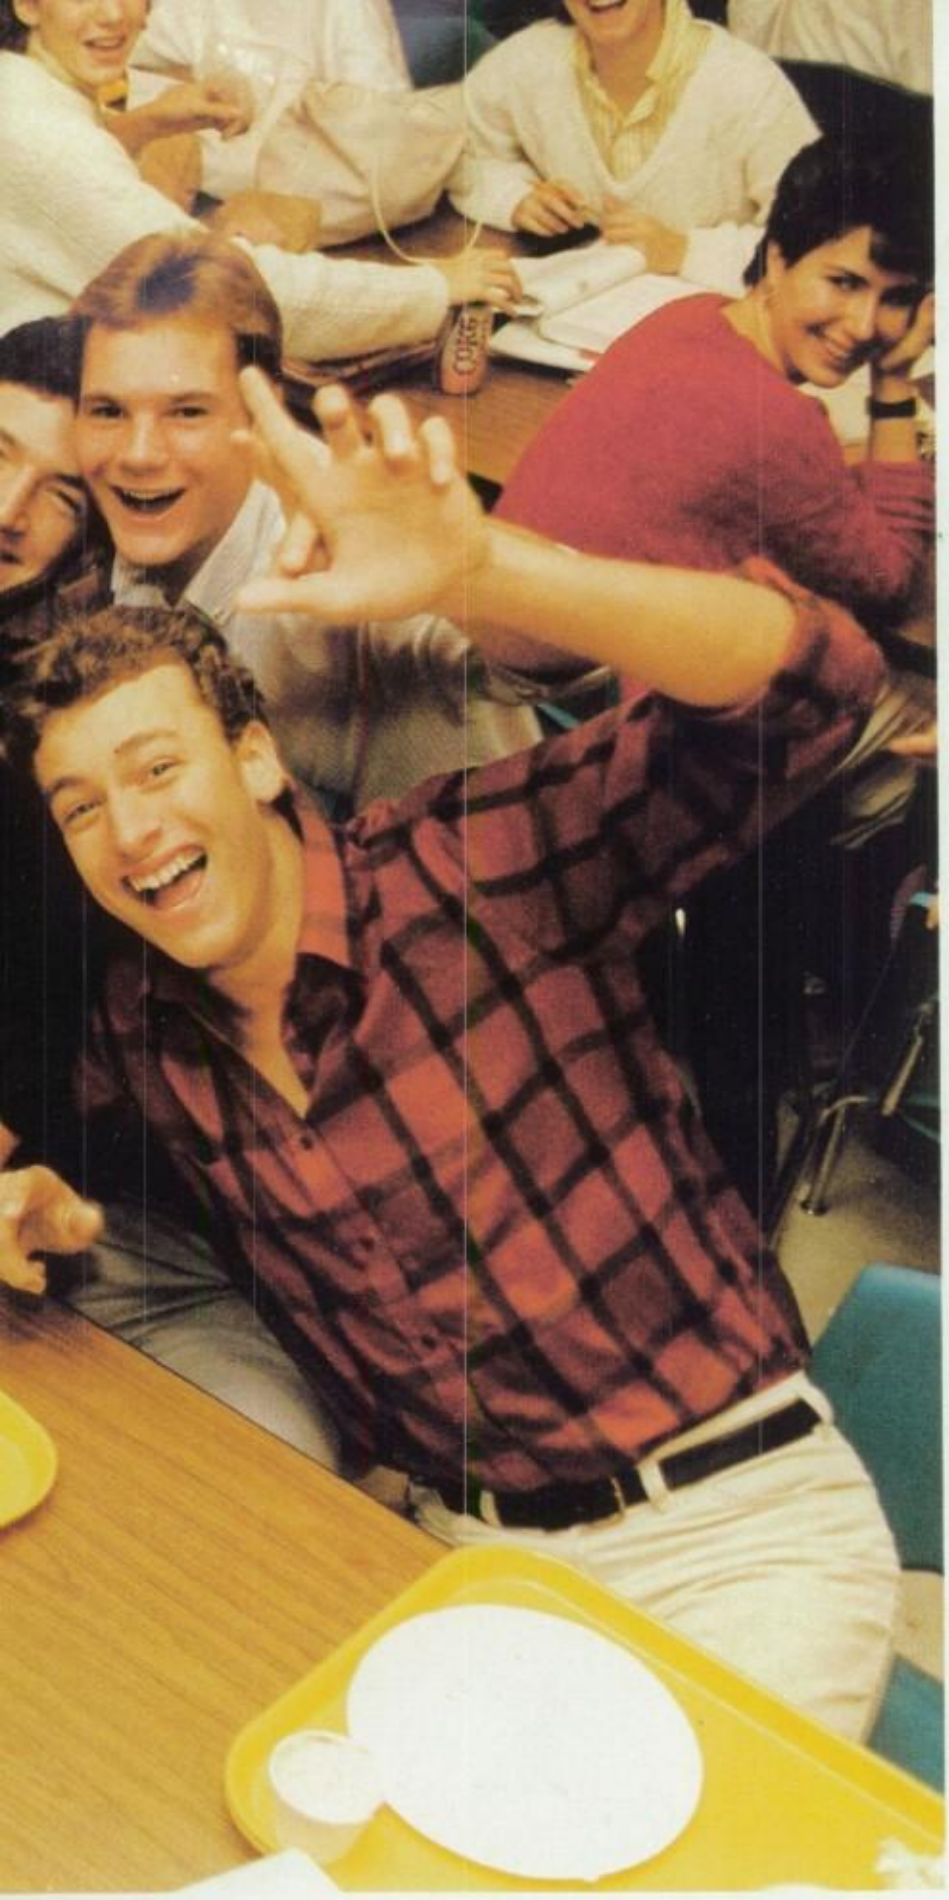
Foley Informalities

Why, one might ask, be invited to Bishop Foley. Just a building Foley is not; but a place where the people make Foley original, it is. They are special because of their yearning ability to approach new friends. Keep in mind, however, that students feel helping out an old friend is of equal importance. The majority of socializing carries on in the halls and cafe. During the exchange of classes one sees a typical freshman completely overwhelmed, dodging in five different directions or frozen to a complete halt dead center of the stairway. The high-strung sophomore yells obnoxious comments to the typical freshmen, but yet is still intimidated by the consequences of three tardies. The average junior loses all sense of direction after finding out the plans for this coming Friday night. The calm senior has overcome all fear of the consequences for three tardies (until the third is received), while casually walking to class catching this coming weekend's plan. It's dumbfounding how students become incredibly dependent on the five minute exchange and a fifteen minute lunch, in order to remain sane. The focal point of a formal cafe conversation lies in the areas of homework and who won the game last night, or one's latest scope. Brief moments like these develop the unique bonds of friendships within our school. Basically speaking, our student body at Foley is invariably ready for a prime time, moreover consistently anxious to get involved.

Take notice to these four flashy smiles from M. Fekete, G. Cavaliere, P. Brukwinski, and B. Boulus.

Attracting attention with their inviting smiles are J. Kelly, T. Malinowski, J. Rumpz, K. Vandenberghe, G. Rej, and L. Horwath.





Giving a peaceful hello from this group of Seniors during D lunch are Bob Mikulan and Mike Hopkins. Meanwhile, Sue Syncerski, Dawn Szelog and John Kapolka support their aching brains from the previous class.

During D lunch Senior Jeff Kelly, being the gentleman that he is, picks up the tab for his fellow friends and classmates Diane Ernst, Sr., and Anna Marchinda, Sr.

Holding a "group effort" study session in the library are seniors Roxi Kress, Anna Marchinda, Chris Ouellette, and Matt Zee. Hopefully Roxi won't choke from the pressure to make the trade.

Join in on the fun!

Rain, rain and more rain! That is the way Homecoming '86 began and ended. As our team entered the playing field you couldn't help but to feel the excitement and energy that was being created. The cheerleaders added to the spirit by leading the crowded stands with encouragement and cheer. All who were present felt the enthusiasm. From the time of kick-off, through the last playing moments, sounds of rattling milk cartons, screams and applause could be heard everywhere. Umbrellas went up and down with the rain, just as confetti did with every great play.

The suspense of the game continued at half time as the Homecoming Queen was announced, and the court introduced. Representing the Freshman class was Mary Madigan. The Sophomore Princess was Ann Demers, and chosen as the Junior class Princess was Amy Piovesana. Completing the Senior court were Dawn Szelog, Sue Synerski, Pam Brukwinski, and Michelle Laurencelle with Carolyn Singel as the new Homecoming Queen. Completing the half time festivities was the pep-band filling the stadium with music and rhythm.

The second half promised only more good times, more fun, and of course, more rain! Despite the determination and spirit that was always being shown, our Ventures were denied the glory of a victory that day against the U of D Cubs. Although the outcome of the game was not as hoped, the togetherness and the spirit at Foley still remained.

Of course we're still having fun! Despite rain and cold weather, Foley students and family expressed enthusiasm and excitement during Homecoming.

The powder pull game vs. the Senior and Junior girls always brings laughter and enjoyment to all who take part. Another group of people who bring sometimes more laughter than the game itself are the cheerleaders. Here juniors, Mark Desnoyer, Steve Norgrove, Derek Jacques, and Kevin O'Brien show us that cheerleading really does take a lot of coordination.

Foley's marching band entertains and excites the crowd at the Homecoming game. They added the finishing touches to a fun-filled game.

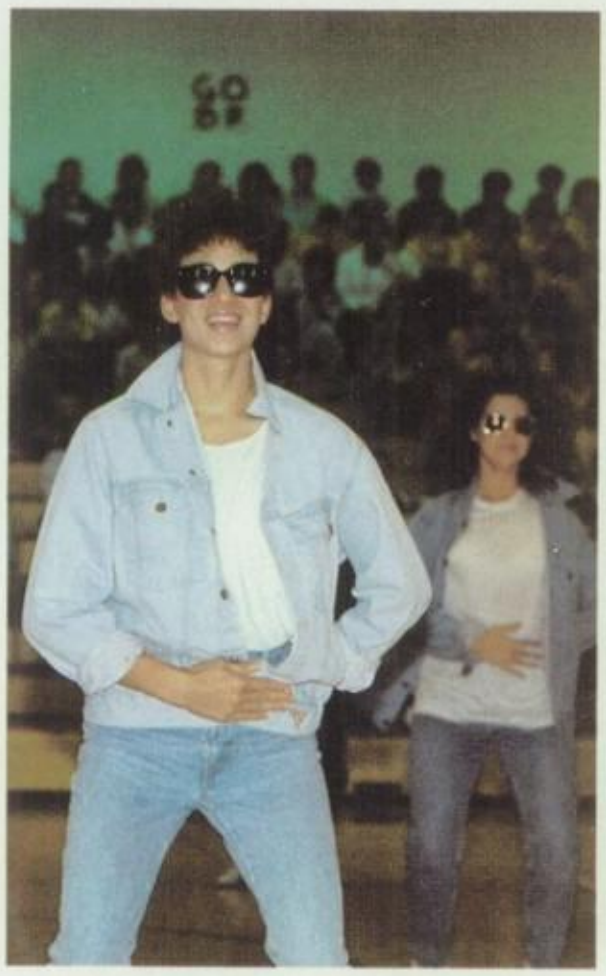
Even the football players had to battle the rough weather! In a well executed play, Dave Berti (11), gains yardage for Foley.

Members of the Senior Court, Dawn Szelog, Pam Brukwinski, and Michelle Laurencelle, and Queen Carolyn Singel still look their best even in the rain.

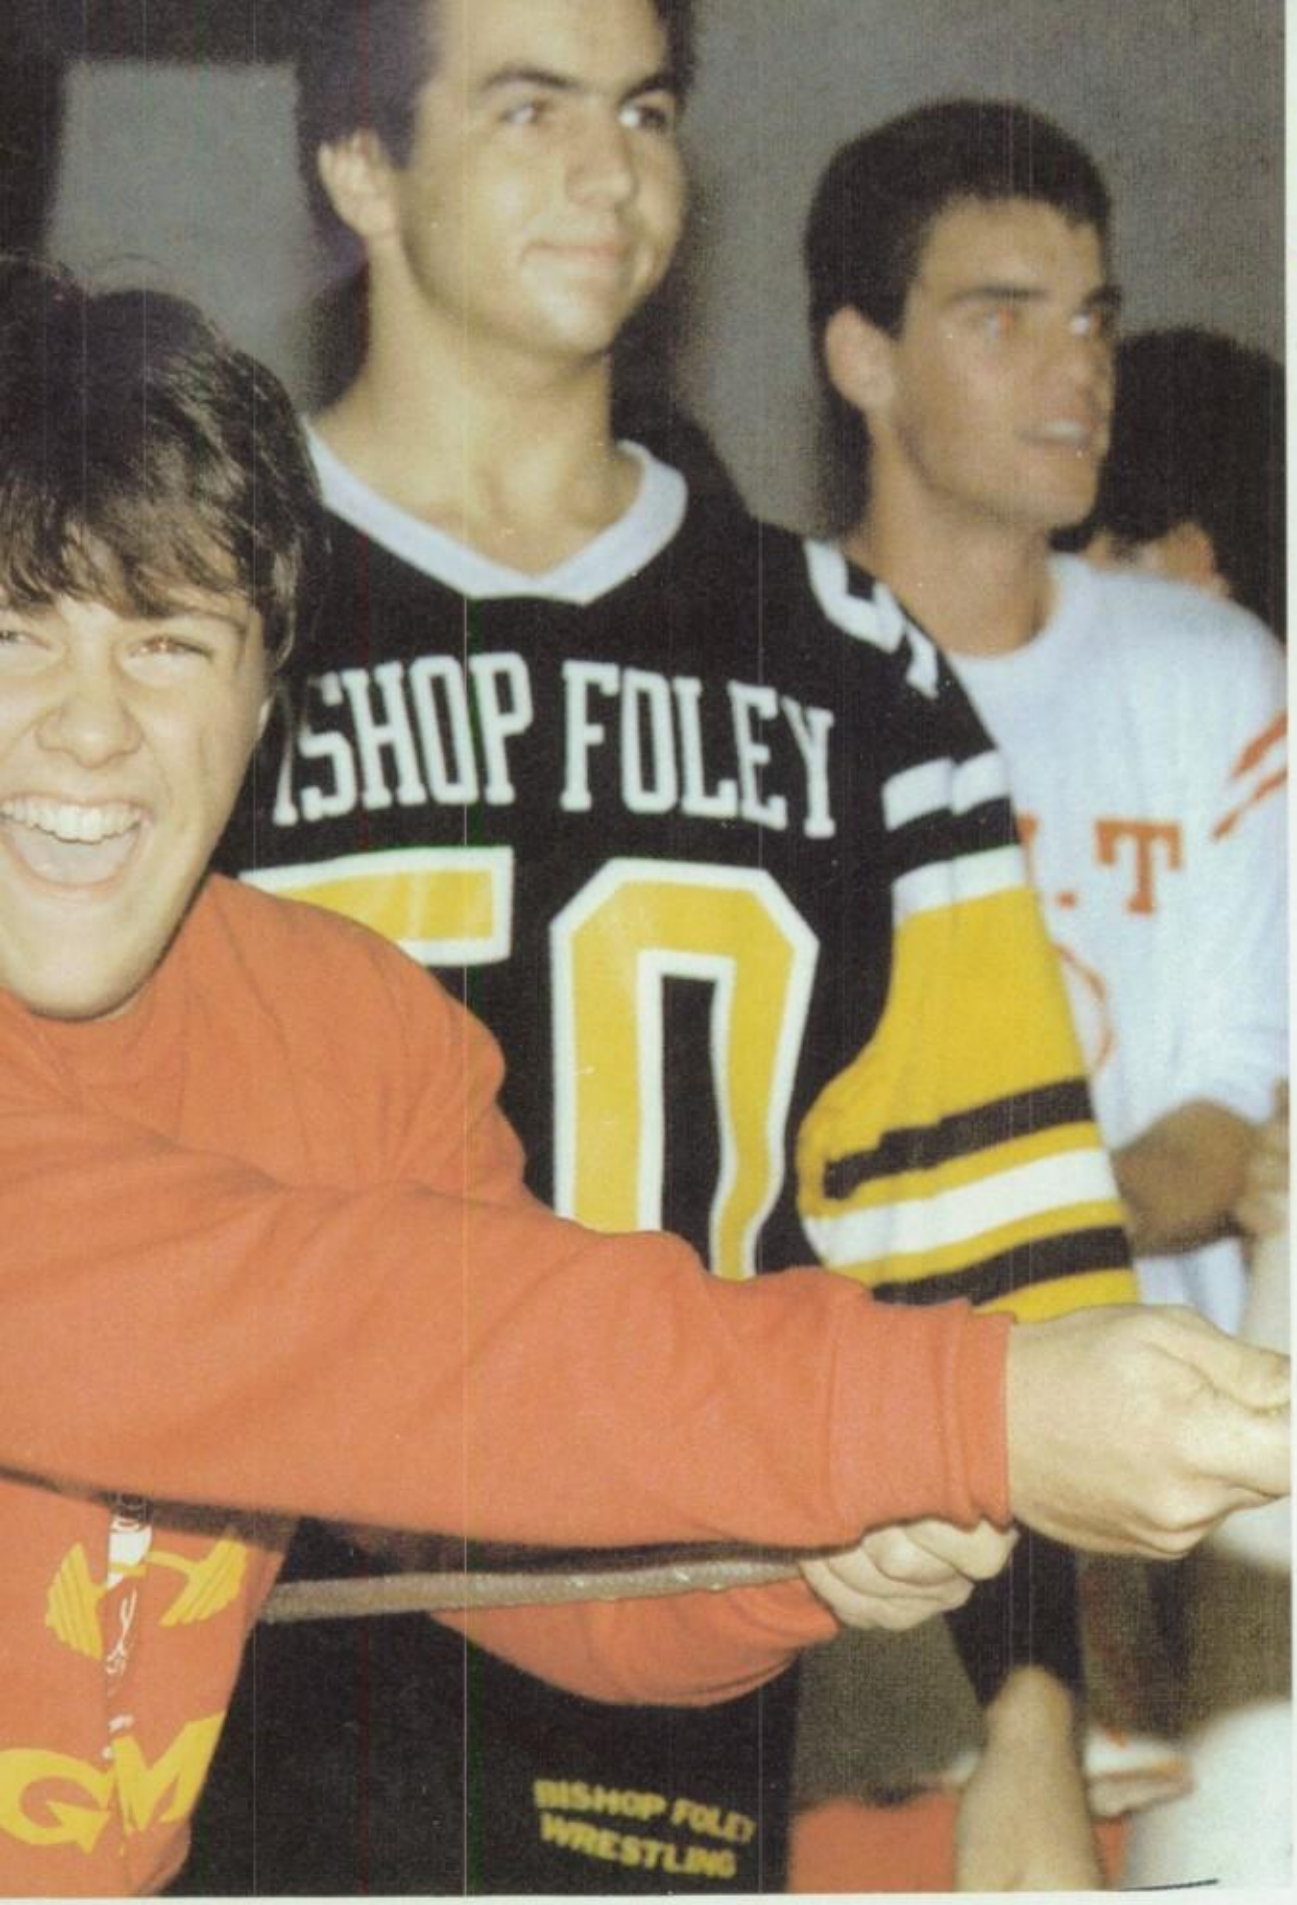
Welcome to Homecoming

Spirit Week of Homecoming '87 meant black and gold, hat and buttons, tropical and sunglasses, opposite and stuffed animals, and finally sweats day. Each day, Monday through Friday, was filled with something new. At the end of Spirit Week the points for the theme days ranked the Freshmen in first at 1421, the Sophomores in second at 1420, the Seniors finished third with 1119 and the Juniors were last at 1117. It was not over for the Sophomores, Juniors or Seniors though, as the Freshmen still had to beat them in the obstacle course, wheelbarrow race, balloon toss, scavenger hunt, three-legged race, and the tug-of-war against the Sophomores to hold their position in first. They could not do it, the Sophomores dominated in every event except for the three-legged race where the Seniors came in first while the Sophomores took second. The results of the tug-of-wars were the Sophomores over the Freshmen and the Seniors over the Juniors. The total points of the theme week and the competitions were the Sophomores in first at 1880, the Freshmen at 1691, finishing third were the Juniors at 1457, and last but not least the Seniors at 1439. All in all, Spirit Week was filled with its usual enthusiasm and anticipation of the football game against U of D.

The thrill of victory is upon Art Piwonski as the Seniors win against the Juniors in the tug-of-war at the pep rally.



Venturette Michelle Laurencelle dances to the instrumental "I Like You" at the beginning of the pep rally.



Senior Steve Mitchell cheers on his fellow classmates and shows his school spirit at the pep rally.

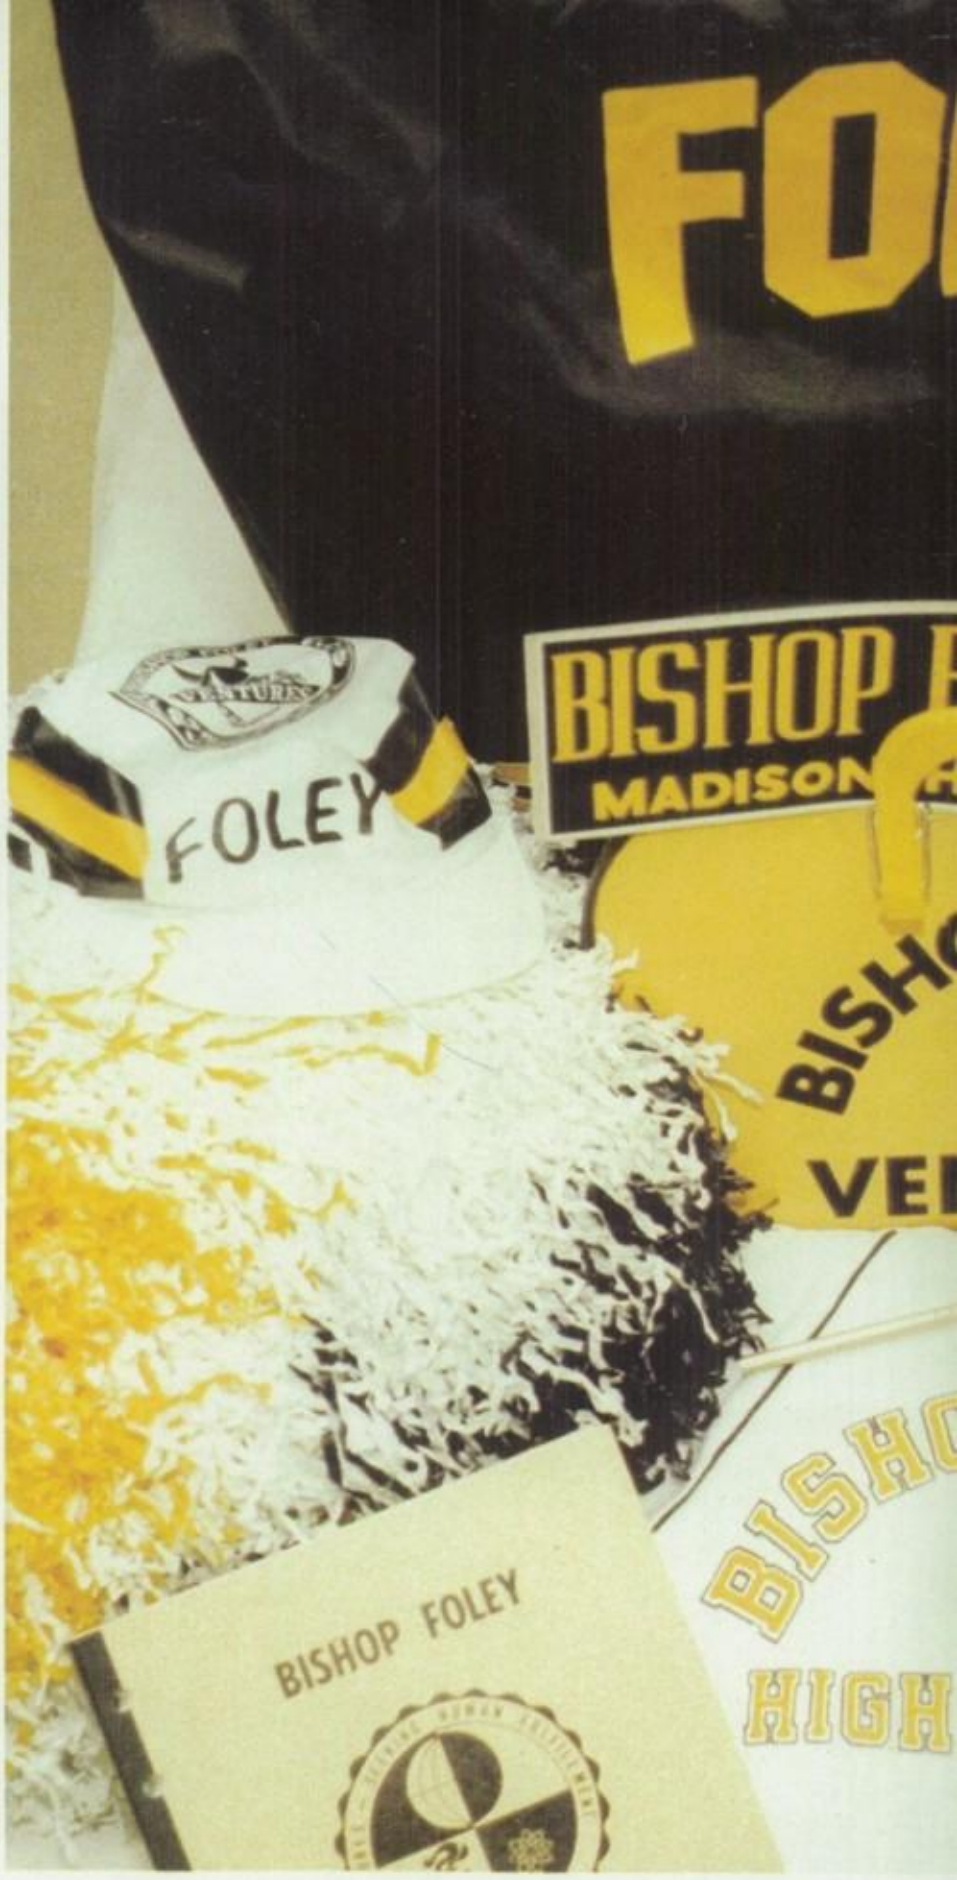
Blindfolded and stuffing bananas down his throat, Senior Tony Malinowski thoroughly enjoys himself.

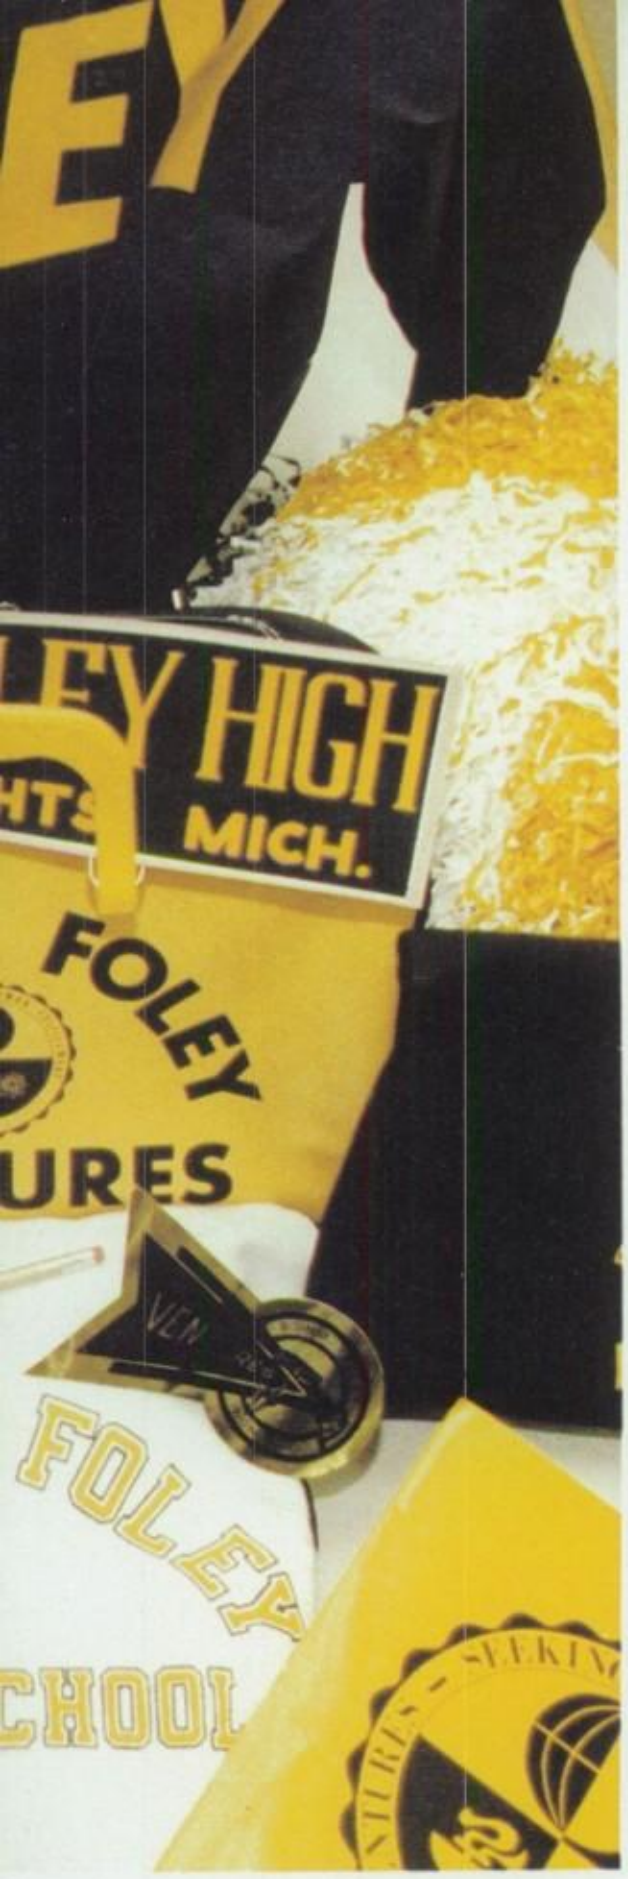
At the pep rally the Junior and Senior girls show off their powderpuff jerseys saying "Slam to Jam" and "Seek and Destroy."

This enthusiastic group of Senior girls welcome Susan Snycerski back into the stands with a jammin' high five from Dawn Szelog and Karen McCormick.

This intimidating hero guarding the gymnasium is our Venture Man. Just stare into those deep emerald eyes and they'll impress determination and spirit onto you.

Mr. Maloney got a real shock when Senior cheerleaders Lisa Giachino, Kathy Stuckey, and Robin Gudagni got everyone at the Pep rally to cheer for him on his birthday.





Colors of Spirit and Pride

Foley pride is displayed throughout the school. Lining the halls leading to the gym sit cases filled with the trophies symbolizing dedication and honor. Foley athletes are proud and those cases are expressions of their efforts. The west wall of the gym displays a mighty painting of the Venture Man. The school mascot symbolizes strength and courage to strive for success. The Bishop Foley motto encourages students to use today for a promising tomorrow. The book store opens up the opportunity for students to purchase Foley paraphernalia. They take advantage of this by building up their collection of black and gold with anything from pencils and spirals to sweatshirts and bumper stickers. The colors black and gold, when worn by a Bishop Foley student signify many things. They represent a sense of pride in being a member of this particular school. Wearing these colors is also a good way for someone to announce where their allegiance lies. Of course the main reason why a student wears black and gold is to exhibit school spirit, something that has never been lacking at Foley. Here at Bishop Foley we're renowned for our dedication to this school.

Catch the essence of Bishop Foley paraphernalia. These and many more black and gold items are found in the book store.

To Teach As Jesus Did

Back in July of 1976, when I was offered the position of Assistant Principal of Bishop Foley High School, Principal Ronald J. Cook spoke the following words to me: "The Foley Family invites you to participate in the joy and hope of the Good News." Believe me, I have never regretted accepting this invitation. This calling to minister—to administer—has been most fullfilling for me. I have experienced much happiness becoming personally involved with and working together with the members of the Foley Family to satisfy Jesus' challenge to share the "Good News". With faculty and staff, parents and students, and fellow administrators, it has been my privilege to help develop a Faith Community that reflects the blessings of lives in the love of Jesus Christ, "who is at once the inspiration, the content, and the goal of Christian Education"

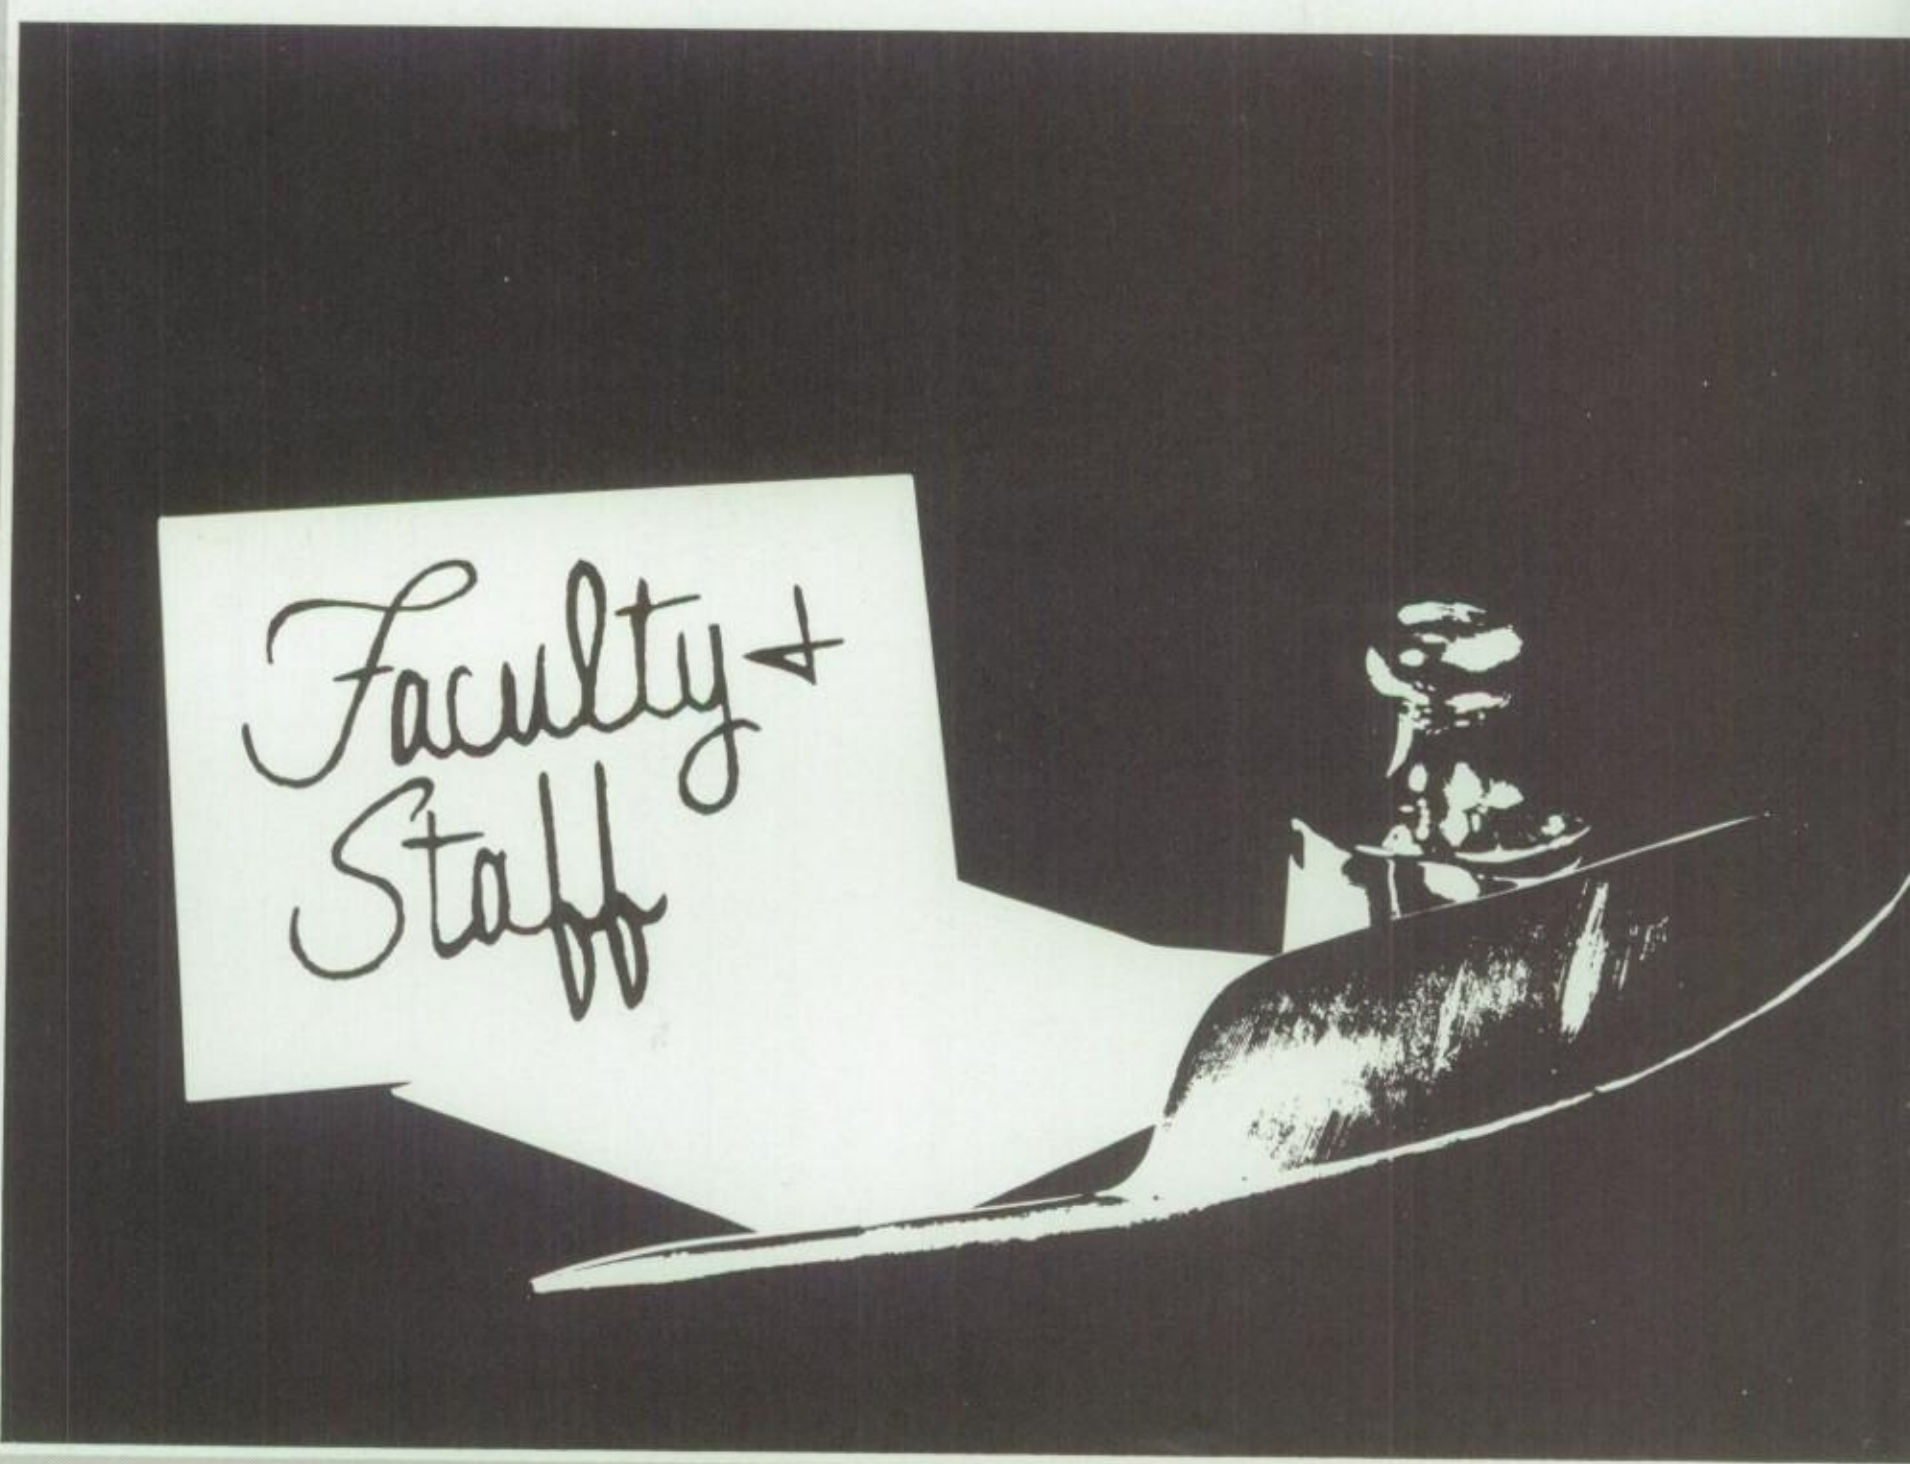
Francis M. Turk

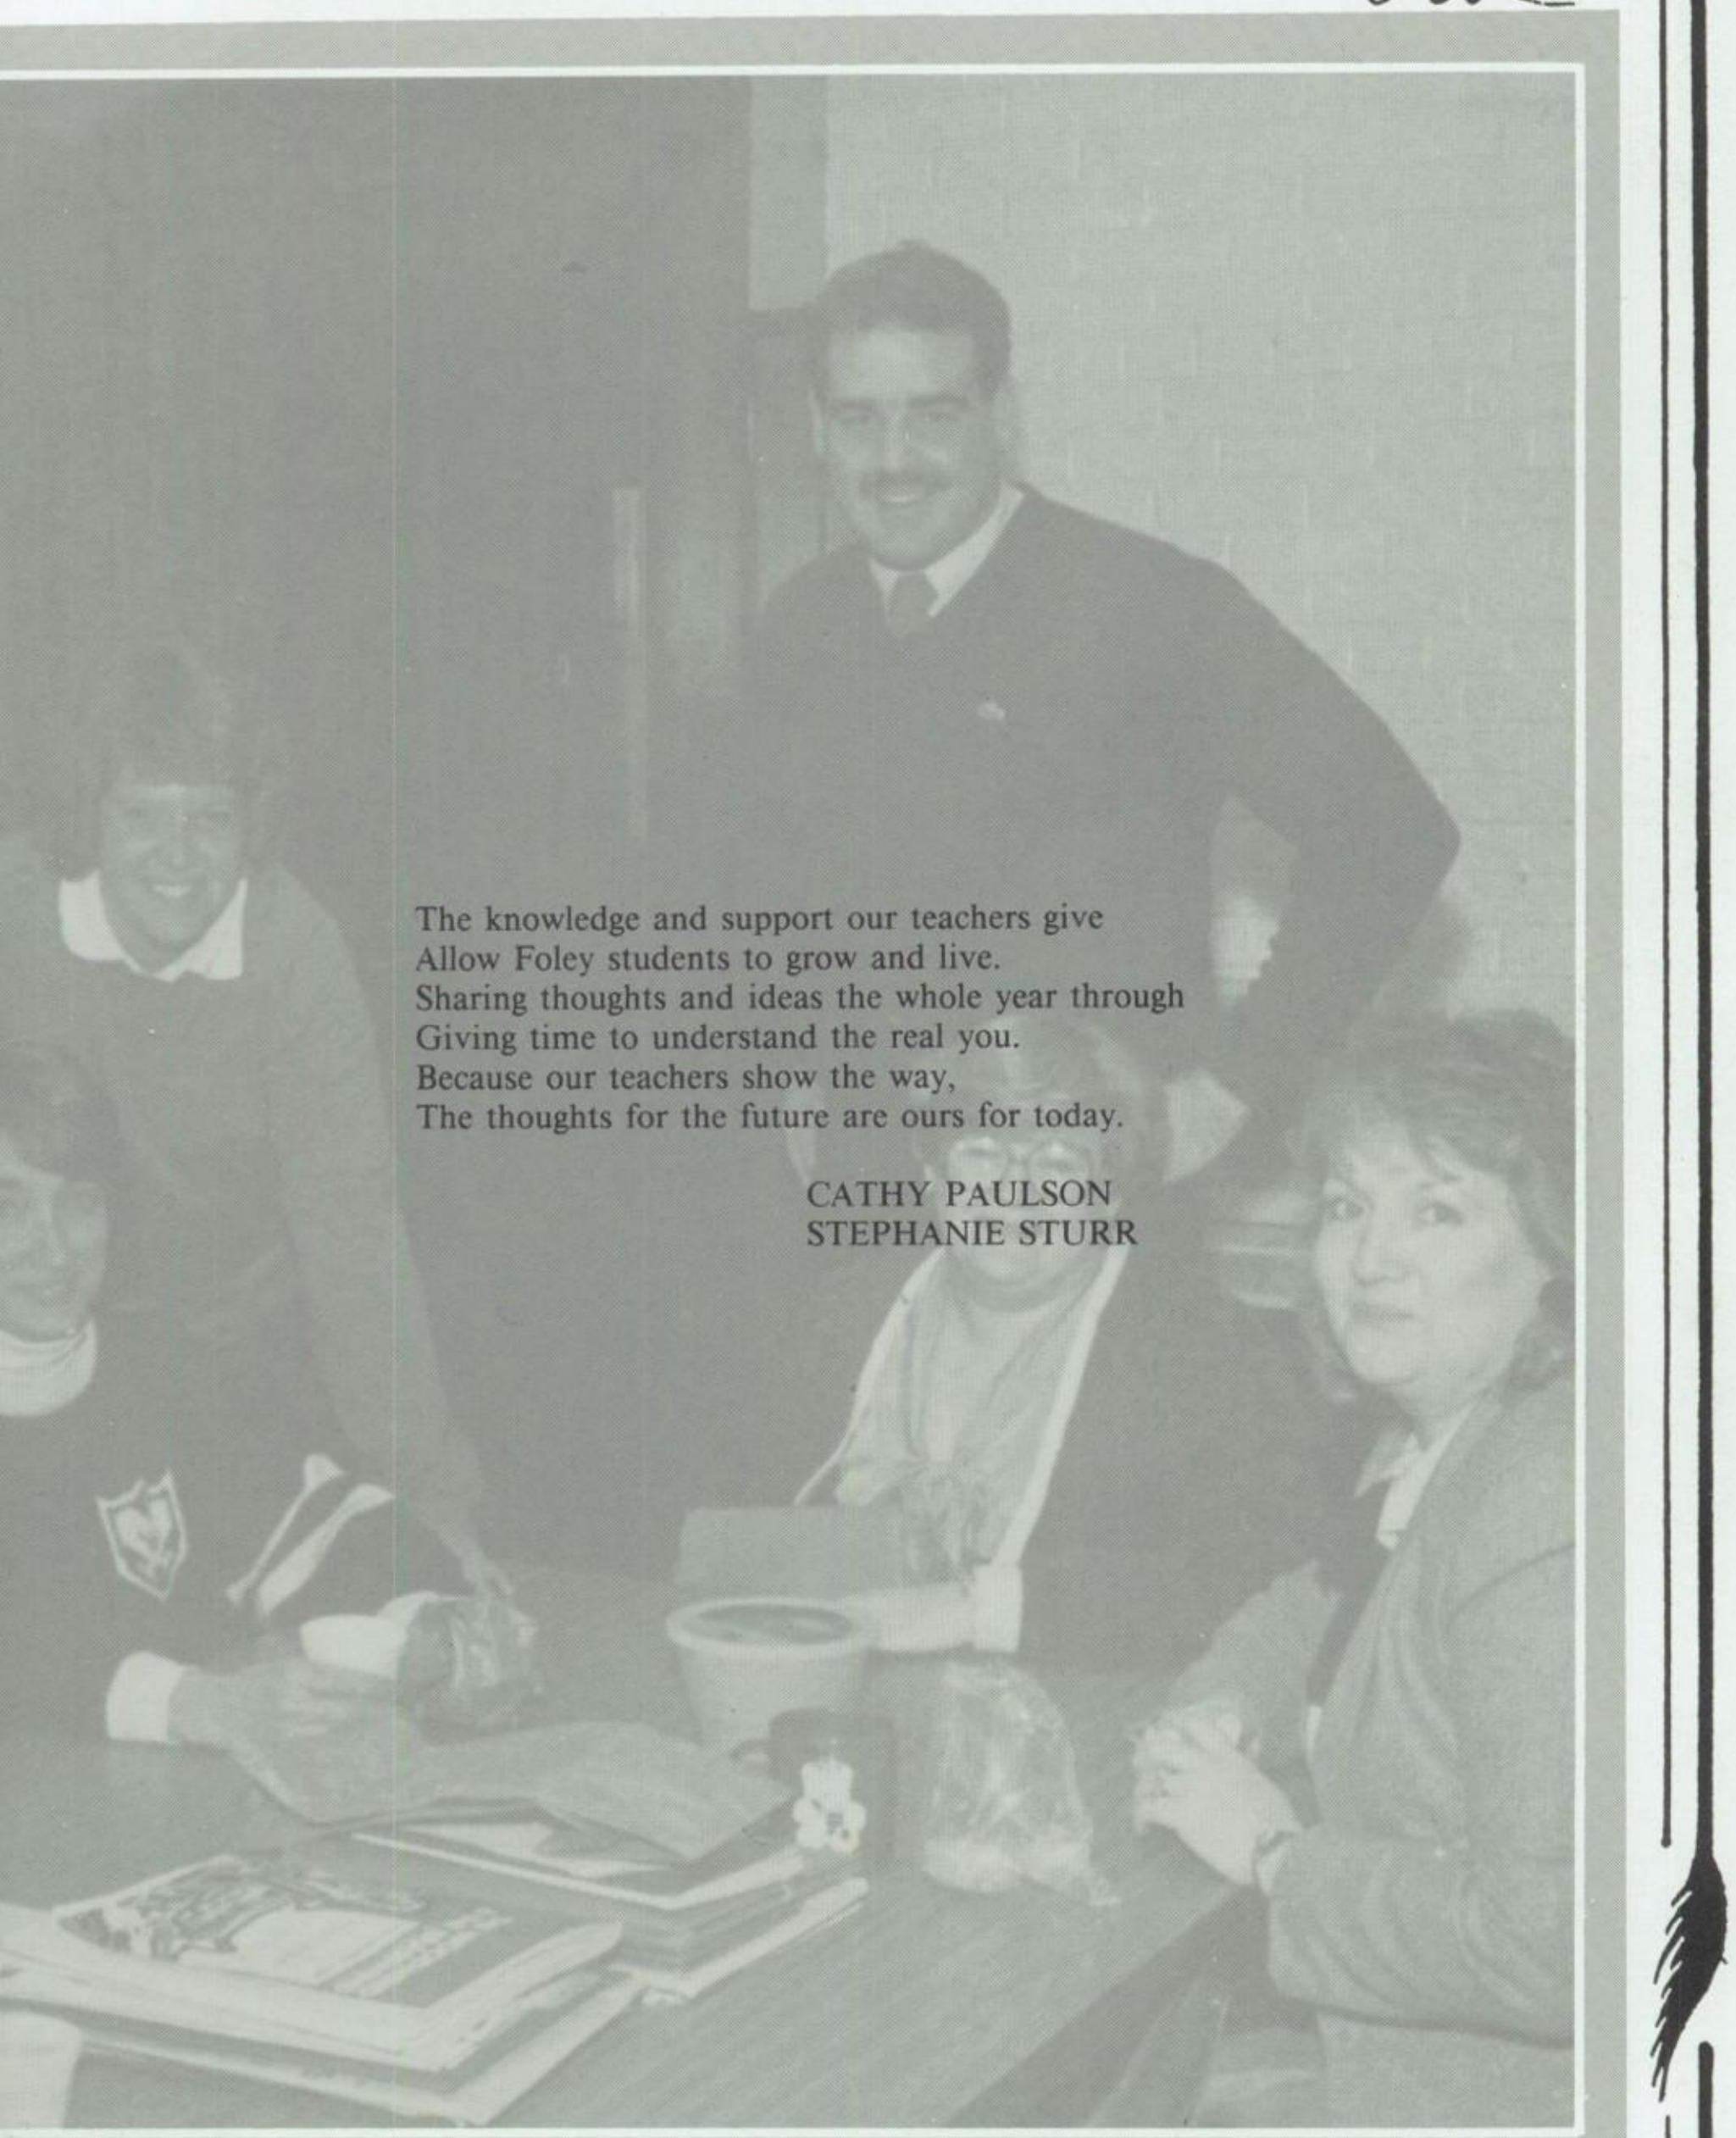
I believe that most people are very pleased and honored to be personally "called" or "invited" to become part of an activity, an organization, or a celebration. In his own mission, Jesus, the "Master Teacher" often used this approach in asking individuals to follow him and to become part of his ministry and message. In the last six years, as I have served in the roles of principal and assistant principal at Bishop Foley High School, I have become more aware of and involved in responding to the invitation at Bishop Foley to join students, teachers, parents and other administrators in the mission of building up the educational faith community here at Foley.

Every invitation requires a response. My response has been to administer, to serve, to work with the many people of the Foley Faith Community, the "Foley Family", in the educational Ministry, "To Teach as Jesus did". This invitation and response has been challenging, rewarding, and inspiring to me. It has been a task that I personally invite all members of our Foley Family, past, present and future, to respond to and supportively accept. Our invitation is to a ministry of service and hope for we are confident of ultimate success, trusting not in ourselves but in Jesus, who is at once the message, the inspiration and the goal of our education ministry. "He is our way, our truth and our life."

Mr. Alex Gajewski

An Invitation To...





The knowledge and support our teachers give
Allow Foley students to grow and live.
Sharing thoughts and ideas the whole year through Giving time to understand the real you.
Because our teachers show the way,
The thoughts for the future are ours for today.

Until now, I have never really pondered on what makes Foley such a special place for me. What is it that really bonds me to Foley? Maybe it is time I really reflected on this question to satisfy my own understanding of why I am here. In my 17 years as a teacher and administrator at Foley, I have learned so much from so many people. Being a teacher at Foley for over 10 years was when this bonding took place. Working with the young people and teachers of Foley taught me a great deal about "I" and "We". The daily contact with students and teachers helped me understand how many things "I" could not accomplish, but could be accomplished when "We" tackled the task together. Call it "team work," "sharing", or whatever, but to me it is this "we share" attitude that continues to make Foley a special place for me!

Commitment: The Board Perspective

The Bishop Foley Board of Education is the policymaker of the school and it's commitment is to the ministry of education and the development of a faith community. The School Board members are the leaders of the Foley Faith Community. Ours are the responsibility, challenge, and stewardship to represent the Foley Family in all the many areas of the Foley Faith Community. However, it goes much deeper than a sense of duty for me. I am grateful for the opportunity to serve Foley in its mission "To Teach As Jesus Did." Foley gave my alumni sons a good academic education, religious and moral training, extra curricular opportunities to become well rounded individuals, leadership formation, and the self esteem which results from a caring, stimulating environment. My personal commitment is to provide the framework which will bring Foley into the 21st century as a leader and supporter of Catholic education in greater dimensions. With this legacy to our children, we give them the opportunity and tools to be the best they can be and shape a better world in which to live!

Moms and Dads Say, "Take Care, We Care."

Take care, we care. I feel this is what the Mom's Club stands for. The Mom's Club has been supporting the school with service and financial help since 1969. We have been hostesses at Coffees, Report Card Days, and Open House. We help service the library and chapel and support the After Prom Breakfast. Our fund raisers include Sunday Bingo, Card Partys, Festival, Salad Luncheon, Euchre Tournaments and a Flower Sale. We care about our spiritual life for our children as well as for ourselves. As Bishop Foley has retreats and masses throughout the year for our children, we have a retreat, an evening of reflection, and masses as well. We have made many friendships and have been enriched by our administration, faculty and students we encounter throughout the year in our activities. In all that we do, we do it for our children because we care. We are part of the Foley Family and welcome every Mom to join us. God Bless all the Seniors and Good Luck in the years ahead and remember, Take Care, We Care.

It's the students who can make or break a school. I am always grateful to the support of parents, faculty, and staff in both my personal and professional life. Foley has grown in many ways over the years but hopefully we will never lose our Foley Family atmosphere. It is one to be proud of. Speaking for all the secretaries we wish the graduates of '87 the best of luck in their future. We also look forward to all our future seniors.

The Teacher Shortage

By most accounts, the United States is about to experience a severe shortage of qualified teachers. In some fields and in some regions, that shortage is already here. Math and science teachers are already in short supply, but that is only part of the problem. School systems in many urban areas have found it difficult to recruit teachers in a number of fields.

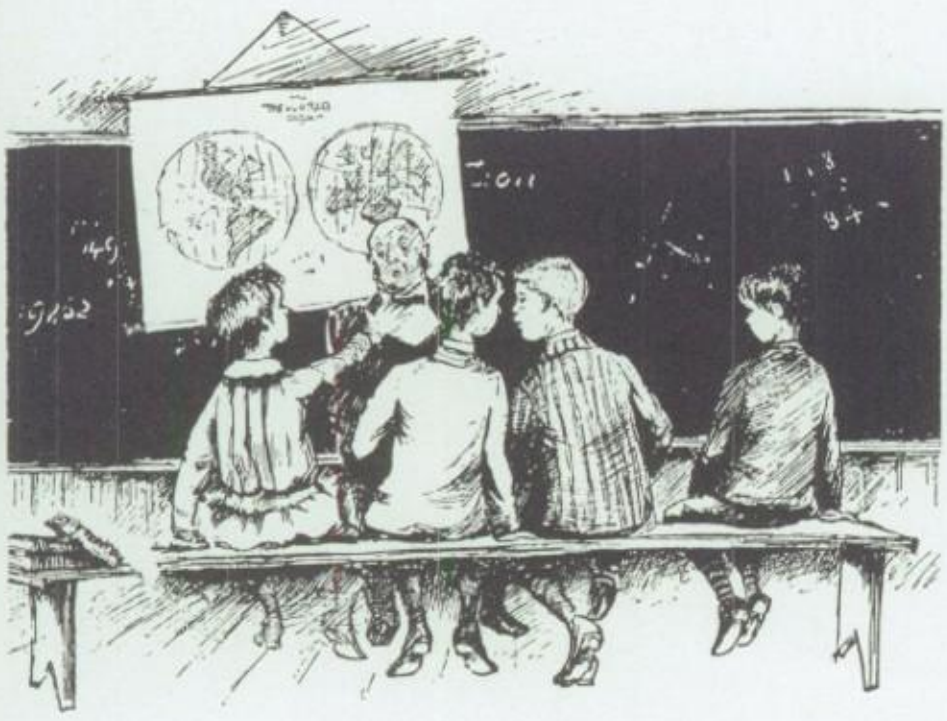
Both the number and the proportion of college students preparing to teach has declined in recent years, while a disproportionate number of teachers are leaving the profession. At the same time, what has been called a "baby boomlet" is reaching school age and driving up enrollments.

Among the most important reasons why the proportions of college graduates preparing for careers in teaching seem to be at an all-time low are: reductions in the earning power of teachers relative to that of individuals in other professions; the opening of career opportunities in other fields for minorities and women; increased requirements for certification; the perception among college students that both teacher education and teaching are low status enterprises; and a decline in the quality of working environments that teachers must work in.

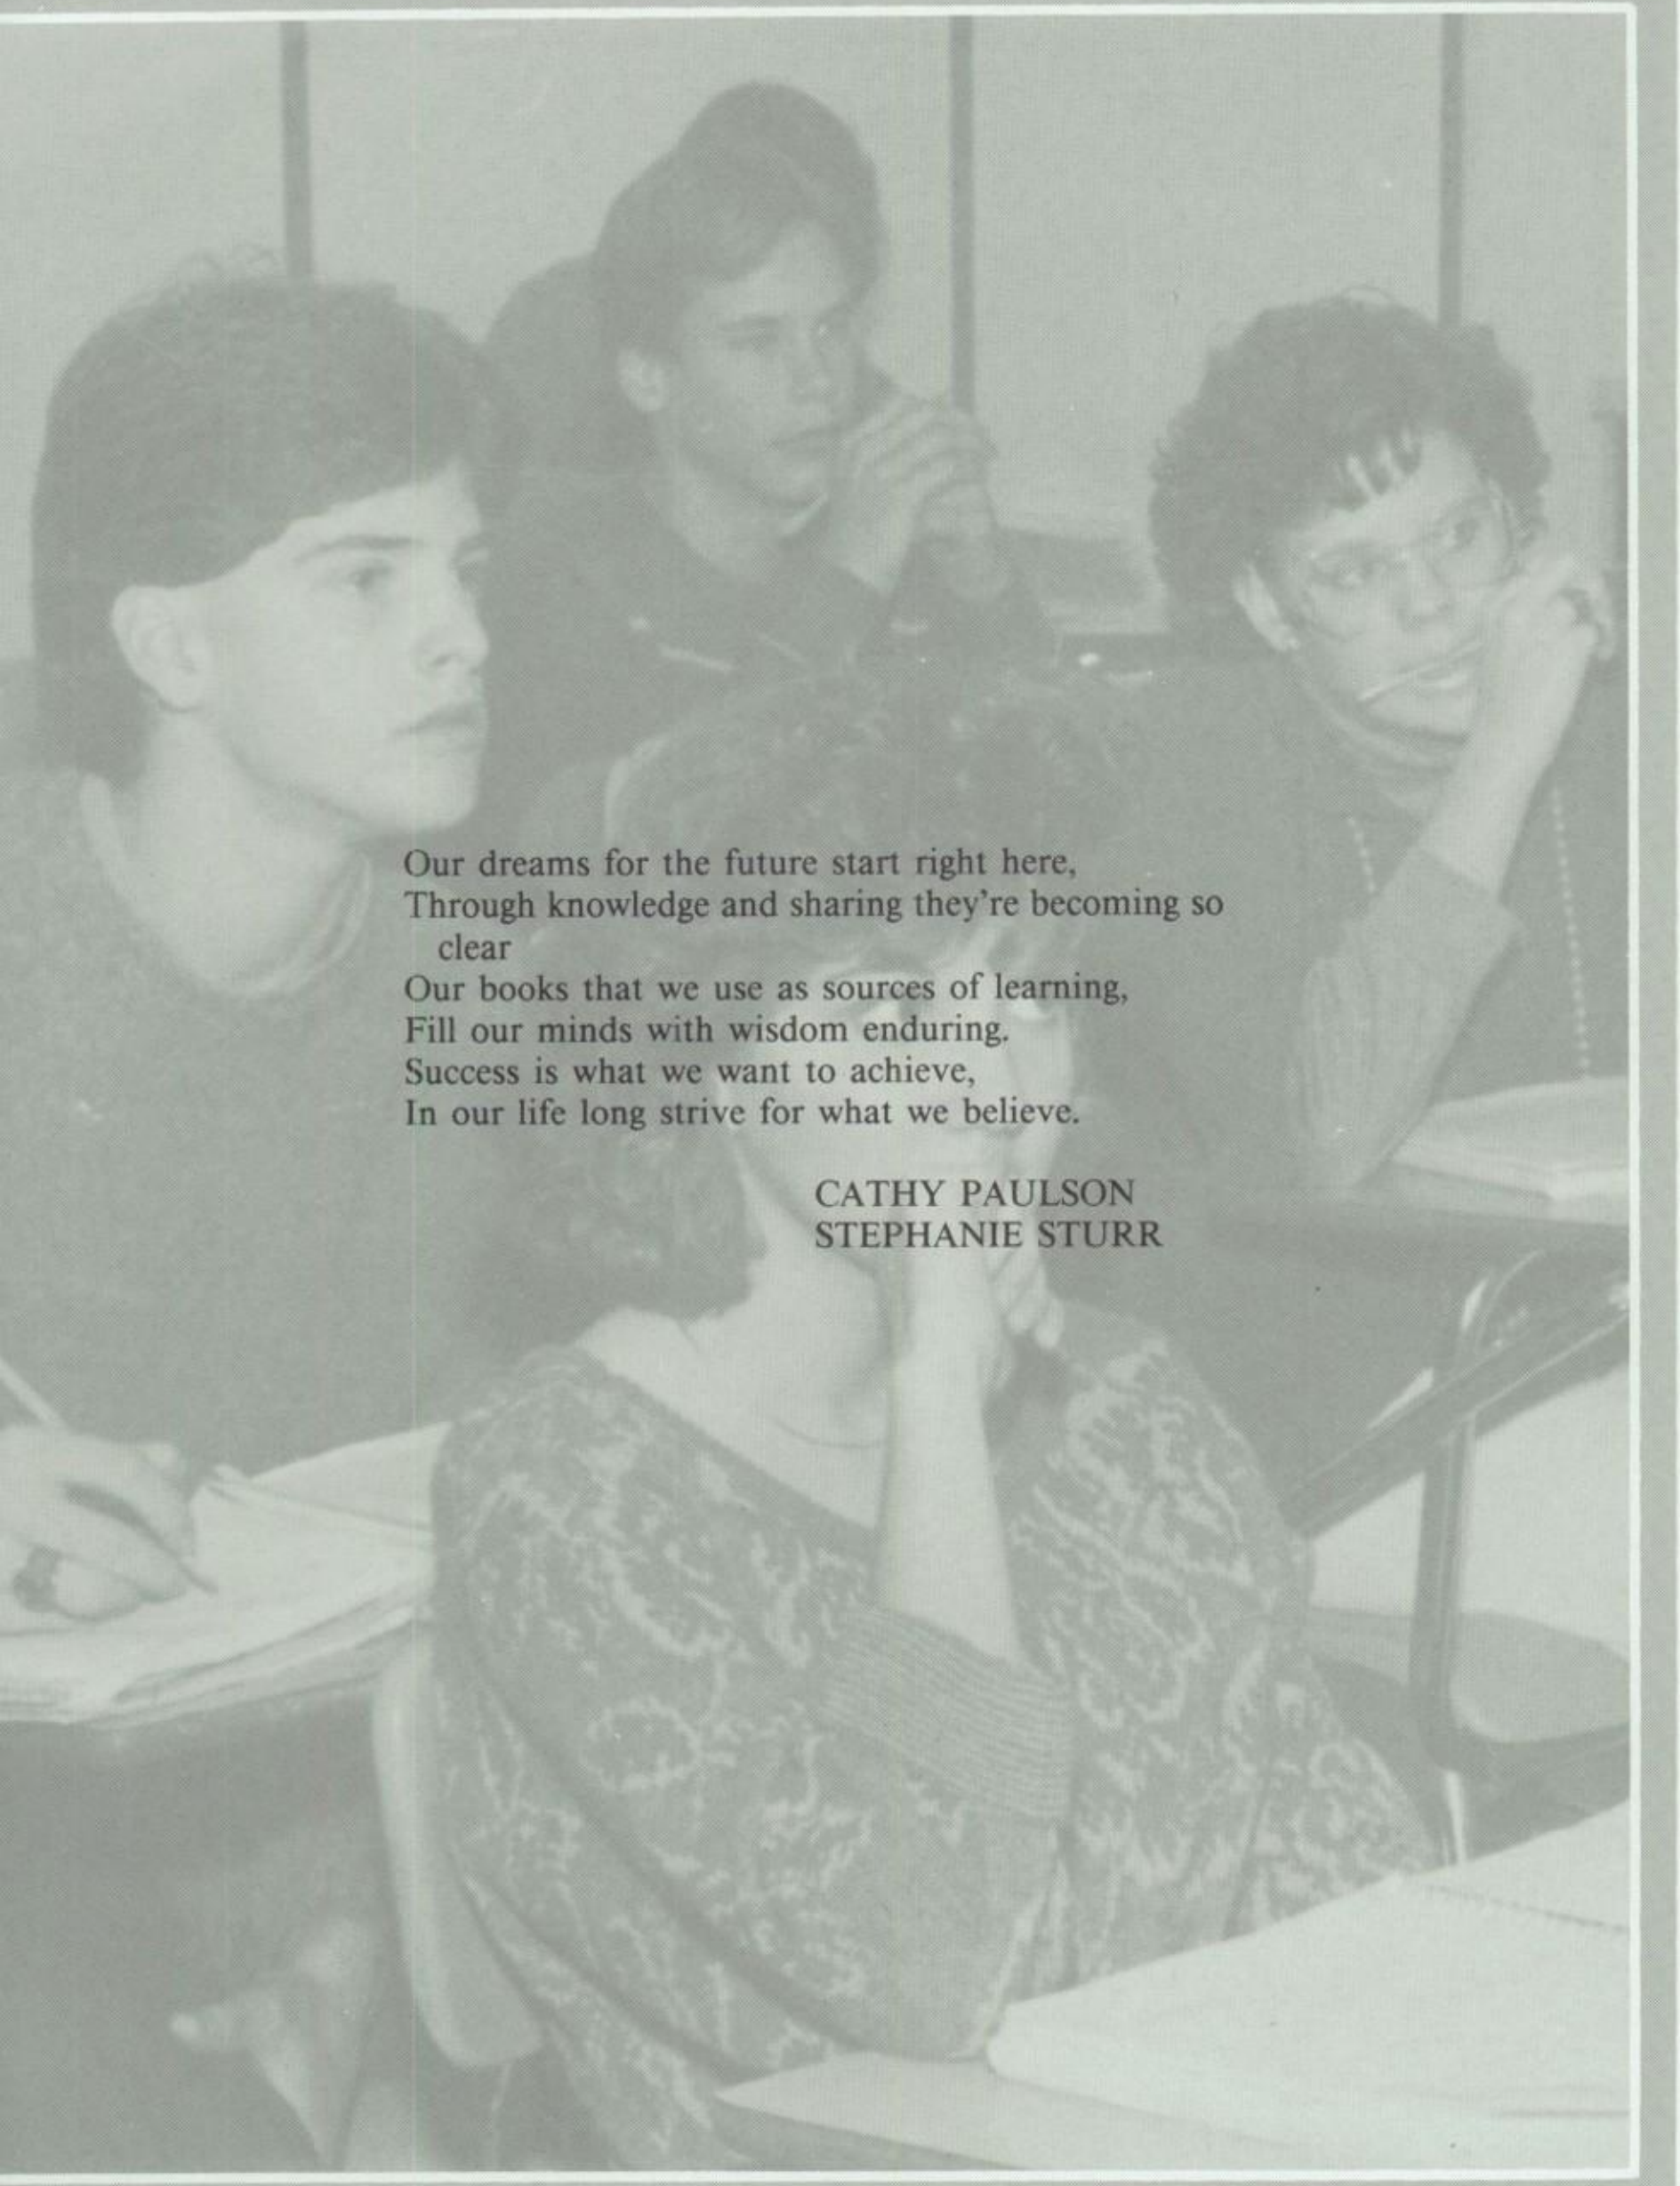
It is estimated that between 1989 and 1993 we will need about one million new teachers. Historically, we have dealt with teacher shortages most efficiently by reducing or eliminating requirements for entry into the profession. But, because of the current concern for the quality of the teaching force, we will be discouraged to do so.

Another strategy for dealing with teacher shortages which we have tried before is an increase in teacher's salaries. But two recent studies estimate that teacher salaries would have to be increased by about 40% in order to make teaching competitive on strictly economic dimensions with other professions that attract reasonably bright college graduates. Such large increases are not likely to happen.

If neither higher salaries nor lower standards are acceptable ways to solve the problem of teacher shortage, then in the future we must explore other strategies.



An Invitation To...



Our dreams for the future start right here,
Through knowledge and sharing they're becoming so clear
Our books that we use as sources of learning,
Fill our minds with wisdom enduring.
Success is what we want to achieve,
In our life long strive for what we believe.

A Show Of

Ms. Zappa teaches her TV production class a key point to using the camera: plugging it in first.

Webster said it well in his definition of art. Art n. the production or expression in a creative way of what is beautiful or appealing. Fine art students at Foley do this every day through tools of drama, video, camera, paint, and clay. The list of fine art students at Foley include the art student, the TV production student, and the drama student. Each class tests ones limits of creativity. TV production requires one to think of topics and ideas and transform them into pictures and video tape. There is also a technical part of the class where students learn to use movie cameras and high tech audio visual equiptment.

The people behind the scenes and in the control room are Mike Lewandowski, Jenny Rymar, Jacqueline Oparka and Kathy Kieliszewski.

Excellence

Kate Burns shows class mates Theresa Habbert, Steve O'Malley, Lisa Condino and Joanna Komajda her masterpiece in the making.

Meg Ehr does her best to show her friend Julie King a few pointers in drawing technique.

Foley art students do not just learn to draw and paint; they learn to express and communicate their ideas through pictures, figures and form. Each spring, artists proudly display their work for all to view at the student art show. A certain amount of creativity is within everyone. These fine art classes enable students to develop their talents in a rewarding way.

You can tell Erin Hannigan, Jennifer McCormick and Meg Ehr are totally impressed with Dave Patritto's printmaking skills.

An Invitation to

Jenny Zaborny models the latest in fashion while showing off her talent for flag twirling.

Intensely looking into Amy Pongracz's eyes, Quinn Auten says "Get off my foot."

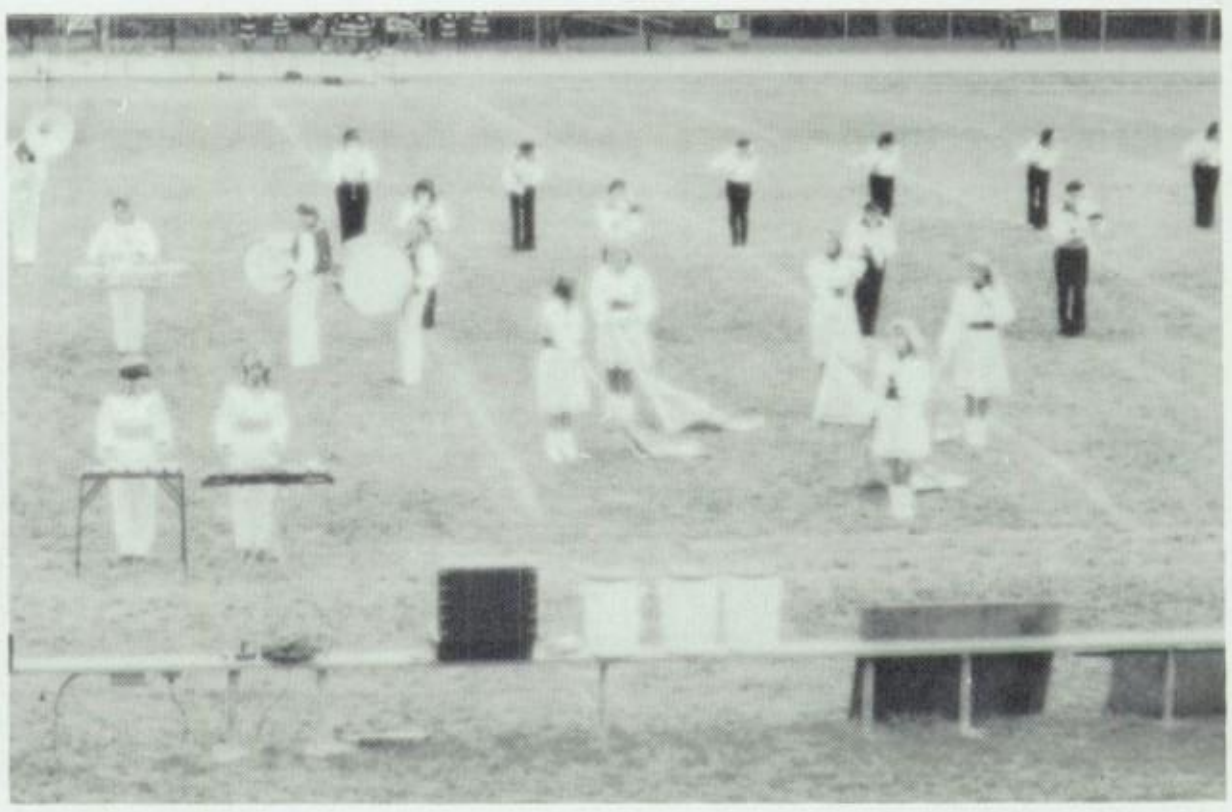
When the varsity choir pull together their voices they can't help but make great music.

Musical Excellence

Bishop Foley has several excellent music enrichment courses. To name just a few of the vocal courses there is Varsity Choir, which is a course open for anyone who enjoys singing. And there is also Show Choir, which is a group of girls that have talent in both singing and dancing and performing. The group is very active. Some examples of their performances are at the Christmas concert, festival, spring concert, and the "Salute to Liberty Concert". The Show Choir has also taken their act on the road to places like Universal Mall, Page School, and The Troy Hilton. Instrumental courses are also very popular with students. Anyone interested in playing an instrument can choose from a variety of courses. Pep Band, Concert Band, Jazz Band, Wind Ensemble and Marching Band are some of the selections. Mr. Turnbull seems to think the musical department at Foley is on definite upswing, due to the greater enrollment and enthusiasm.

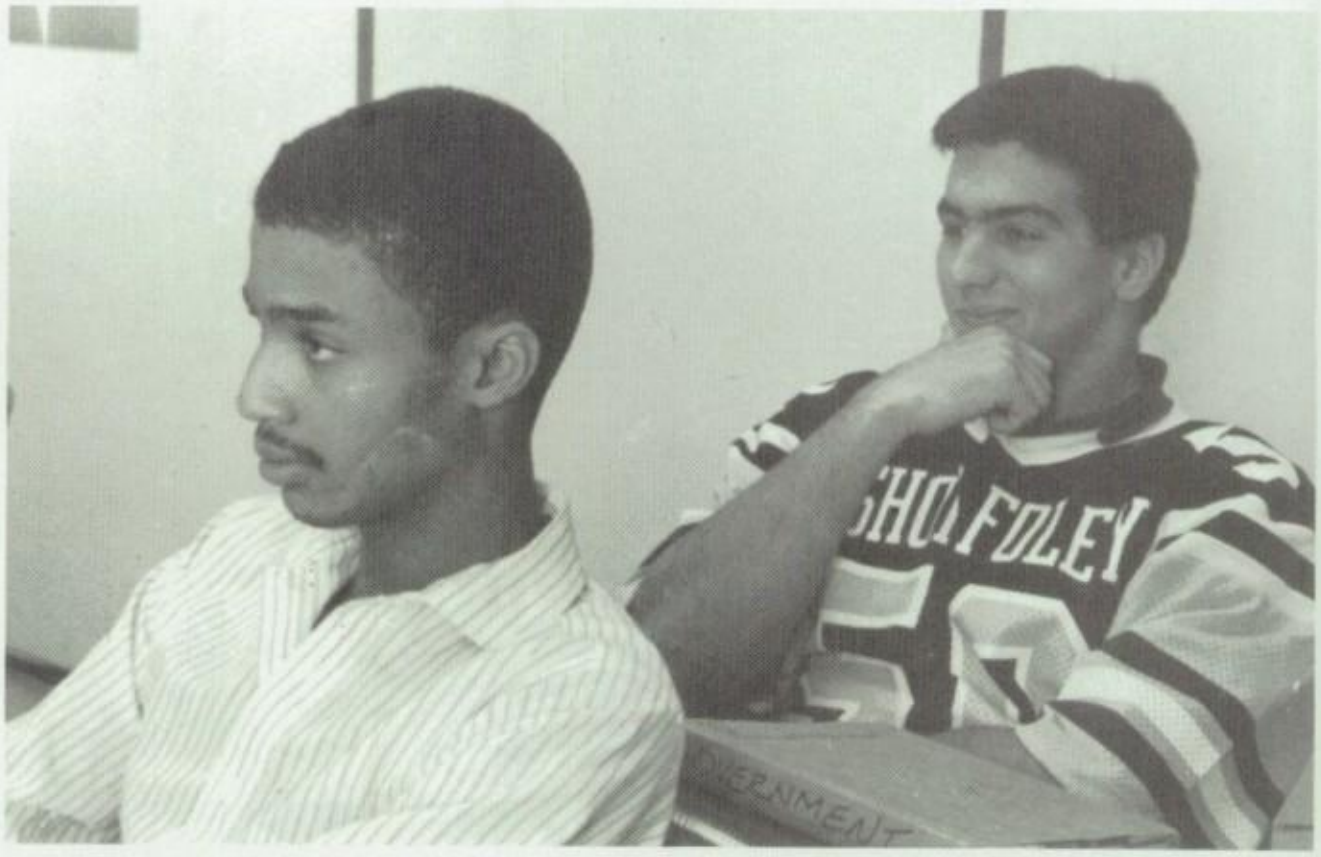
Stan Yolkiewicz flashes a smile and looks like he is enjoying leading the marching band.

The marching band brass section gathers together to blow their own horns.



Ok football fans it's half time and once again, the marching band and flag core will do their best to entertain you.

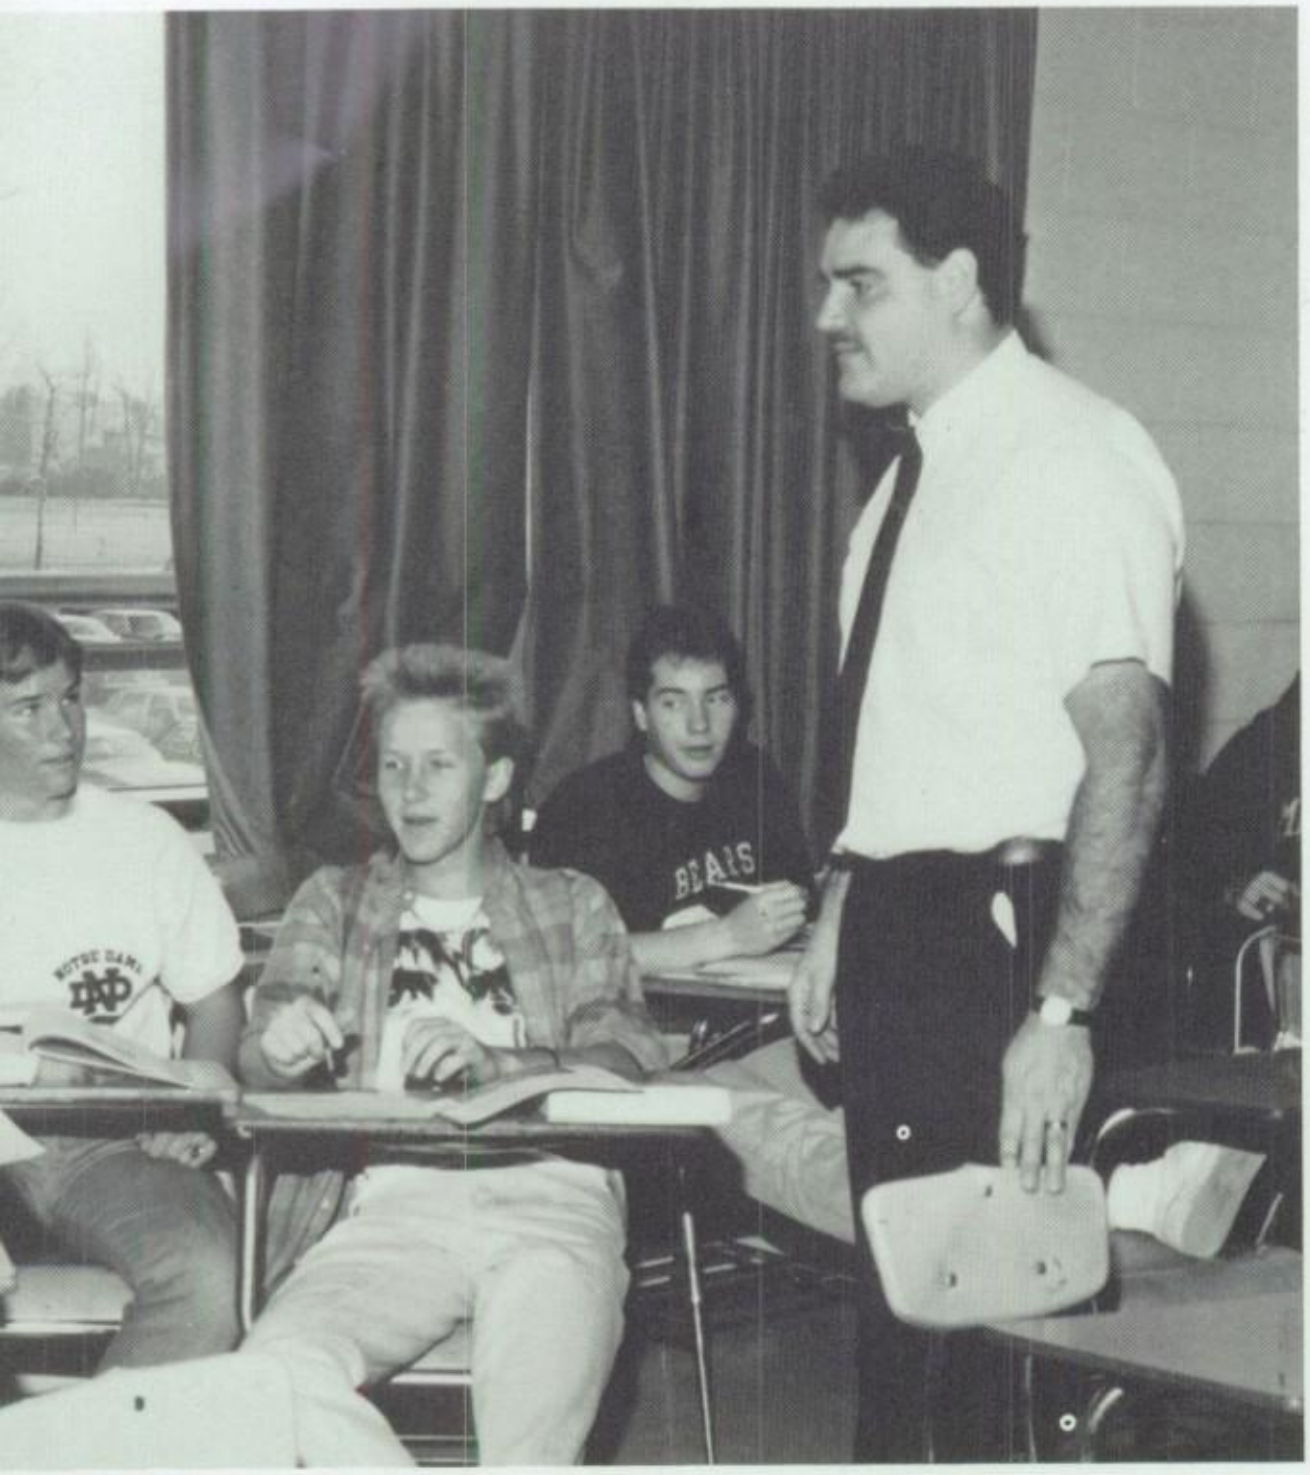
Invited to Make History



Senior, Bill Boulus thinks ahead to a victory for his team, while Eddie Jones (12), pays close attention to the teacher.

Students everywhere constantly ask themselves and their teachers, "Why do I have to take History?", and "What do I care what happened in 58 A.D.?" And very few times are questions such as these given a straight answer. Mr. Valinski agrees, with tongue in cheek, "we must study history because the only lesson history has taught us is that we haven't learned anything from history." Despite these complaints, everyone has to have it! Here at Foley teachers create many interests and challenges! New ideas are used in teaching, and sometimes students are invited to participate in special projects like the Washington trip, the Model Senate held at Brother Rice, Model United Nations, and this year students attended the Sander Levin Student Congressional Forum held in November. The goal of all of them is the same: to encourage more political involvement from students. As we continue to strive for the best in our futures, and reflect on the knowledge of our past, we at Foley create history for the years to come.

Speaking out at the Congressional Forum is senior, Laura Demchak.



Mr. Cousineau tries to explain to juniors, Scott Conrad and Will Korbus that they must sit in rows.

Roxie Kress, senior, shows support for her favorite candidate for Senator.

Living Proof

Colin Wittmer, Freshman, teaches his classmates Rob Menshick and Sarah Dennis their Algebra lesson for the day.

Teresa Barnett, (9), stops to think as she takes a test in Elem. Algebra I class.

The first few days as a Foley freshman in Honors Algebra came as a shock for me. I was actually going to have to work hard. No longer was I going to get by with doing my homework during commercials, eating breakfast or riding to school. I had to struggle for hours with x's and y's, and complicated equations. Just as I finally began to get the hang of that variable stuff, geometry came in. Suddenly, I was forced to be logical. Mrs. DeRyckere just wouldn't believe that I had no logic. She drove proofs into my brain until I actually could get more than just the given. Then came Algebra II and Trig., more x's and y's. I didn't think I would survive! I did survive and things began to fit together. I mastered equations, trigonometric functions, and slid through story problems. Analysis came next and more of Mrs. DeRyckere. Though as tough as she is, I realized that she delights in giving extra help. I took advantage of this and actually comprehended logarithms. vectors, and mathematics induction. The next challenge that awaits me is Calculus. Through my last three years here I've realized that with plenty of frustration, hard work, and guidance I can meet and rise to the challenge of mathematics.

An Invitation To Foreign Lands

Here at Bishop Foley all students are invited to broaden their horizons and explore new exciting places by studying foreign languages, such as Latin, Spanish, or French. Not only do these students learn to speak and write in something other than our native tongue, but they also explore cultures and customs of other countries. They do this by field trips to see Spanish dancers perform and French plays. Every year Latin students have an opportunity to participate in a convention held for students from all different schools. The study of foreign languages has many advantages. Not only is it something colleges look for in a student; it is also a way of making foreign travel possible, through exchange programs and school sponsored trips. Last year a group of French students were planning on traveling to France, although they cancelled because of security reasons. Foreign study certainly expands and enriches one's awareness of other peoples' lifestyles. Possible the most important benefit of learning another language is becoming closer and connecting with other people in the world.

Erin Hannigan and Jill Nawrocki seem to think there is something funny about the Spanish flag.

First year French students all hope Ms. Hennessy will call on them for the answer.

Senora Arriola, don't you think that sombrero is just a little small for Charles Spencer?

Mrs. Ronney tries a new method of getting Kristi MacKenzie and Anna Polsinelli to learn their French verbs.

Mrs. Flaton points out the answer for Latin students, Beth Wierzbinski, Joni Weil, and Kelly Young.

Challenges and Beneficial Experiences

From I.P.S. to anatomy the science courses at Foley offer a great many challenges. The satisfaction of successfully dissecting the frog that you once wouldn't touch, or perfectly completing the chemistry experiment you thought you'd never understand make the hours of study worthwhile. Science courses teach you how to be organized, diligent, observant, and can even teach you how to turn mistakes into beneficial experiences. Not only can science be educational, but it can also be a whole lot of fun.

From Homer To Shakespeare

Bishop Foley's Language Arts Department offers more to a student than just a basic grammer course. Advanced placement and Honors courses provide the excelling students with an opportunity to further enrich their studies. The Literature requirement presents short novels, stories, plays, and poetry; while teachings from Homer to Shakespeare acquaint the student with literature of the past. A student's creative abilities are inspired through our Creative Writing course and literary magazine Images, which encourages us to display our own works.

Mr. Clancy's 4th hour Honors class takes time from the greatest of the American authors to smile for the camera.

With a guilty smile, Laurie Vyncke is caught doing her History homework in English class.

Intertwining good health habits with education as a life long endeavor is the goal of Foley's Physical Education Department. A variety of activities such as :Volleyball, Basketball, Football, Baseball, and Running all combine together to offer students a solid background in physical fitness. In addition to the physical part of the program there is also the education Classes that teach good health compliment the activities of the program.

An Invitation to Christianity

Religion plays a vital role in the development of a Foley student. Time is set aside for us to discover the love of God, and for each other. An all-school Mass starts the new school year and required religion courses extend the idea of Christianity in our lives. Introduction to Scripture becomes a required course for Freshmen entering Foley. Sophomores learn how to display their Christianity toward the community by going on Soph-out. Junior year incorporates Christian Morality and allows an opportunity for one elective such as Death and Dying or Philosophy. Christian Marriage and Christian Parenting are very popular with the Seniors choosing two elective Religion courses. All of these courses enable you to experience God in your daily life.

Mr. Maiuri's second hour Introduction to Scripture class listens intently as he tells another story.

Denise Girouard is enlightened by the Bible.

Sew Tasty

When students think of home economics, the first thing that usually comes to mind is blow-off or easy A. That is not the case here at Foley. Students learn many valuable skills that will help them in their everyday lives outside of school. How many times are you starving for something to eat, and mom is not cooking again, but the best thing you know how to make is peanut butter and jelly? It is times like these that many of us wish we would have taken time in our school day to learn how to cook a good meal. Or how many times have you awakened and put on a shirt and the button pops off? For some people, the true test is finding out if they can even thread a needle. In an instance such as this, a sewing class may have come in very handy. Home economics is an excellent class offered at Foley, and it is definitely one of great value, that will be very useful now and later on in life.

Senior, Dave Damron proudly displays his freshly made pumpkin pie.

Gathering around for their Thanksgiving feast is Sr. Dolores' 4th hour foods class.

Junior Joe Bianchetta tries to imitate the picture on the wall of a student hard at work with his drafting.

The "mad drafter" Tom Michalski (11) works hard to complete his assignment.

While Mr. Moison explains to Brian Malinowski (11) the importance of correct proportioning, Mark Todd (11), continues to harass him, and Craig Lawson (12) stares off in space!

Successful Drafters

Drafting class can easily be described in three phrases: hard work, patience, and straight lines. The students in drafting classes are invited to continue on with more advanced courses as each year goes by. Students are often put to the test of their capability and creativity with special projects. These projects may range from the more simple mechanical drawing to a complete outline in fine detail of a house. The continued hard work and determination of the students may some day lead them into a very successful architectural career.

Diedre Hays (11), looks hard to find the answer.

Mrs. Uzenski and Mrs. Korotko hard at work as usual.

Center of Study

Have to write another term paper? Wait til' the last minute to start that special project? Need a book on a "far out" topic? No, this is not an advertisement; it is an exclusive article on the Bishop Foley Media Center. Filled with books, card catalogues, magazines, and encyclopedias, it is the perfect place to find all types of information. Mrs. Uzenski and Mrs. Korotko, the librarians, along with their helpful media aides, can guide you in finding books in all corners of the library. The decorated ceiling called "Metamorphosis" by M. C. Escher, filled with many interesting pictures of fish, birds, and other insects, encourages students to daydream. This often takes students away from their homework and studies. Although at times the library seems quite busy, students can be found studying and being tutored. The media center at Foley is one place where many people are benefited.

Anne Cayen (12), helps look through the card catalogue.

Foley students make good use of their time by studying in the library.

Reaching for goals and setting standards are common undertakings that high school students are faced with. Here at Foley students aim toward and dream of becoming the best they can with the skills they have obtained. Being a high achiever is a common characteristic of students at Foley. With a learning atmosphere suited for students to receive a quality education, they can feel confident and assured that it is the best. Seeking out role models and wanting to mold your life after someone you admire, and perhaps fulfilling some of the same accomplishments are ways students encourage themselves to continue to work hard.

Looking ahead to the best college and perhaps even to career opportunities often worries many students. Hoping that some day your talents will help you to receive an occupation of your choice fills the minds of many. Many realize that it is the importance of high school education that sets the pace for the future. Studying hard, trying your best, and improving are some of the biggest keys to academic success.

Often your tasks will be many and more than you think you can do.
Often the road will be rugged and the hills insurmountable too.
But always remember the hills ahead are never as steep as they seem.
And with faith in your heart start upward and climb till you reach your dream.

Reach high, for stars lie hidden in your soul.
Dream deep, for every dream precedes the goal.
To achieve all that is possible, you must attempt the impossible.
to be as much as you can be,
you must dream of being more.
The great dividing line between success and failure,
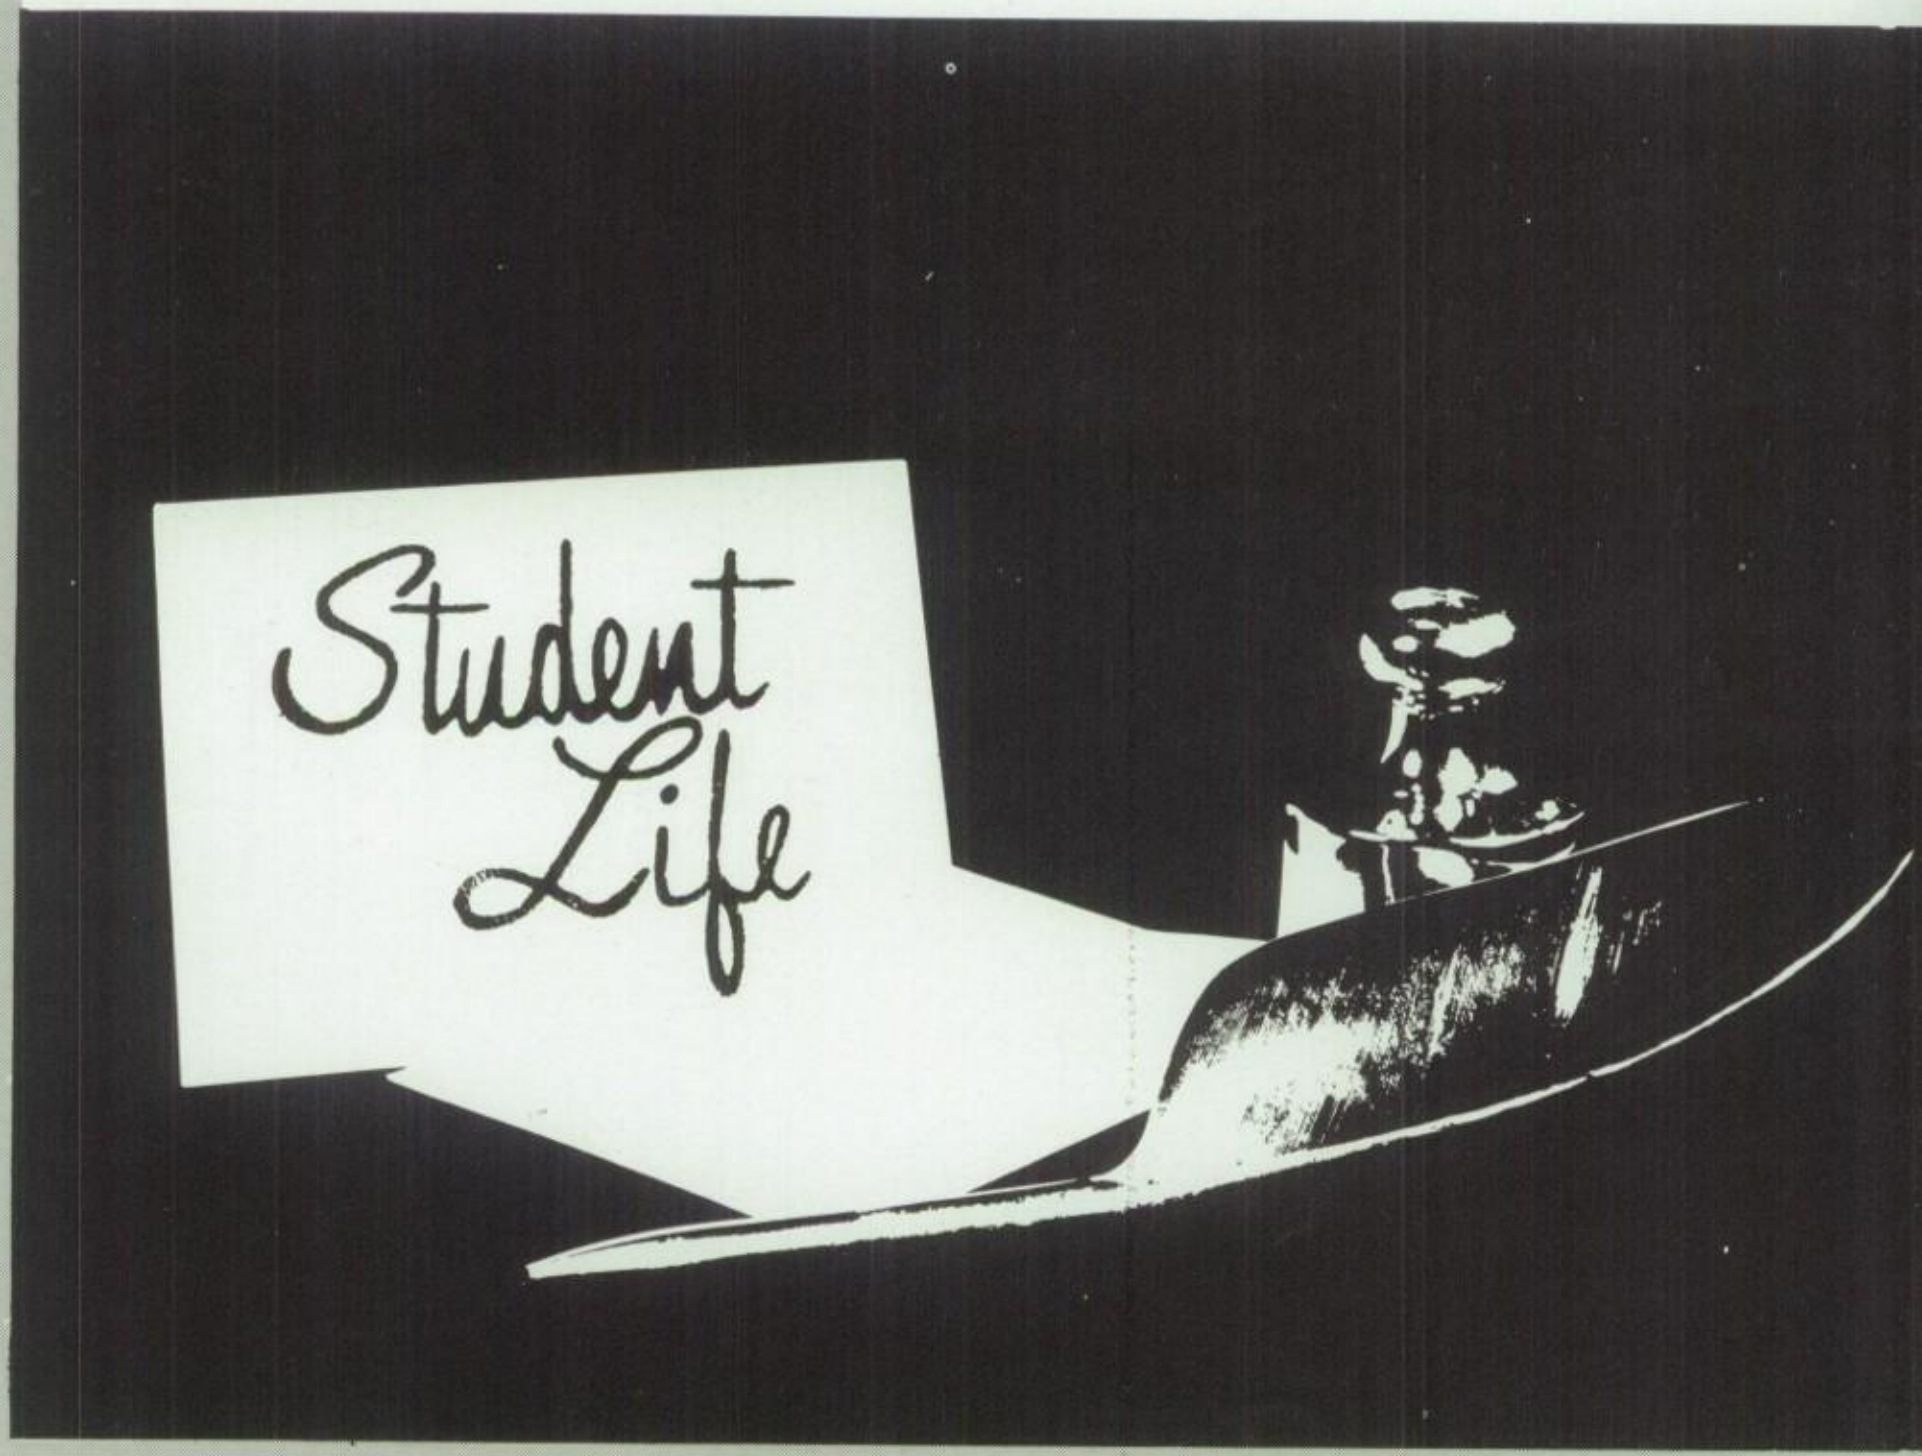
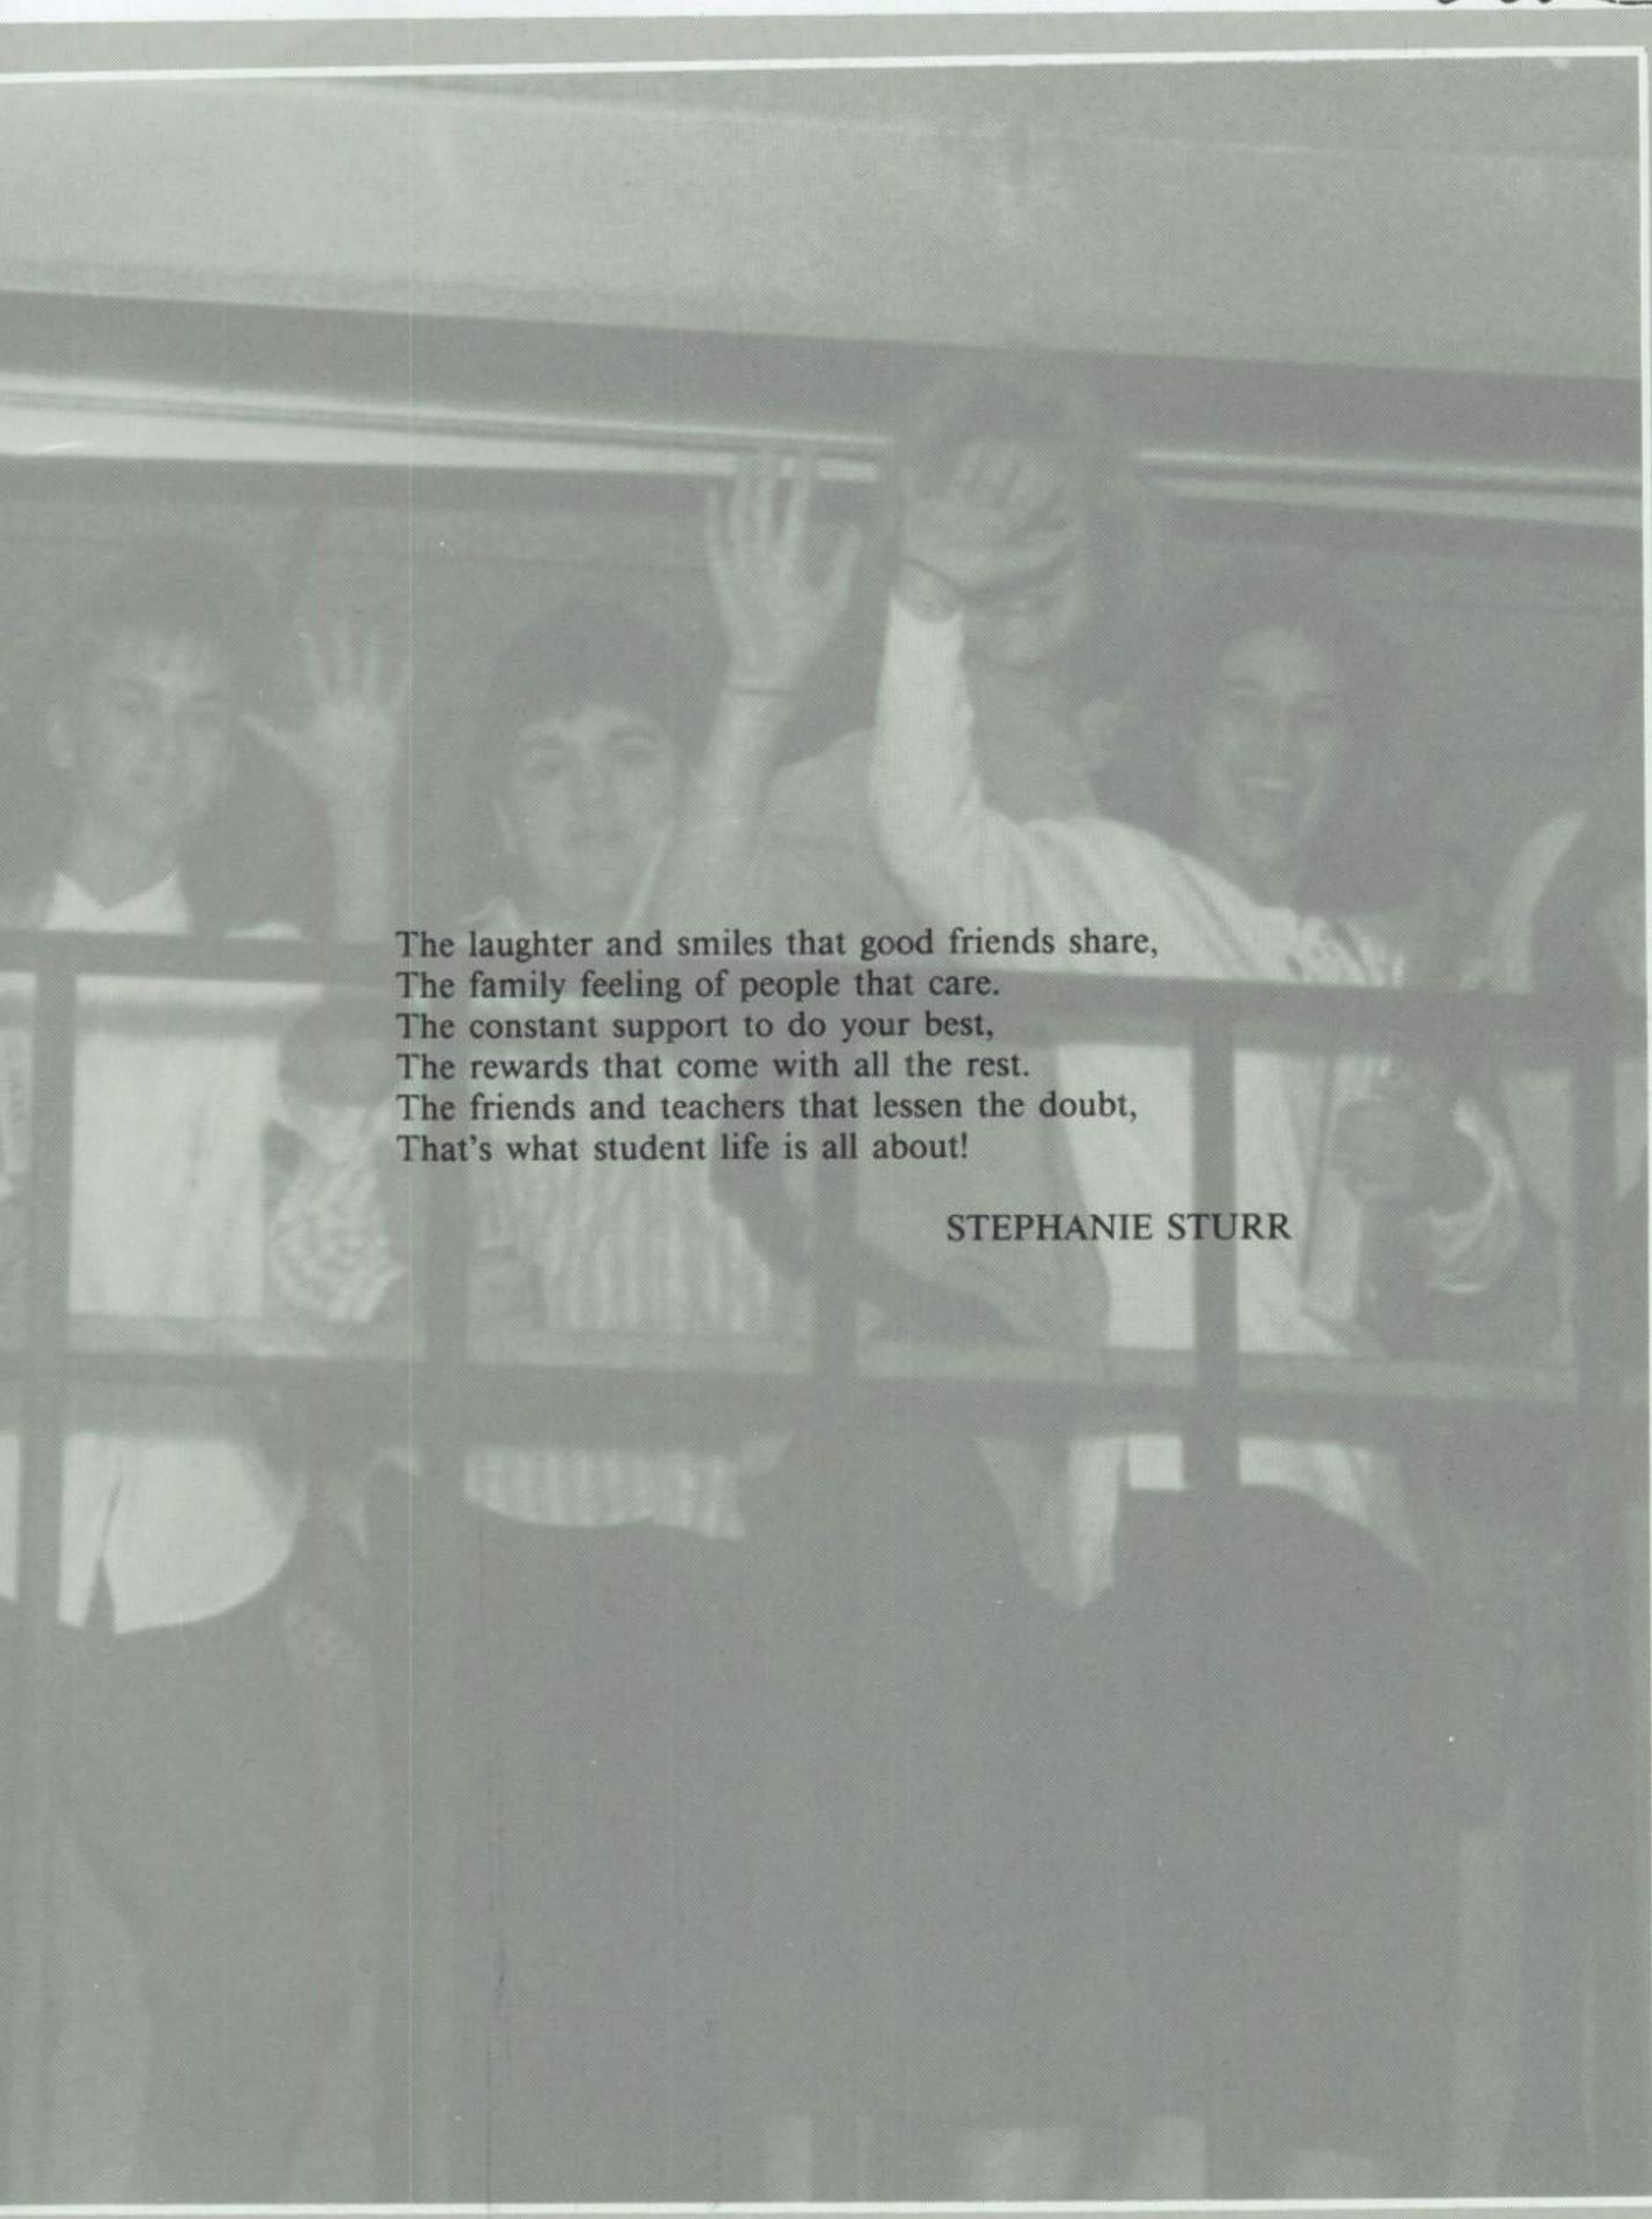
can be expressed in five words:
"I did not have time,
The harder you work,
The luckier you get.
Perseverance is failing 19 times,
and succeeding the 20th.

An Invitation To...





The laughter and smiles that good friends share,
The family feeling of people that care.
The constant support to do your best,
The rewards that come with all the rest.
The friends and teachers that lessen the doubt,
That's what student life is all about!

The Best of Times

Camera shy, Michelle Abood suddenly finds interest in her fingers; while Anna Marchinda lights up the night with her smile.

Before you go out and buy prom tickest, take a look at these graduated seniors. Don't get the wrong idea, you're supposed to have a good time; they just forgot.

Prom, the most exciting event of the year. You put ten dresses on lay-away just in case someone else has it. You buy the dress at least 2 sizes too small to inspire you to diet. Your date finally spends over $450 on you and you still ask him everyday, "Did you buy the tickets yet?????" After months of conning your mother she finally agrees you do need Friday off to get ready.

The night finally arrives and you've lost too much weight so your mother has to alter the dress. You show up and 5 of your friends have the same dress. You get through dinner without ruining your dress. The 5 o'clock curfew is a waste because you fall asleep in the car on the way to the "After Prom Breakfast". So keep that in mind when that glorious time comes: Prom.

Spend Time

The Bishop Foley Religion Department offers all the juniors and seniors an opportunity to go on a retreat. A few days away from the craziness of daily life to relax and strengthen your relationship with God. The cost of the retreat is nothing compared to what you can get out of it.

The retreat house that has welcomed the Foley family for the past year is the Capuchin Retreat House in St. Clair, Michigan. This house, or should I say mansion, is located right off the St. Clair River and is surrounded by a beautiful large yard that can be used for any activity that the weather may permit. Some of the ways Foley students take advantage of it include sleding, football, and nice short walks.

The priests and brothers who run the retreat include Brothers Mike Graf and Paul Haniska and Father Phil Naessens; all three are the reason the retreats work out so well. They give you the chance to talk with them if you have a problem and try to help in the best way they possibly can.

Time is spent thinking, writing, talking, and listening to thoughts and ideas about our faith. Each and everyone who wants to share their ideas are encouraged to do so.

Through the trees you can see the beautiful retreat house; this house was once called the Christian Friendship House.

Many people who go on retreat discover something very special. They discover that the other people in their class are really fun to be with. Many times when you are at school you only get to see one side of a person. You get to see people's other side when you see them in a different atmosphere. The atmosphere here at the retreat house is a totally different one from the one at school. You are put into some situations that make you get to know your classmates on a more personal basis.

In Anticipation . . .

Two happily smiling moms barter for broom-mice and other crafts at the Bishop Foley Funfest in the Mom's Club Country Store.

Of Fun!

This year we looked forward to the Foley Funfest as we do every February. The selling of raffle tickets, winning of prizes, and homeroom competition added to the anticipation of the festival weekend. A lot of hard work, as always, was involved in the preparation of the festival. Signs were hung, doors were painted, and decorations were put up. The festival would never get off the ground without the help and support of such organizations as the Mom's Club, Dad's Club, The National Honor Society, the Art Task Force, and the janitors. Without volunteers and teachers working at the various booths, we would not have a Funfest. The Foley Funfest would not exist if it wasn't for everyone's cooperation.

The Foley Funfest gives everyone a chance to have a few days off to have a good time and relax. Well, some of us anyway. Those of us who worked this or any festival realize it is not all fun and games. Because a lot of time and effort is involved, the results seem to pay off. It is always a success!

Everyone who comes to the festival can enjoy a variety of different activities. If you like to eat, we always have a variety of ethnic foods for you to choose from. The children have their choice of the moonwalk and many other prize-winning games. And of course we have the casino. bingo. and pub for the adults in the crowd. For everyone in between there was a live band and other shows going on throughout the whole weekend.

This years festival was well received by all and now we can look forward to next year's big weekend.

1986 brings back memories of tragedy and triumph. We hope you'll remember the world outside our small high school community. We invite you to share these moments that made such a huge impact on this year.

A nation mourned the loss of seven brave Americans when NASA launched space shuttle Challenger. After weeks of delay the craft ascended never to land again. The event was telecast and shocked millions of spectators with the horror of this tragedy brought into their living rooms. This catastrophe caused the American people to question the safety precautions taken by NASA. This needless waste of human life caused the world to step back and contemplate the importance of their own lives.

Meanwhile across the world near Kiev, in Chernobyl, a nuclear melt down caused another national tragedy. The Soviets kept all information on the meltdown to themselves. The radiation affected all areas of the outside world. The Russian people were devasted by the destruction of their city. The world learned not only the harm of nuclear energy, but the need for better communication. Unfortunately it took this deadly display to teach us.

In 1986, a new awareness of the horrid disease AIDS arose. After the death of Rock Hudson the nation became more aware of the deadly disease.

In the summer of 1986, our country sponsored Hands Across America. Millions of people joined hands to form a human chain stretching from California to New York. This helped benefit the millions of poor, underprivledged people in our country. This was a huge success thanks to many caring people.

Crack Cocaine became a huge issue in our country. It was taking the lives of many people but the nation was uninformed. It took the death of first round draft pick Len Bias, on his way to the champion Boston Celtics, to make our people aware of the harmful effects of crack cocaine. Many helpful hotlines, clinics and programs developed to aid those addicted to cocaine, and inform those who wanted to know more.

On July 4, celebrations took place honoring our Statue of Liberty. They were a result of the restoration of our lady, a symbol of America's diversity.

The People Mover was finally born in downtown Detroit after years of preparations and building. After many setbacks and millions of more dollars in cost than what was originally estimated, the People Mover looks for a promising future in downtown Detroit.

Isaiah Thomas helped us recognize a day set aside to prevent and cut down on crime called "No Crime Day". Although it was not as successful as it hoped to be, it opened many new doors for preventing crime as a community, and brought the idea to the people's attention.

We Invite You to Relive 1986-87

American travelers were staying on this side of the globe this year. Fear of highjacking kept them at home. Americans were attacked overseas all summer long. President Reagan took a tough stand on terrorism. He imposed new rules regarding Libya and all countries supporting their leader Muammar Khaddafi. After the bombing of Libya the attacks on Americans dwindled. Terrorism is a very real threat today and one of the most horrifying factors in this year.

This year also saw the downfall of a President. Mr. Reagan ruined his credibility by striking a deal with the Iranians. Arms were traded in exchange for hostages. Later it was discovered funds were also sent to the Contras. The President and his Administration broke policy, twice. To make matters worse, the President apparently had no idea about the financial aid. This put him in a bad light for having no idea what his cabinet was up to.

We've left out many pieces of this year. The victory of Corazon Aquino and the people of the Phillipines. The record setting flight of the Voyager. Aparthied in South Africa. The list goes on. We can only hope we did this year justice in its portrayal as a year of hope and learning.

Trends

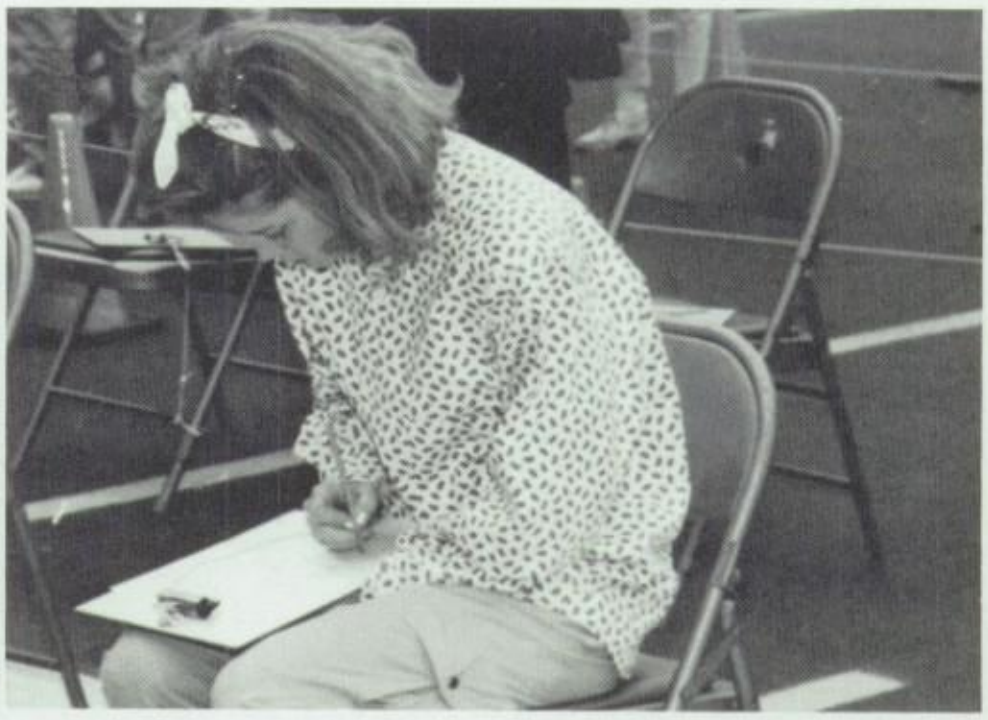
Every year at Foley, along with the new faces and personalities, appear new trends. They affect the young and the old, from east to west. Here at Foley students have contributed to them, and perhaps even a few have created them. Starting at the top and working down, it begins with the hair. Mohawks, spikes, and shaved designs are just a few ideas of this style. For some, wearing sun glasses, or sometimes more commonly called shades, with their collars turned up makes them feel good. Adding to this summery look are the knee length shorts made up of all different designs, helping to create the "tropical look." For the female population of the school, gold and silver were popular, especially in purses and shoes. Trends are a big part of our high school days, and whether they are accepted by everyone or not, they are here adding spirit, color, and variety to everyone's day!

Best buddies Amy Schweiger(11) and Kevin O'Brien(11) laugh and listen to a walkman as their classmate Dave Warner(12) admires their neat hair cuts!

Teresa Sinacola(11) works diligently in restyling Bill Ames'(11) outrageous hair.

Ms. Ramaut compliments Mrs. Andersen on her new plastic bag!

Accompanied by Tony Malinowski (12), Mr. Maloney sports his new spike at our first pep assembly.



Katie McGunn (10) dresses in her preppiest clothes for the field trip to the Silverdome on the CPR day.

Matching Coke shirts and sweaters were trends at our Sadie Hawkins Dance.

ick Myrik (12) and Mike Cabrera (11) put on their shades as they begin a long day f track.

With Charles Spencer's (10) new hair cut you can almost see what his next move will be.

Quartet

Through out my years at Bishop Foley few activities have provided me with so much satisfaction as singing with the barbershop quartet. Singing with such talented people as Quinn Auten, Steve Mitchell and Scott Tomlinson, as well as working closely with our instructor, Mr. Scott Turnbull has given me a sense of accomplishment and enjoyment. Performing at concerts, brunches, Universal Mall and Festival has made me aware of what fun singing can be. There are two feelings I get from harmonizing with the quartet, that are the greatest feelings in the world. The first one is pretty strange. When we hit a chord just right, my rib cage seems to swell. I can't help but smile when I experience that sensation. The most important feeling is the one I get when I hear people clapping for us. When we sing our version of "Jingle Bells" at the Christmas concert for a cafe full of people applauding as we strike our last chord. That's what makes it all worth it. I've really enjoyed my quartet experience.

Dean Lemont

Varsity Choir

Varsity Choir has definitely been a learning experience, from performing in front of a live audience, to reading music. Mr. Turnbull has had us sing a variety of music from traditional Christmas to early rock of the 50's, 60's 70's and current rock of the 80's. In class we have lots of fun, but the best part has to be Melodia.

Mr. T's hard work with the choir is appreciated by all of us. We've had the chance to perform at the brunches, the recruitment program, the Christmas concert, and Festival. Much thanks to Mr. T. We really do enjoy your class, even with Melodia. I hope that the rest of the year we can grow even more.

Show Choir

This is my first year of show choir. I realized I missed alot of fun not taking it before. I went, tried out, made it and even became a section leader. It gives me an opportunity to do something I love and get a grade and credit for it. What could be better? Show Choir has gone through alot of change under Mr. Turnbull. He made it an organization that develops alot of talent. The kind of group that you want to be a part of. The show choir has done quite a bit thus far this year. We've done a brunch, Christmas Concert, we've sung at Universal Mall and a party at Southfield Hilton. We contain a group of extremely talented people. We've spawned a quartet and seven of the leads for the spring musical are show choir members. If you have the opportunity, don't pass it up; join the show choir next year. Even if you've never been in choir before and you're a senior. Who knows, you might make section leader.

Venturian

Nikki Zakrzewski, Andrea Keller, Sue Potok

The Venturian is in very capable hands this year. Editor, Andrea Keller, seems to have everything in order. Help from Sister Peggy Galloway, Sue Potok, Nikki Zachewski and at least a dozen other capable writers have made this possible. Foley is very lucky to have a school paper. It offers students a chance to report on things important to them. The paper has current events, school events, comic strips and for only a quarter! What more could you ask? The opinion and survey offer you, the student, more opportunity to get your name in the paper. We should all be thankful to our newspaper staff and the excellent job they do. They offer something to look back at years from now and see what was happening. No staff works harder or does a better job.

Drama Club

In the four years that I have spent at Foley I have been very active in the area of theatre. I have always loved drama and the opportunity to express myself in a creative way. The Bishop Foley Drama Club provided me the enriching experience to do just that. Through the Drama Club, I have participated in all of the musicals and I can honestly say that some of my best memories and accomplishments lie within them. Also, I met some of my best friends in the Drama Club. We all share a common interest, and by taking part in it, we not only feel fulfilled but at the same time, we are having a great time. Even though we probably won't pursue our Hollywood dreams, we got a chance to be "stars" here. The feeling I get when I perform on stage is unbeatable. This description simply would not be complete unless I thanked Ms. Schoenherr for her time and talent, and of course, for making all this possible.

Student Council

A great man once taught me to give to others until it hurts, because it is much better to give, than to receive. I feel this is what student council is all about. After achieving goals and gaining accomplishments for the Foley Family, it always has given me a great feeling. A much warmer feeling inside than ever receiving or taking. Bishop Foley, as with most anything, is what you make it to be. I urge all underclassmen to get involved and make Bishop Foley the best it can be.

S.A.D.D.

S.A.D.D. (Students Against Driving Drunk) tries to prevent drinking and driving among students from occuring. Here at our own Foley chapter, we try to accomplish this by sponsoring various activities in which our own students can be involved. A good example of this would be this year's Halloween party. This activity which included food, non-alcoholic beverages, and plenty of dancing, experienced a great turnout. This was only one of many rewarding ideas we plan to continue in the future. Other activities will also be planned to help publicize this important organization. Another important event that takes place in this chapter is "Project Graduation." With this being the time for celebrations, we try to stress our values most at that time. As we move on to the class of '88, we hope future Foley chapters of S.A.D.D. will continue to fight for the goals we emphasize.

Girls Athletic Association

The GAA is a group or club available to female athletes, but also to those who take part in sports in any way. It allows girls the opportunity to become involved in ways by more than just different types of a sport. The GAA has many different types of involvement, from fund raisers, to straightening out trophy cases to assisting in the community when the need arises. One of the biggest jobs of this club is the participation in "Happening", the Special Olympics held here at Foley in May. Although the GAA involves work and helping others, they are also a social group! The GAA is a great club with many fun and rewarding activities; it really is an honor to be a member of it!

Varsity Club

The Varsity Club is comprised of every man in Bishop Foley who has earned a varsity letter or plays on a Varsity team. Our main purpose each year it to raise money for the Foley athletic program. These funds go toward new uniforms, equipment, and improving athletic facilities. What makes the Varsity Club so unique is the way every athlete participates and gives his time serving the Foley community in such activities as the annual pancake breakfast or by working concessions at indoor sporting events. The willingness and time each athlete puts out for the Foley Family and the team effort each member gives make the Bishop Foley Men's Varsity Club a worthwhile group to be a member of.

N.H.S.

The National Honor Society represents many different ideals at Foley. Many students think of it as a club that improves the partipant's chances of acceptance into colleges. However, members soon realize what N.H.S. stands for. It is a group effort to help those around us in our community and the deprived who are completely alone. It is a feeling of accomplishment and pride for what is being done for those in need. It is being in school and helping with festival, open house, and special masses. The National Honor Society can not be defined as a club or a duty. Rather, N.H.S. is a group of caring, conscientious, young adults striving to better a community.

Art Task Force

Only at Foley can you spot the unique touch of the traditional Task Force. This group consists of chosen advanced art students who are interested in making their artistic mark outside of the classroom. The Task Force has various duties like providing artistic expression to events like Homecoming, Festival, and Prom. As a member of the Task Force I find it a combination of fun and hardwork as well as a rewarding experience.

An Invitation to Our Alumni

What is an alumni? The grammatical term is a former student of a certain school, but Bishop Foley alumni are different. They just don't take the school name with them, they take something very special. All of the memories—the memories they've collected, like freshmen orientation, opening school mass, homecoming game and dance, Sadie Hawkin's, the Foley Fun Fest, retreats, soph-out and of course, graduation go with them. Like everyone says you won't remember everything that was taught during each class but you'll remember all the extra things you and your friends did together.

No other school or its students have had the opportunity to experience the kind of love and sharing that goes on between the groups of friends at Foley. The alumni can look back at their years at Foley and honestly say they did learn something besides math, science and history, they learned how to care.

Marching Band

Many lasting friendships and good times have formulated among the members. Persistency and common goal of someday having a great band keep us together. Currently the band is under the direction of Mr. Scott Turnbull (Mr. T). Mr. T has helped us to make a miraculous turnabout in attitude, performance, and style. We've always had the ability to be a great band, it just took a little guidance and a boost of confidence for it to surface. The marching Ventures have participated in The Auto Show, Michigan State Fair Parade, Prep Bowl, Homecoming Celebration, and numerous competitions. If you're mean on a sax, can jam on a drum, or love to flaunt you flute, Marching Band is a great way of showing off your talents. My experience in band leaves me with only one thing to say: "Bishop Foley's Marching Ventures are hip, now, and 80's."

Carolyn Czarski

Jazz Band

"The Jazz Band is in demand," stated Mr. Turnbull. It was during a Tuesday Jazz rehearsal. These words certainly were new to the members of the band. "In demand?" erupted the shocked sax section. "Gosh, that's rather nifty," bubbled the rhythm section. Mr. T began to read, "We're playing at basketball games, pep rallies, and a private office party." "Office party?" asked a trombone. "Does that include free food?" "Sit down, please." said Mr. T "As I was saying, we're also playing for the Parent/Daughter breakfast, the Catholic Schools' Literary Honors Dinner, three school concerts, some U of D College home games, the recruitment programs, the Foley Fun Fest, open house and even a wrestling meet." It certainly seemed true, and with such a "hip" director, how could we go wrong? "The Jazz Band has improved tremendously," concluded Mr. T, "and hopefully, with all these performances, everyone will hear the difference." "Wow, that's something," said the saxes. "Boy, that's neat," rapped the rhythm section. "Golly, we're hungry," blurted the trombone . . . Y'know Jazz Band sure is fun.

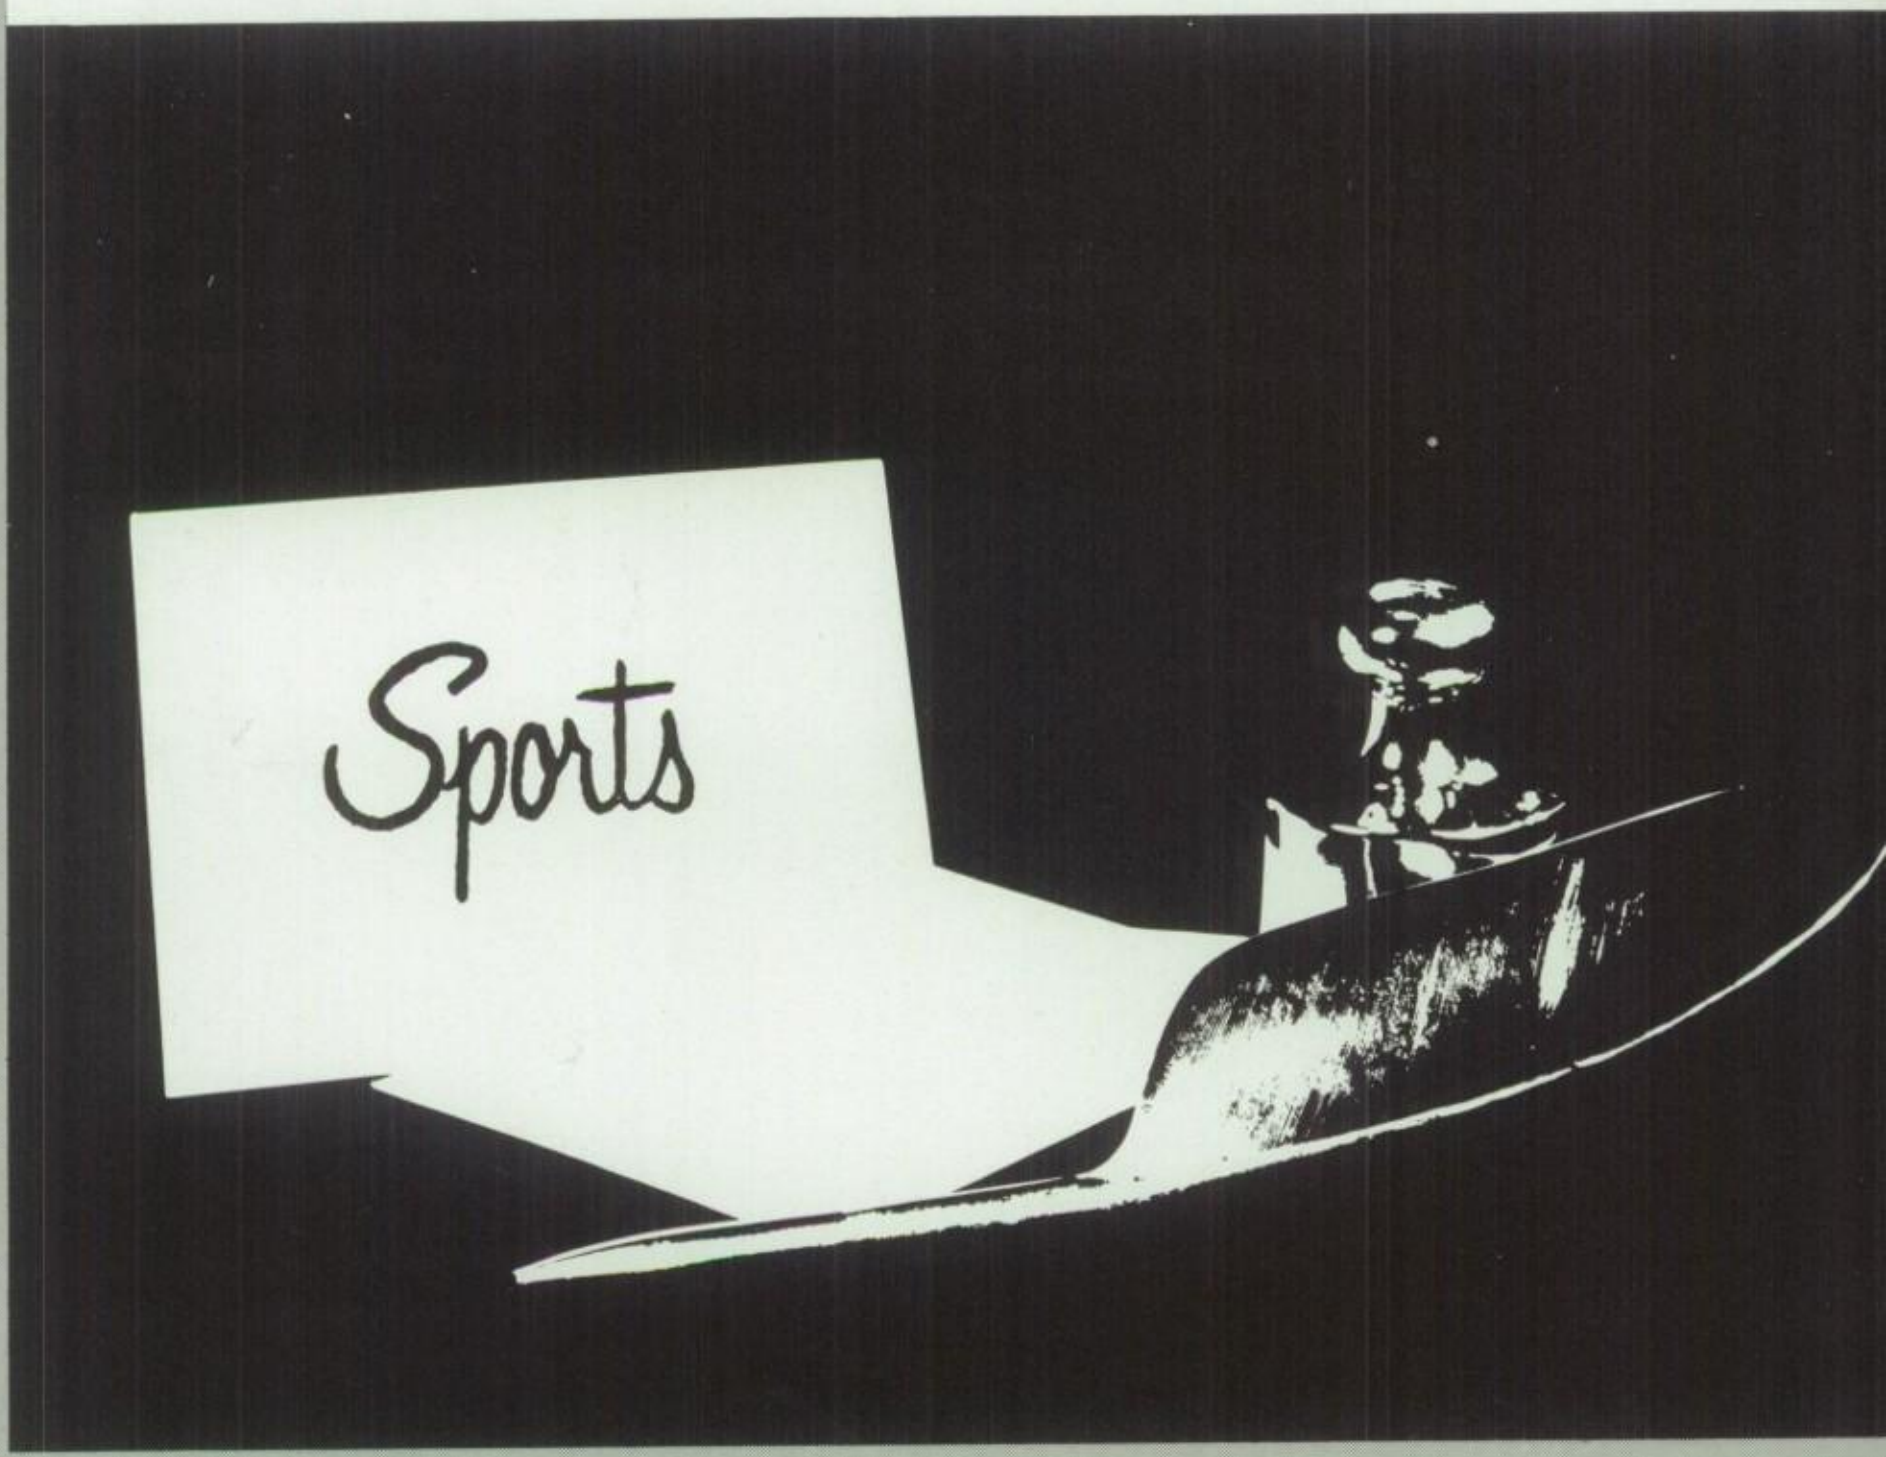
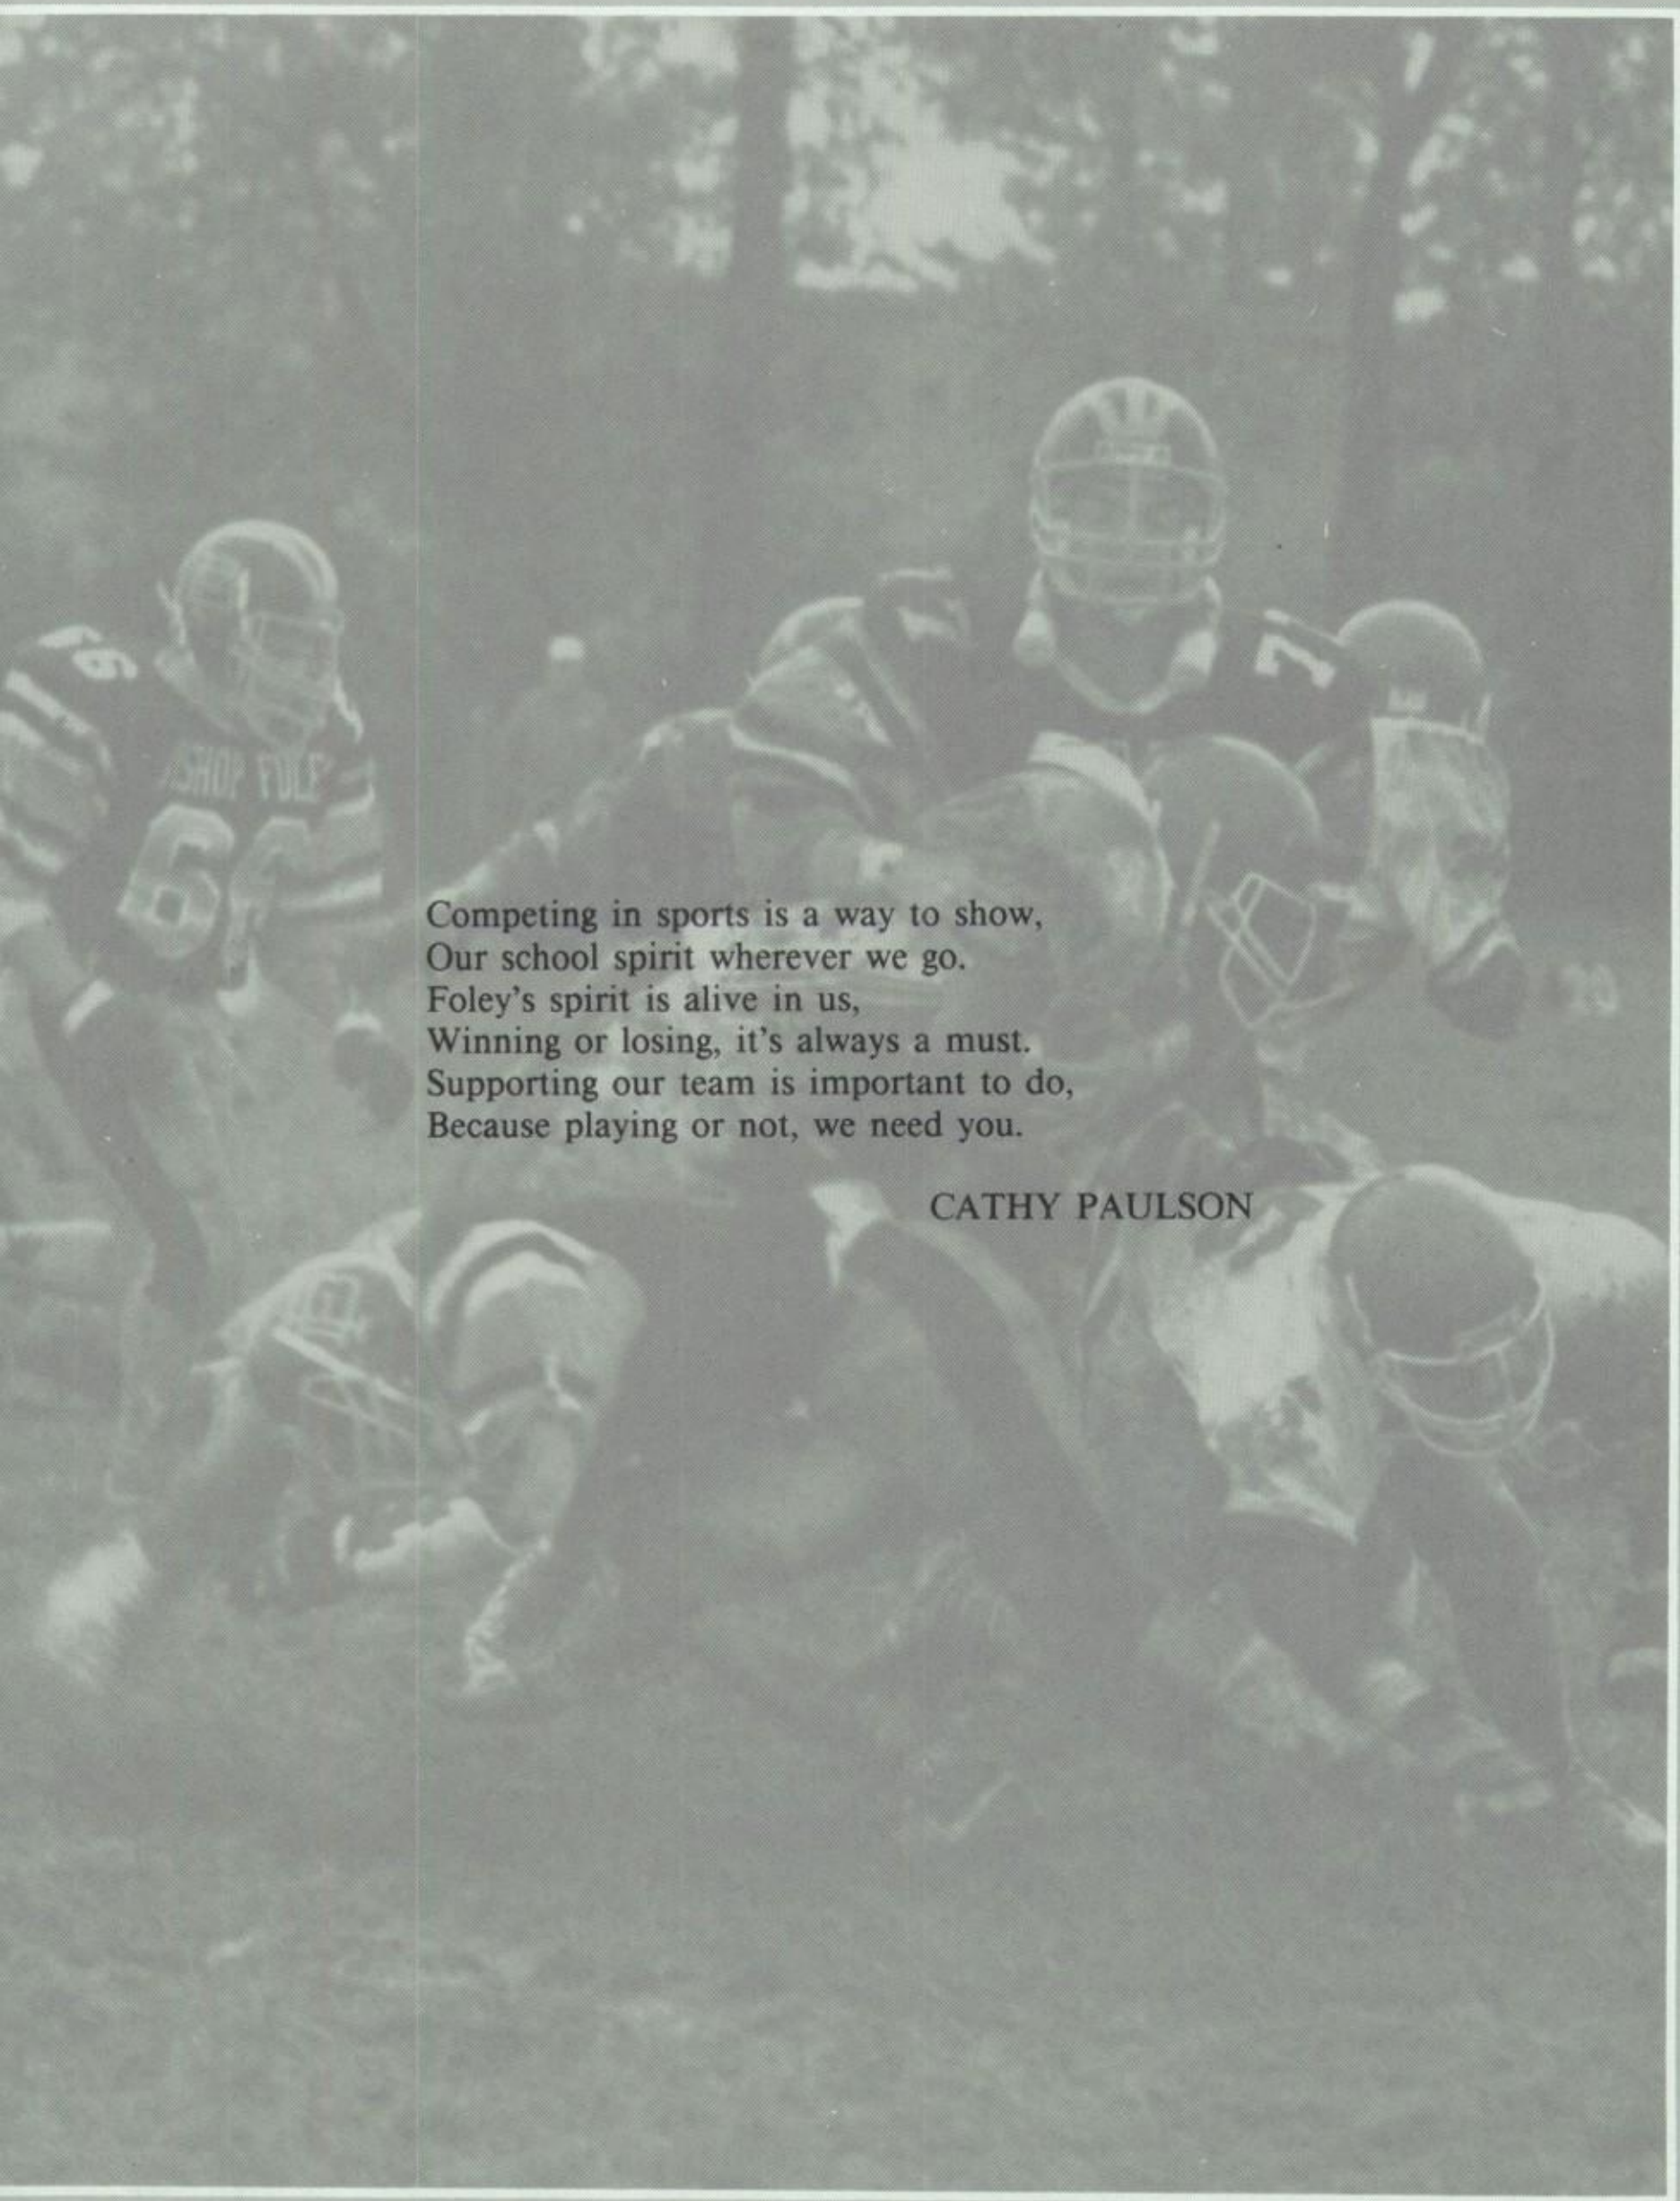
Studying on the weekend? Doing homework on Friday night? Never. Anything related to school is 98% of the time saved for Sunday night at 10:00. So then how do Foley students spend their free time? Socializing and having fun is an important part in the lives of high school students. Lasting friendships, good times, and the best memories will occur while relaxing with others at a dance or the Fun Fest. Activities such as these help to create unity. Putting forth effort and working together as one bonds us into the community we call the "Foley Family." The combined efforts of many contribute greatly to the success of activities and projects at Foley. Excitement is felt running through the crowded halls as people discuss their plans for the weekend. Socializing with friends is not only important, but it allows us to see others in a "different light." The quietest, shyest, or most conservative people during school may change into the loud, outgoing, and fun to be with individuals. The different groups offered at Foley are another way in which we can get to know others. Working closely together to accomplish a common task to benefit others allows us to make new friends. Through the many activities and groups at Foley we are invited to come together to share ourselves with others in achieveing all we can.

An Invitation To...





Competing in sports is a way to show,
Our school spirit wherever we go.
Foley's spirit is alive in us,
Winning or losing, it's always a must.
Supporting our team is important to do,
Because playing or not, we need you.

CATHY PAULSON

Foley Track Accepts the Challenge

Track is one of the most challenging and rewarding sports that demands the dedication of every member on the team. The 1986 season was an exciting one—the team was composed of a few seniors, many juniors, and the remainder were sophomores and freshmen, who added to the depth of the team. Each person contributed to the success of everybody; like Linda Wittmer, coming out in front with her endurance in long-distance running and Kathy Landry, a freshman, scoring the most points for the team. Much thanks is due Coach DeWolfe, who gave a great deal of time and support in helping the girls do their best and reach their goals.

Taking a first place in the 100 yard dash is James Miller.

Waiting for the start of the running events are Victoria Kalmanek and Linda Wittmer.

The second leg of the 2-mile relay team, maintaining the lead, is Kelly Zook.

Showing off his perfect form is shotputter Roel Flores.

Taking a practice run at the 110 high hurdles is freshman Kathy Landry.

Nervously chewing her lip, Kelly Kalina prepares herself to go to bat.

Gritting her teeth in determination Lisa Horwath wacks another homerun for Foley.

Warming up her arm, Christina White shows just what she can do.

J.V. Softball: Judy Cavendar, Rhonda Blow, Lisa Morency, Kelly Young, Janine Walcott, Annette Brunett, Coach Cadovich, Kelly Handley, Kim Wisnewski, Diane Jerzey, Julie Wardowski, Ann-Marie Ruzycki

The 1986 softball team was characterized by dedication and hard work. Their responsibility, talent, enthusiasm, and team spirit led them to be the first softball team in Foley's history to be State Finalists. This was quite an accomplishment considering we were a young team with only three Seniors.

Their achievements were many: Catholic League Runner-up; District Champs, Regional Champs and State Finalists.

Personally, I felt very privileged to travel the road to State Finals with this team, I couldn't have asked for better company. They are a great group of young ladies and I will never forget them. Thanks for the memories. Miss Ramaut

Girls Soccer Teams Increase Spirit and Unity

The Varsity and Junior Varsity teams put forth great effort in both practice and competition to not only improve their own individual skills, but increase team unity and spirit. The majority of the Varsity team has been playing together since girls soccer originated at Bishop Foley in 1984, and have improved their team playing year after year. The girls started off with a winning 1986 season but fell to several upsets near the close, teaching the team that every game must be played with the same intensity, as hopes of top rankings slipped away.

Coach Foreman is quoted as saying of the Junior Varsity team, "I know they will keep up the the hard work and achieve their goal to move forward and play as the future Varsity team.

Controlling the ball, as well as the backfield, is the captain, Kari Giberson.

The only freshman on the team, Kerry Fratarcangeli, shows off her dribbling skills.

During the first home game of the season, Tracy Kource makes a break for it.

Celebrating the winning goal are Laura Steeby and Lisa Condino.

Foley Pride Shows Through

The 1986 Varsity Baseball team was very successful this year. Many events are highlighted throughout the season. Foley defeated Divine Child three out of four times to push their way into second place. This got them a ticket to the CHSL playoffs which they lost in eleven innings to the eventual CHSL Champion Bishop Gallagher. Foley's hard work and determination payed off and they finished 14-6 in league play and 18-13 overall. This placed them second in AA play this year. The team's sense of unity and pride helped Foley to reach the top.

Patiently, Matt Zglicznski awaits the first warm up pitch of the game.

Anticipating the first pitch is Chris Sturr, hoping to get a hold of the ball.

Swinging for the fence is Don Stone with a look of great determination.

A Test of Endurance

This being my first year on the Cross Country team, I've learned about running, being on a team and myself. Cross Country, though a team sport, is also an individual one. You're testing both your will and endurance, pushing yourself to your outer limits to go as far and as fast as you can. It's rough and hard work but well worth the feeling of self accomplishment once you cross the finish line. I've made many new friends being on the team and am thankful to both them and our coach for their constant support and guidance.

Ellen Moore

After a hard day of running the Cross Country teams show their spirit.

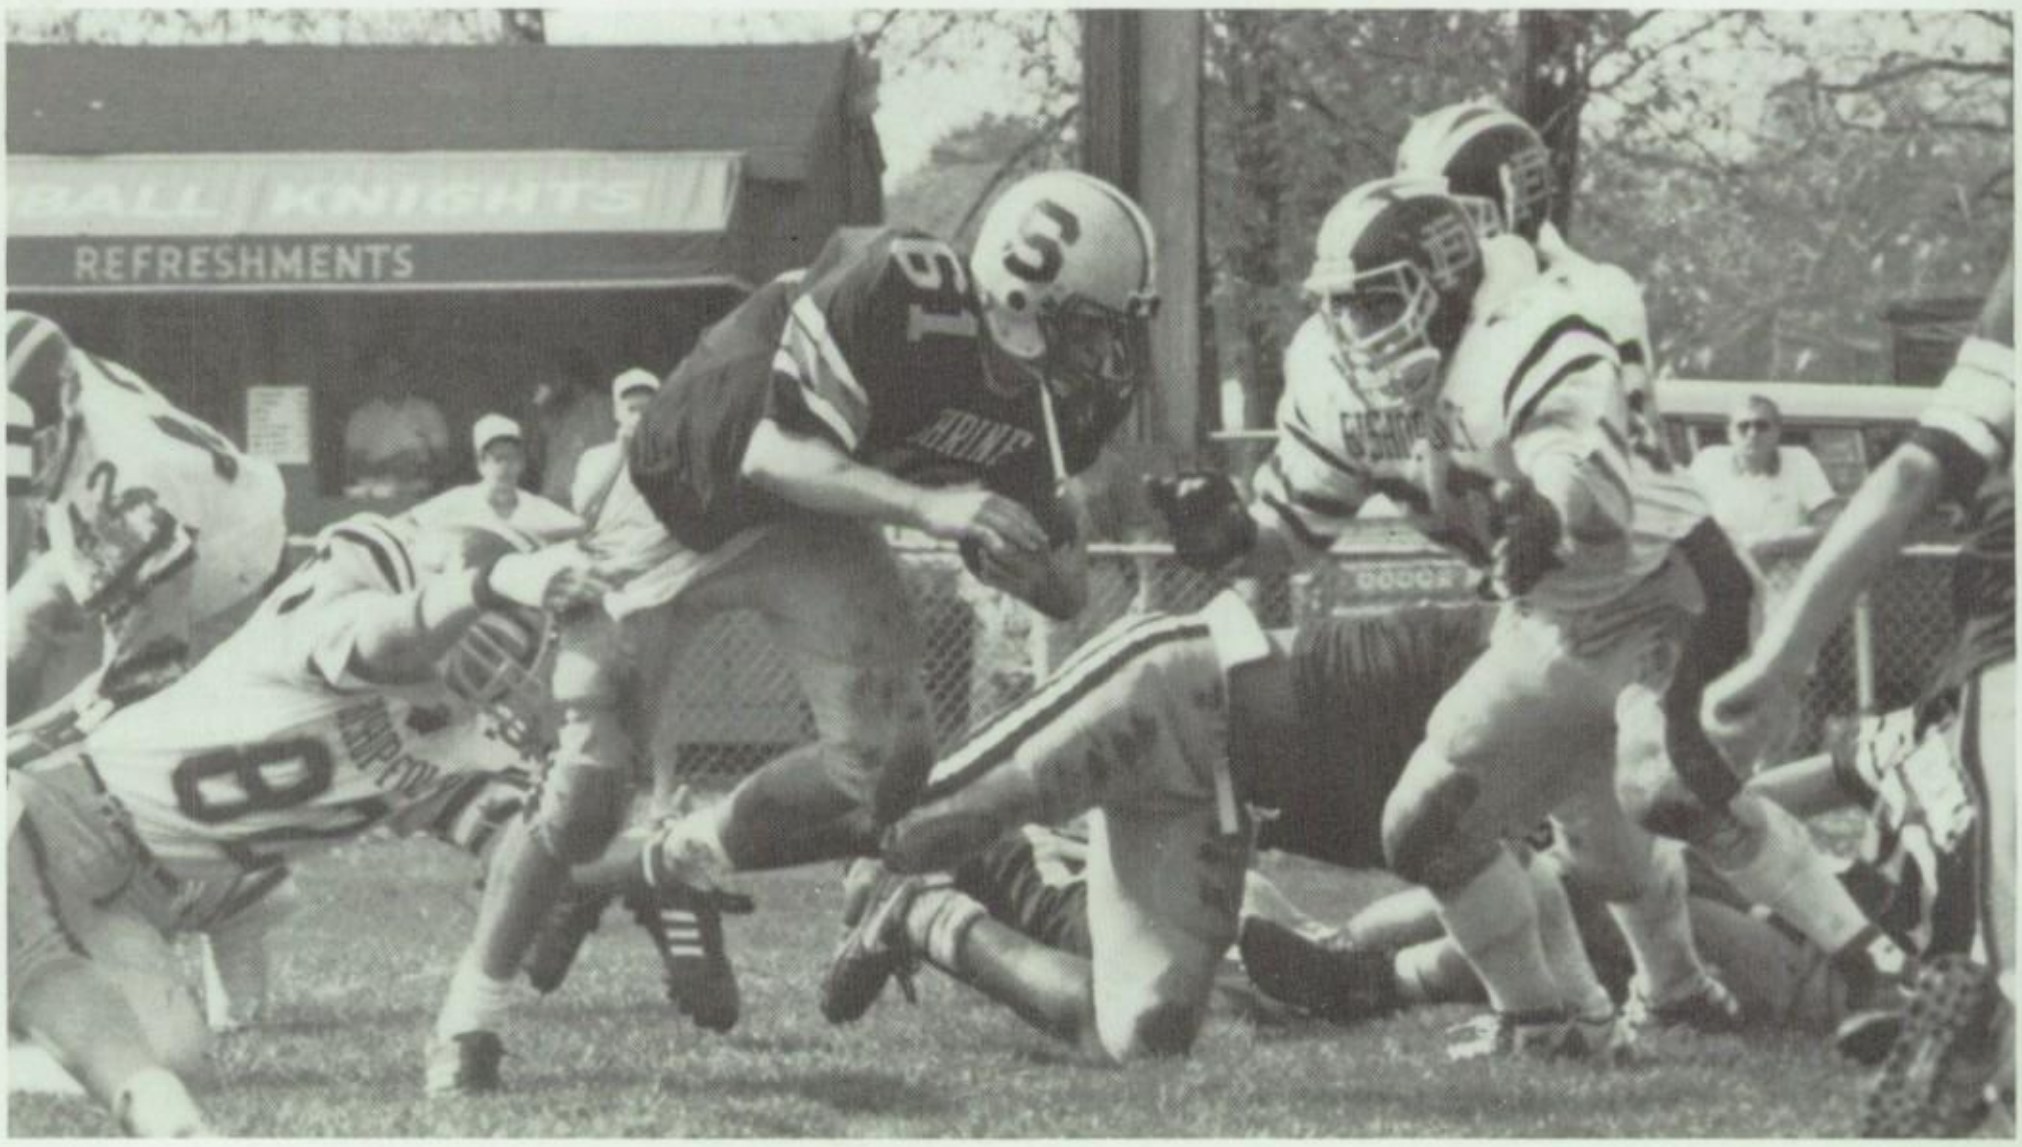
Building Year Invites Future Victories

Breaking the tackles, Andy Wade makes another dazzling run.

Playing an unforgiving defense, Andrew Pongracz gets his man.

Taking his chances, Joe Michalak runs the ball for a big gain.



Sophomore James Miller seems to have a different opinion than the referee.

The ball pops loose for anyone to grab; which nimble player will get to it first.

1986 Varsity Football

The 1986 season was one of excitement and disappointment. The team finished with a 5-4 record. It was a young team that really began to improve in the last half of the season. The highlight was the exciting, come from behind victory against Aquinas. The team finished the season with a spine tingling, thrilling, double overtime loss against heavily favored Catholic Central.

Andy Wade, Tony Malinowski and Joe Beiser were named to the All-League team.

Overall, the hard work of each player contributed to the success of the team this year and gives us a lot to look forward to in the future.

Coach Ed Maloney

Controling the court completely, Anne Cayen intends to run up the score.

As Shannon Powers sets up for the free throw Sandi Bondi prays she'll make it.

The Ladies' Varsity Basketball team started off slowly with several frustrating close losses. This group of young ladies proved to be one of the most dedicated and hard working teams that I've ever coached.

With our backs against the wall, needing to win our last two league games, we defeated Shrine and Dominican to make the playoffs. After playing a tough Mercy team in the playoffs and being defeated, our team worked hard to prepare for State tournament Competition, winning nine out of our last eleven games.

The ladies' turning point of the season was a victory over a good Shrine team.

The highlight of the season was winning the district tournament hosted here at Bishop Foley.

Receiving post-season recognition were Sandi Bondi, who made the All-Catholic team, and Richelle Reilly who made the All-League team.

I am very proud to have coached this fine group of young women. All fourteen are very important to me as individuals and team members.

Invitation to a Season of Success

The game "jumps" into action with a little help from Deanna Malcheski.

The action underneath the net gets intense as the game progresses.

Thrill of Victory

It was unfortunate that the Varsity soccer team lost when they did in the beginning of the State Regional Play-off. Several people were disappointed, but that happens every year to many teams when they play in the State Tournament. Looking back over the entire season, this team had many significant accomplisments. Winning the Catholic League Division for the sixth straight year and the State District title, with a final season record of 12-4-2 was surely something to be proud of. As far as individual effort goes, there were many highly skilled players who did their job well. But the overall hard work, the dedication, the sacrifice and pride made them a special group of young men, which was a pleasure to coach. The support of the parents and the Bishop Foley Dad's Club should also be recognized and was greatly appreciated. Thank You!

Franco Pertot

During the Pontiac Catholic game, captain Chris Thorton plays his role in the win.

"Don't let anyone fool you, soccer is definitely a contact sport, especially from behind!" exclaims Bob Stowe.

Junior captain, Tim Smith, prepares for a breakaway.

Showing that he deserves all the honors he has received is Kent Fuson.

Junior Varsity coached by Joe Foreman.

Though the Junior Varsity was a young team, they improved their skills so much throughout the season that they won their league title. The boys played strongly against the competition and finished undefeated. Being a young team with great spirit, I'm sure they will bring home many championships in future seasons.

Joe Foreman

"Yes, I know I'm eleven over par!" sneers Mike Hopkins.

With intense anticipation, Mark Baumgardner awaits the appearance of a gopher.

Warming up with a drive is Scott Conrad.

The 1986 Golf season was approached with different goals than in years past. The number one goal was to improve not just win matches. Although we did win matches, going 7-3 and finishing second in our league. Our overall record as 12-4. This program worked just fine. We won the Regional Championship and went on to place 20th in the State Finals. The team was led by senior Mike Hopkins who received All League and All Catholic honors. Other contributing players were Mark Baumgardner, Mark Gagnon, John Schandevel, Scott Conrad, Scott Markiewicz, Ken Karolski, Jim Mleczko, Kurt Gallant, and the team was coached by Rick Novak.

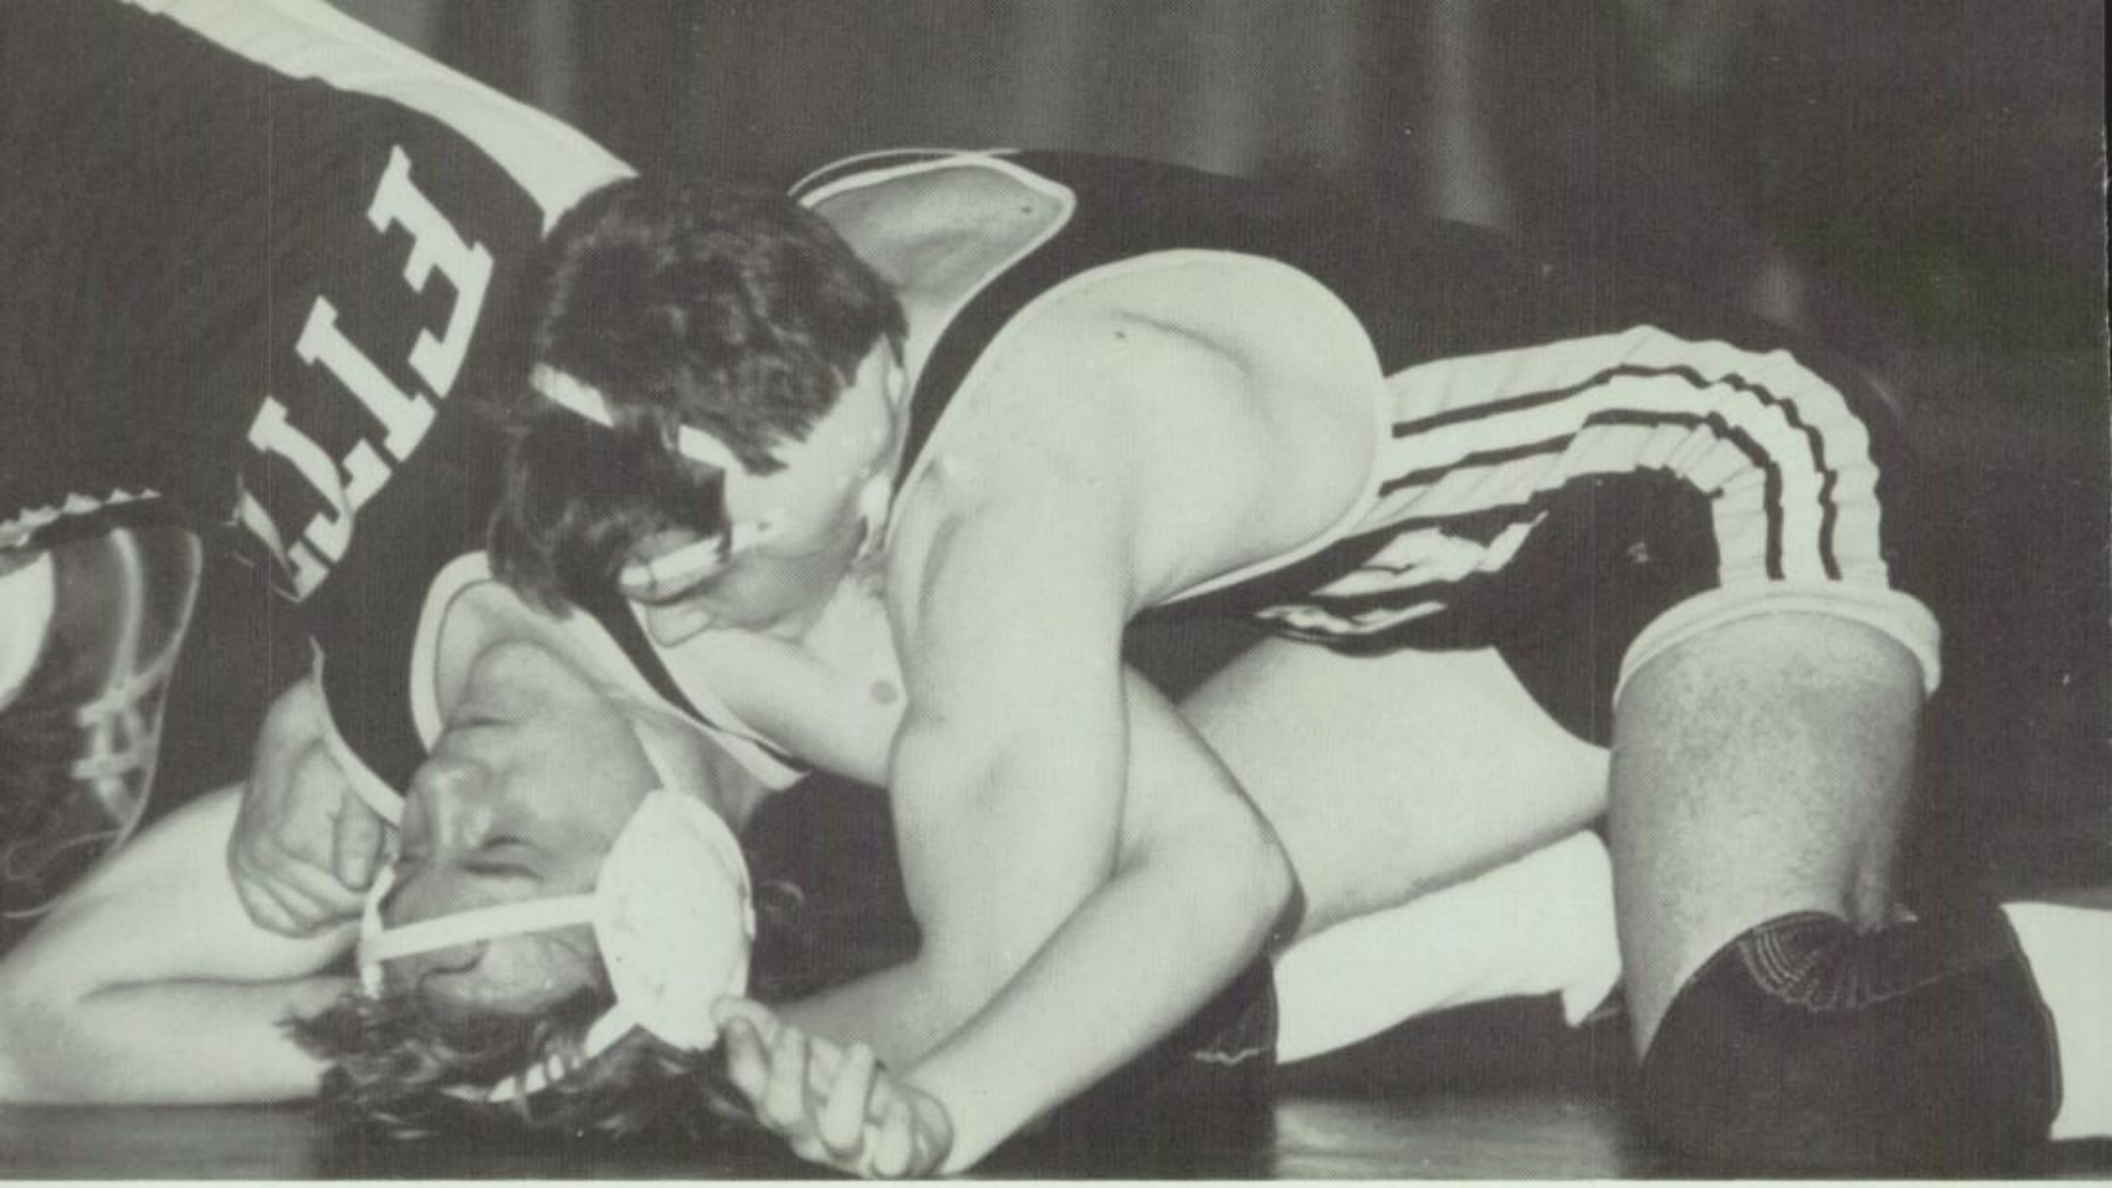
Catch the Wave . . . Fore!

Daily strenuous practice, aching muscles and a positive attitude are just part of the requirements for the girls' swim team. Often these and many other requirements pose quite a challenge loved by each swimmer. As the echo of "Swimmers, take your mark", the piercing gun, roaring crowds and hearts pounding each swimmers only concern is to win. This positive attitude reflects in each swimmer. Their three months of dedication glows through the water from the moment the gun goes off until the second their fingertip touches the finish pad until the final score is announced as a victory. Along with winning, each member expresses support and enthusiasm for their teammates which unites them together. Not only are the girls competitive but also friends. These friendships and dedicated bodies will result in the team coming together again to conclude another rewarding season.

Andrea Keller

Getting an excellent start and finishing with her best time is Senior Andrea Keller.

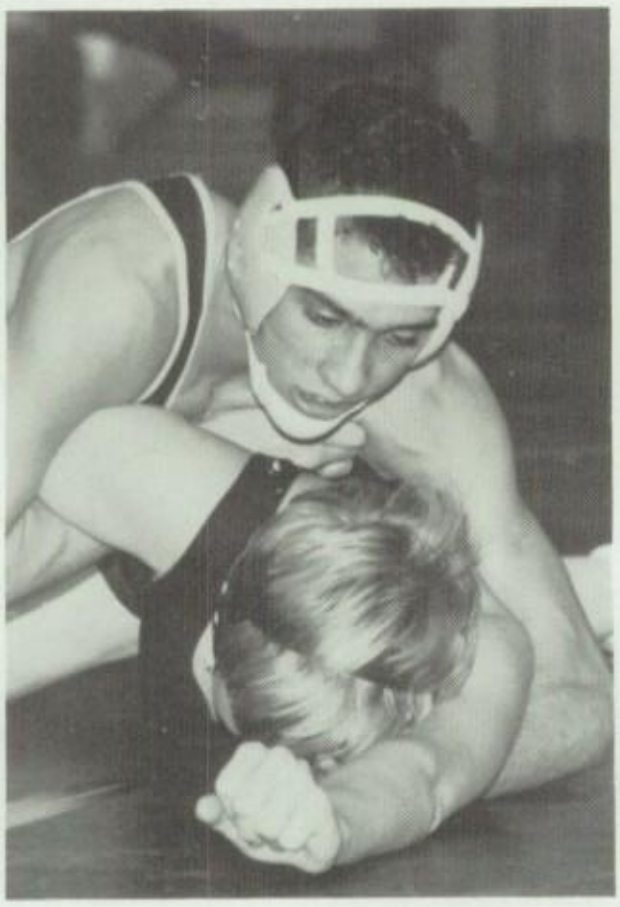
Concentrating on her next event is Junior Rhonda Blow.



Working hard to turn his opponent, Jeff Kidder shows his determination to excel.

Showing off his deltoids, lattimus dorsi, and his bulging bicep, Tim Devine defeats his opponent.

Sporting winning style, Jeff Curcio, shows this Fitz matman what wrestling is all about.



This 1986-87 season has been tough. Through all of the practices, dieting and special training set by our coaches, we have done very well considering numerous problems that have occured. All together our team has done their best and it has been well worth it. With our new assistant coach, Bob Kidder, our team has learned many new, useful techniques and has helped us advance greatly. I also would like to thank my dad, Coach Mario Bastianelli, for all the time and effort he has put forth to our team. A truly dedicated coach.

Brian Bastianelli

Feelings of Price and Team Spirit

It was again my pleasure this year, as it has been for the past seven years, to coach the Girl's Bowling Team. Foley has always displayed a genuine talent in the sport of bowling, and it was again evident this year. Among the nine girls on the team, seven were Seniors; consequently the next couple of years will be building ones. Foley's girls experienced an enjoyable and successful season. They were able to bring home a second place trophy, a credit to their talent and determination. Bowling is a unique sport in so far as one doesn't have to be a star athlete to succeed. Feelings of pride and team spirit can be shared by all. For myself I felt especially close to this year's team. Thanks, girls, for alot of good memories.

Jan Danosky

Taking their warm-ups are Lynn Suwinski and Yeda Auten.

The 1987 Girls Bowling Team

Basketball Beckons a Spirit of Victory!

Ken Vandenberghe proves he can dribble with his mouth open.

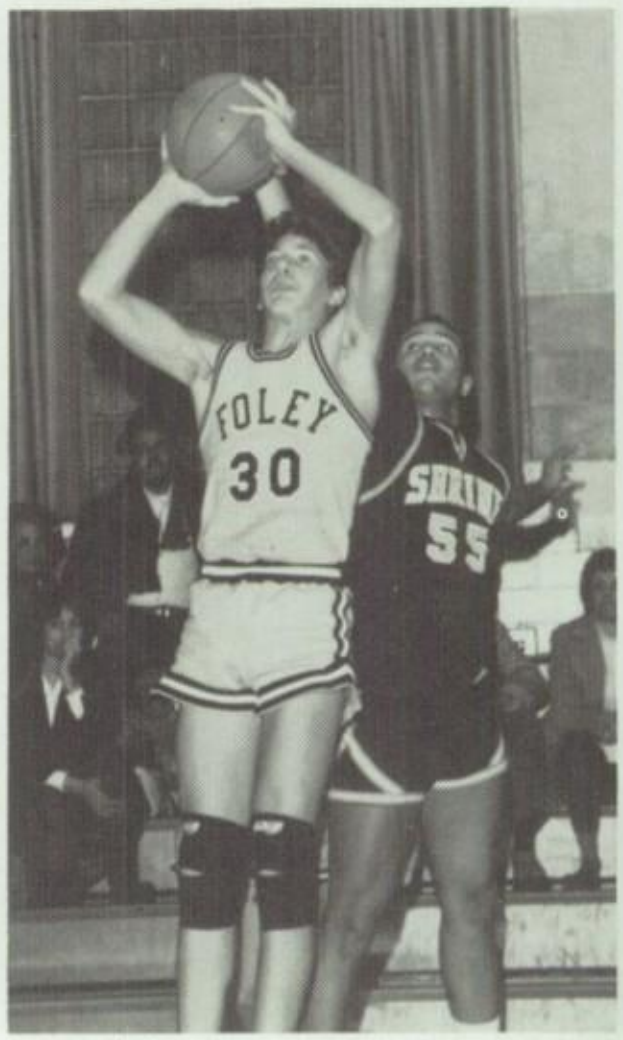
Tom Ames demonstrates the correct dribbling method just for Ken.

The 1986-1987 Varsity Bsaketball season could be summed up in one word—rough. Despite playing in a very tough Double A-bracket and only returning three lettermen, the team could only manage to log three season victories. Despite having a small team which lacked a big man, the team had a lot of spirit. This was most often seen in the unselfish and balanced scoring attack.

The 1986-1987 season can be looked back as a growing experience because they did what they did and it showed. The team has some great talent and ability. It's just the little stuff that killed the chances of having a winning season. Despite the record, the team had a lot of spirit and the fans joined in with a great deal of toilet paper.

Mark Gagnon

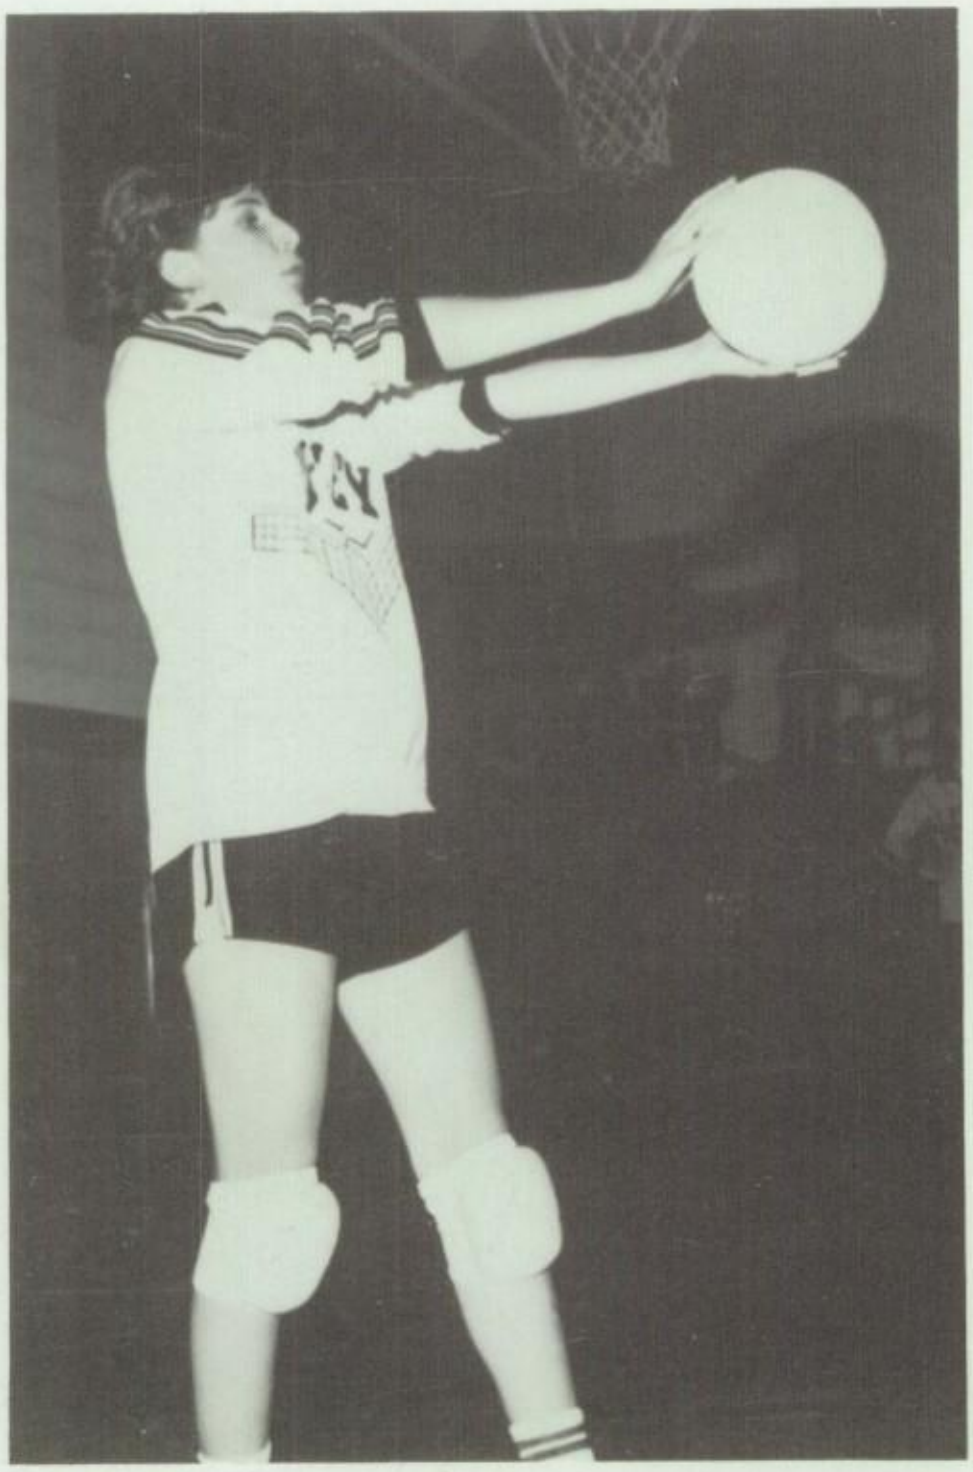
Despite Shrine's attempts, J.V. player Dennis Reilly takes the big shot.



Giving his all to the team, Tony Malinowski shows the crowd his stuff.

Steve Ronney races down court ahead of the defense to score.

Rafid Hanna has no problem driving up court for his two points.



Contemplating where she wants the ball to land is Ann Cayen getting ready for the next serve.

Relaxing and being crazy after a big victory is the 1987 Varsity Volleyball Team.

Carefully getting ready for the set is Mary Wasik, hoping to make it perfect.

Making a perfect set for the spike in order to get the point is Janeen Wolcott showing her ability to get height on the ball.

A Victory For Volleyball

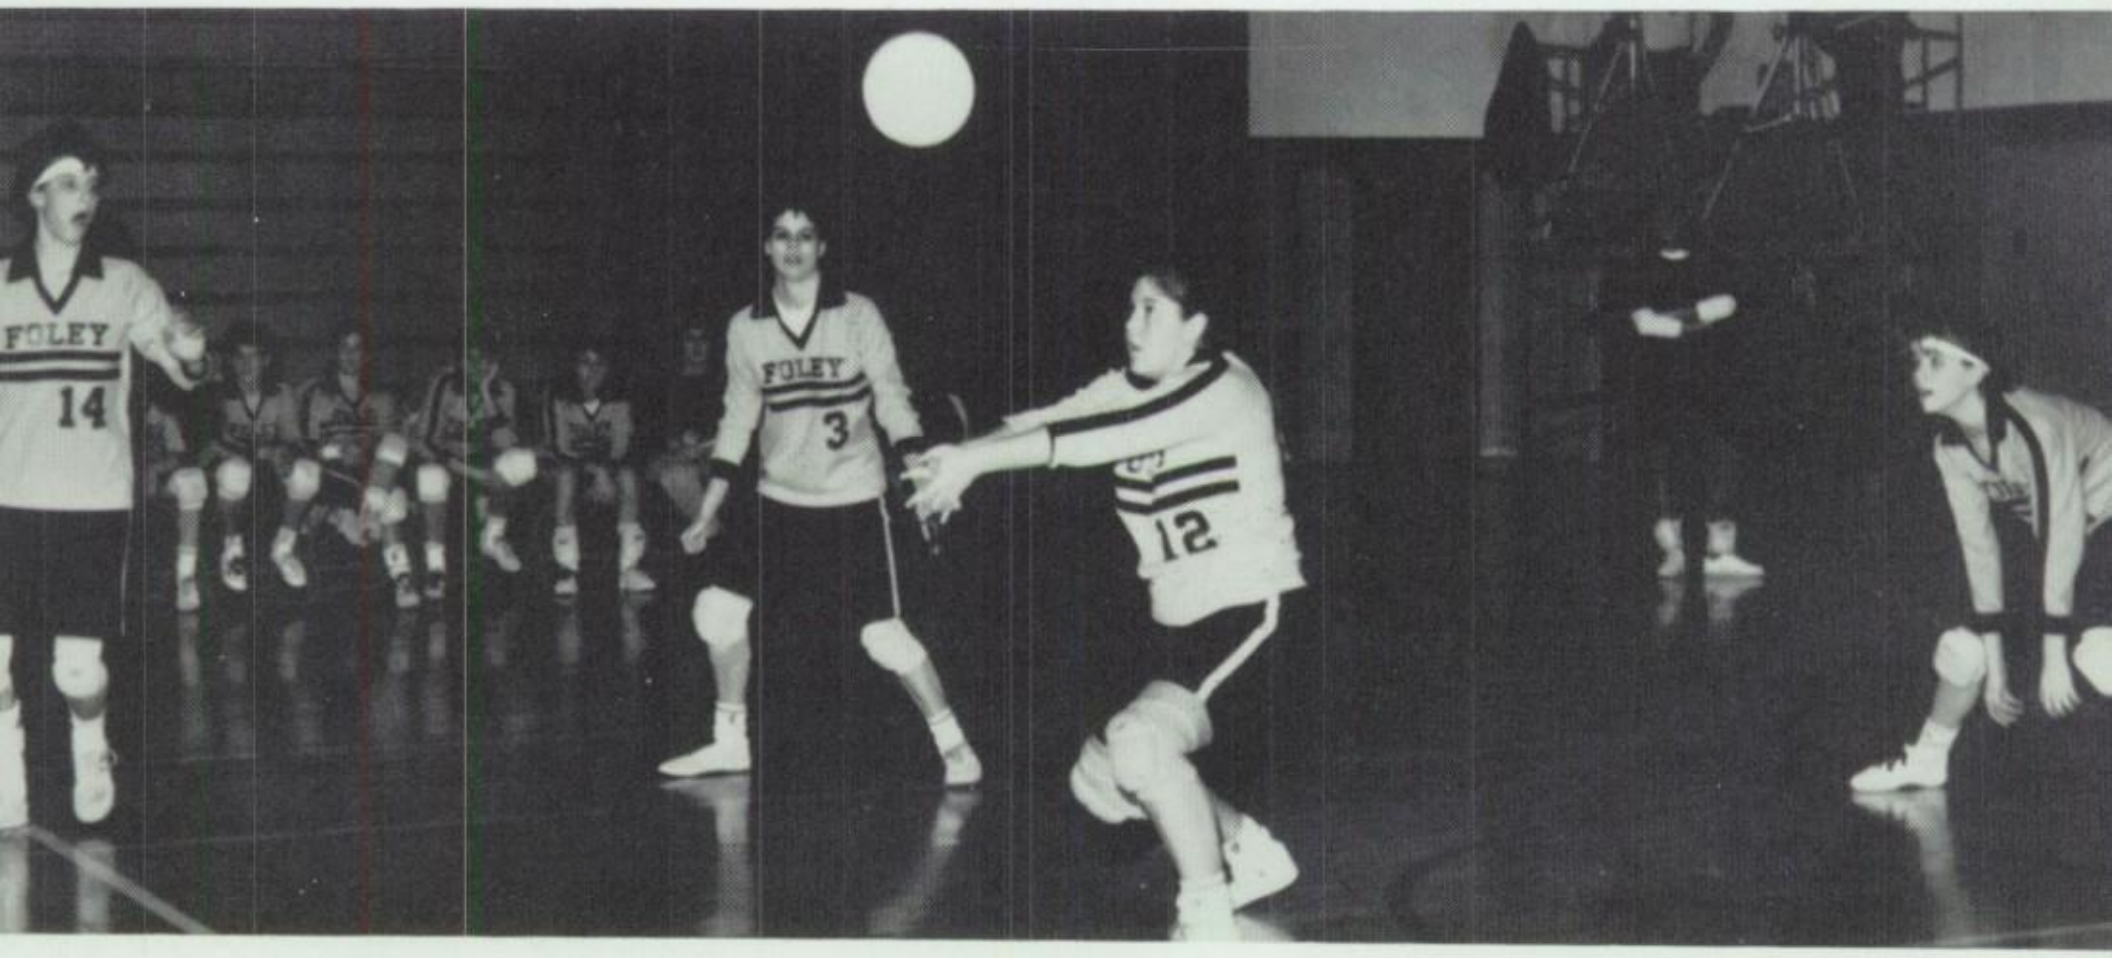
What does skin, tumor, a strut, a pickle, an aerobics class, a pumpkin, and Pee-wee Herman all have in common?

A one of a kind Volleyball Team! The 1986-87 Varsity squad is made up of some of the craziest characters I've ever met. To understand what I mean you almost have to experience it. Our emotional attachments to two warped volleyballs, (a.k.a. skin and tumor), our nick-names for each other, our practice warm-up, (eat your heart out Jane Fonda), Annie's Pee-wee monologue and so much more. This year I do not just leave a team but a group of friends I'll miss tremendously!

Karen McCormick

The 86-87 Varsity Volleyball Team was definitely different. Our team never fought and we had so much fun together. It's a "cryin shame" the season had to end. I'll never forget the away tournaments with bed dancing, the hats and sunglasses, grape wars, "bashin it", Dottie, and "The Beastie Boys". Although we did not do as well as we hoped, we did KILL AQUINAS for a 10—0 league championship record. We were a young team and had only four seniors but I know we are going to miss all of them A LOT! I want to say thank you to my teamates for giving me memories I'll never forget. Krusty, Pickle, Poccy, Strut, Bo, Na-Na, Rarin Karen, Weener, Punkin', Dilly, Lynnie Bynnie, Julie, Diane.

Thanks again, FAGEN



Careful to return the ball for the game winning point is Sue Stagg with her teamates ready to help.

Venturettes Move to Beat of Victory

Venturettes perform their final dance for the year 1986-87.

Caroline, Jenny, and Chris share a moment of togetherness.

Foley spirit movers unite.

"Venturettes" has been a lot of fun. When we look back we can see how all our hard work has paid off. Venturettes has been a learning experience. We have all grown—not only in our dance ability, but in the way we work with others as a team. Many friendships have developed since we've been together and the good times we have shared will never be forgotten. There is a casualness of the squad that makes it different from any other team. As well as the hard work that comes with any activity, we share many enjoyable and relaxing times also. There is no competition within the team itself because there is nothing to compete for. We are all equal. Working together as one is what makes us happen. Our spirit helps us move.

Caroline and Jenny

Cheerleaders Inspiring Energy

I can remember basketball season freshman year when I came to a game for the first time. The cheerleaders looked like they were having so much fun. When I tried out sophomore year, I was nervous and excited. When I look back on my past three years as a cheerleader I can see why they were having so much fun. Some people may think cheerleading is easy and useless, but we work together at least fifteen hours a week and we really do work hard (most of the time!!!) Through cheerleading I have made many special friends, have created great memories and have shared many good times. Thanks, Lisa Giachino

Kelly Fuson and Jean Madigan lead Foley fans to cheer on to a victory.

Venturettes and Cheerleaders display their special friendship.

J.V. Cheerleaders display their perfect precision.

I have been active in sports for over half my life. I find that I get bored on the off season. I am very happy that I have had the chance to enjoy this privilege. My mother could not play sports outside of the gym class because "Girls just get tired, they can't handle that kind of activity." And even worse when they were allowed to play there were special rules; like in basketball guards could only play half court. As the times changed so did the rules. Today the same rules apply in both cases and the same number of sports are available.

Having sports teams must be important to the U.S. This is evident in the fact that all kinds of sports are broadcast on T.V. and radio stations all over. Most of the guys I know make a ritual of watching "Monday Night Football"; what is it—one of the great deities? You should see them, they all but kick in the T.V. screen when their team fumbles. But not only are organized sports enjoyed by the population but also activities that have been adapted from them or even sports just played for fun with blind officials. At get-togethers these may be involved. During the summer you will find groups at the beach swimming, playing volleyball, others observing these being performed. In the winter friends of mine are ecstatic about going up North to ski. At any university, where it snows, resident students can be found enjoying a very remote form of bobsledding traying. The students are found sneaking cafeteria trays to their rooms for the later use of sledding. Others may be found engaging in mock battles which bare a striking resemblance to wrestling or boxing.

People show great enthusiasm for their school sports even after graduation. Take my father for example; he graduated from the University of Michigan about 20 years ago and mourns for a week if the football team looses. You should have seen him after the Rosebowl. Even on the high school level students go wild at games throwing confetti and chanting.

Others just trying to keep in shape, whether athletically inclined or not, may be found running or lifting weights. After all, what are sports but physical activity. When people feel tension, one relief from this is some sort of physical activity, namely sports.

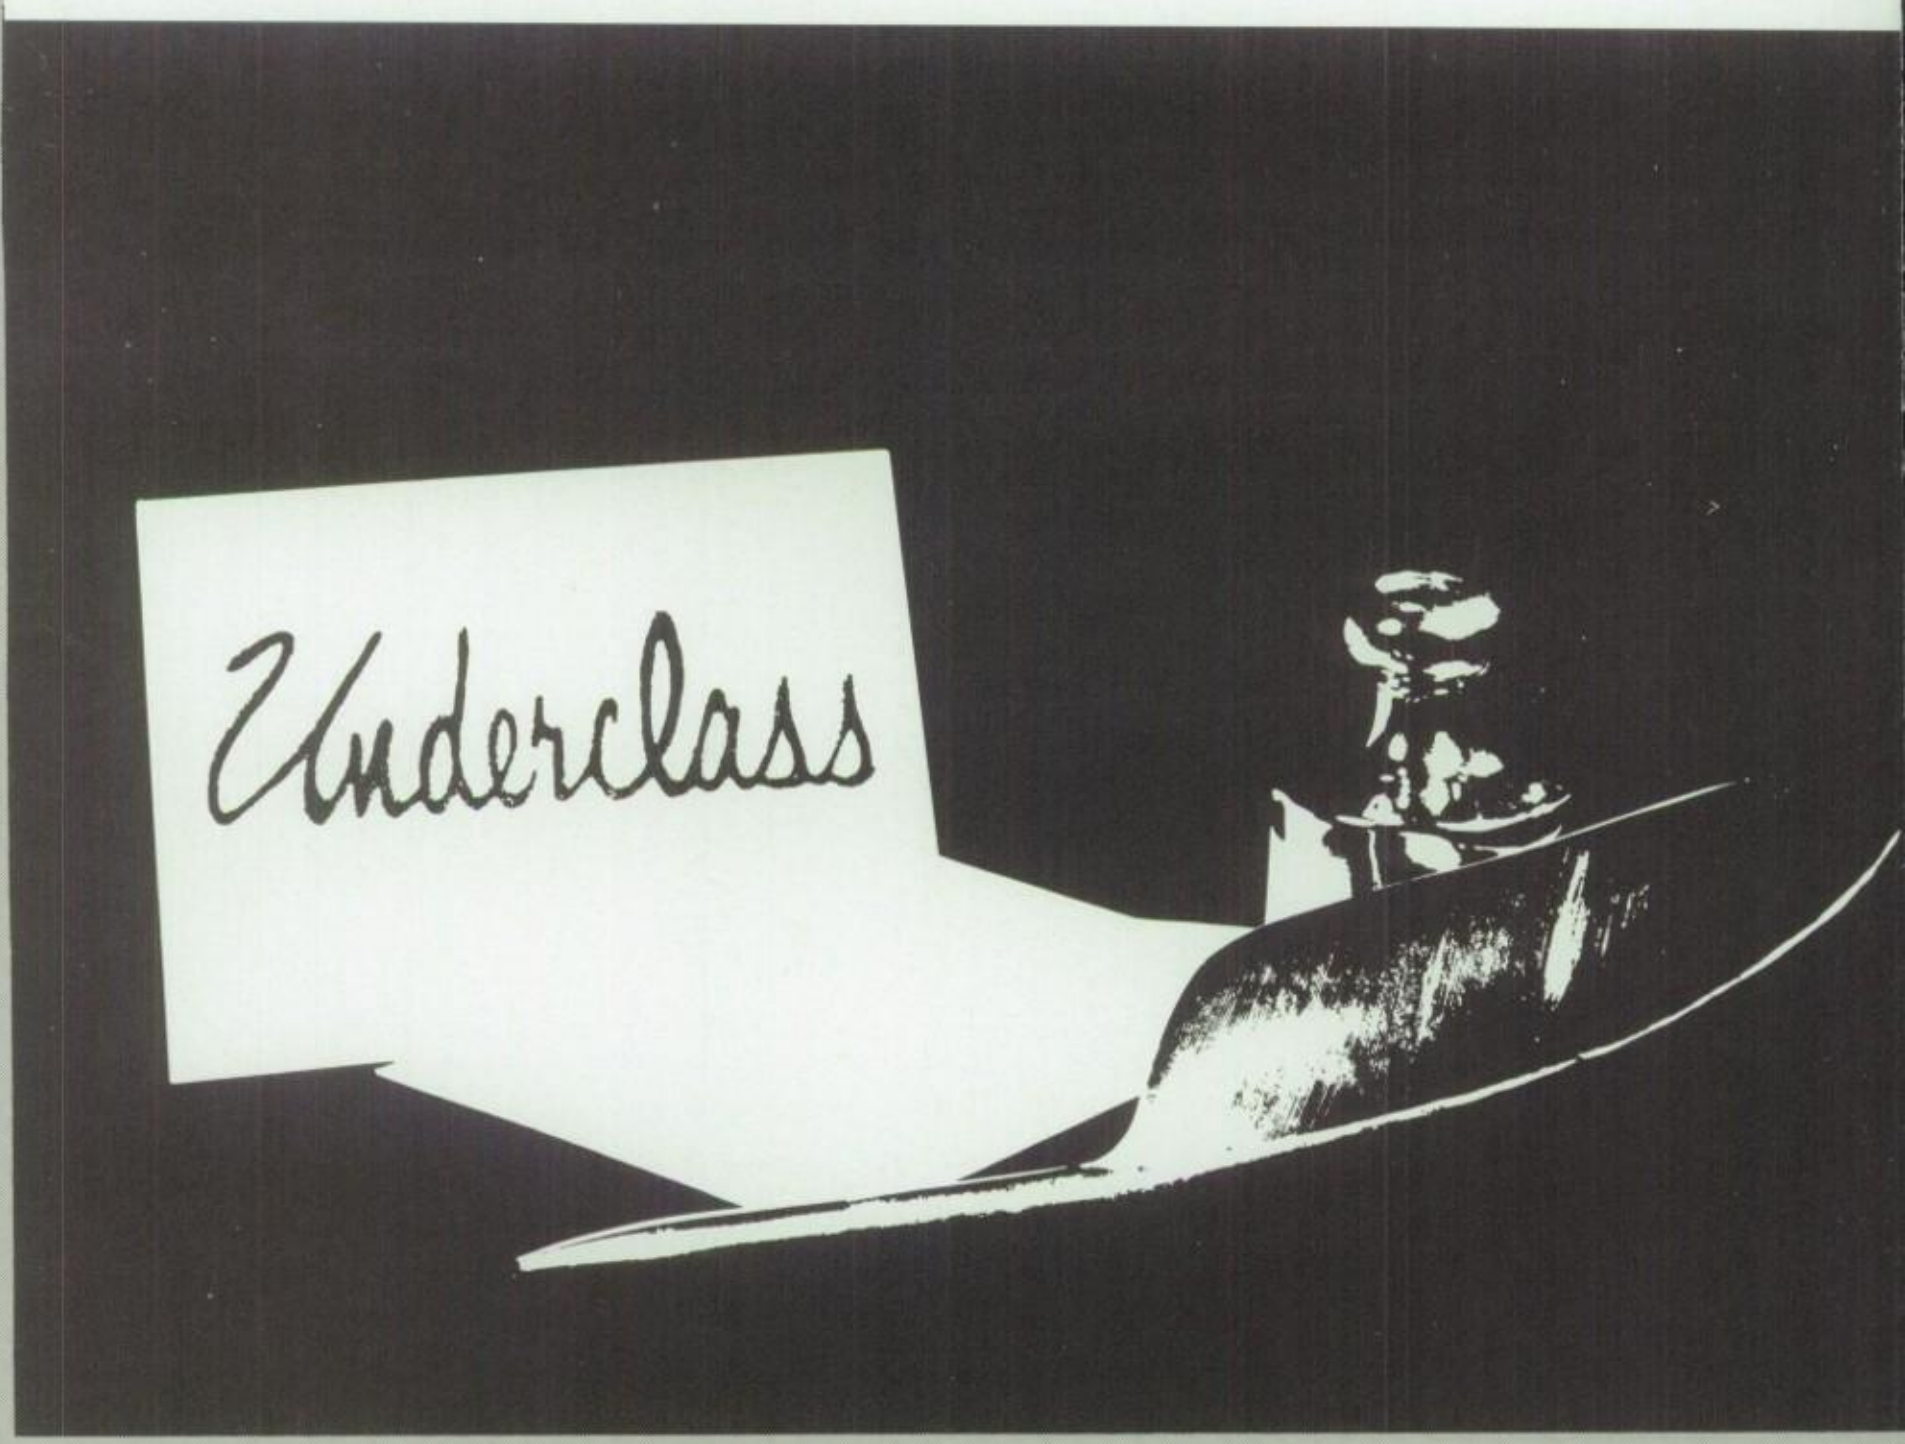
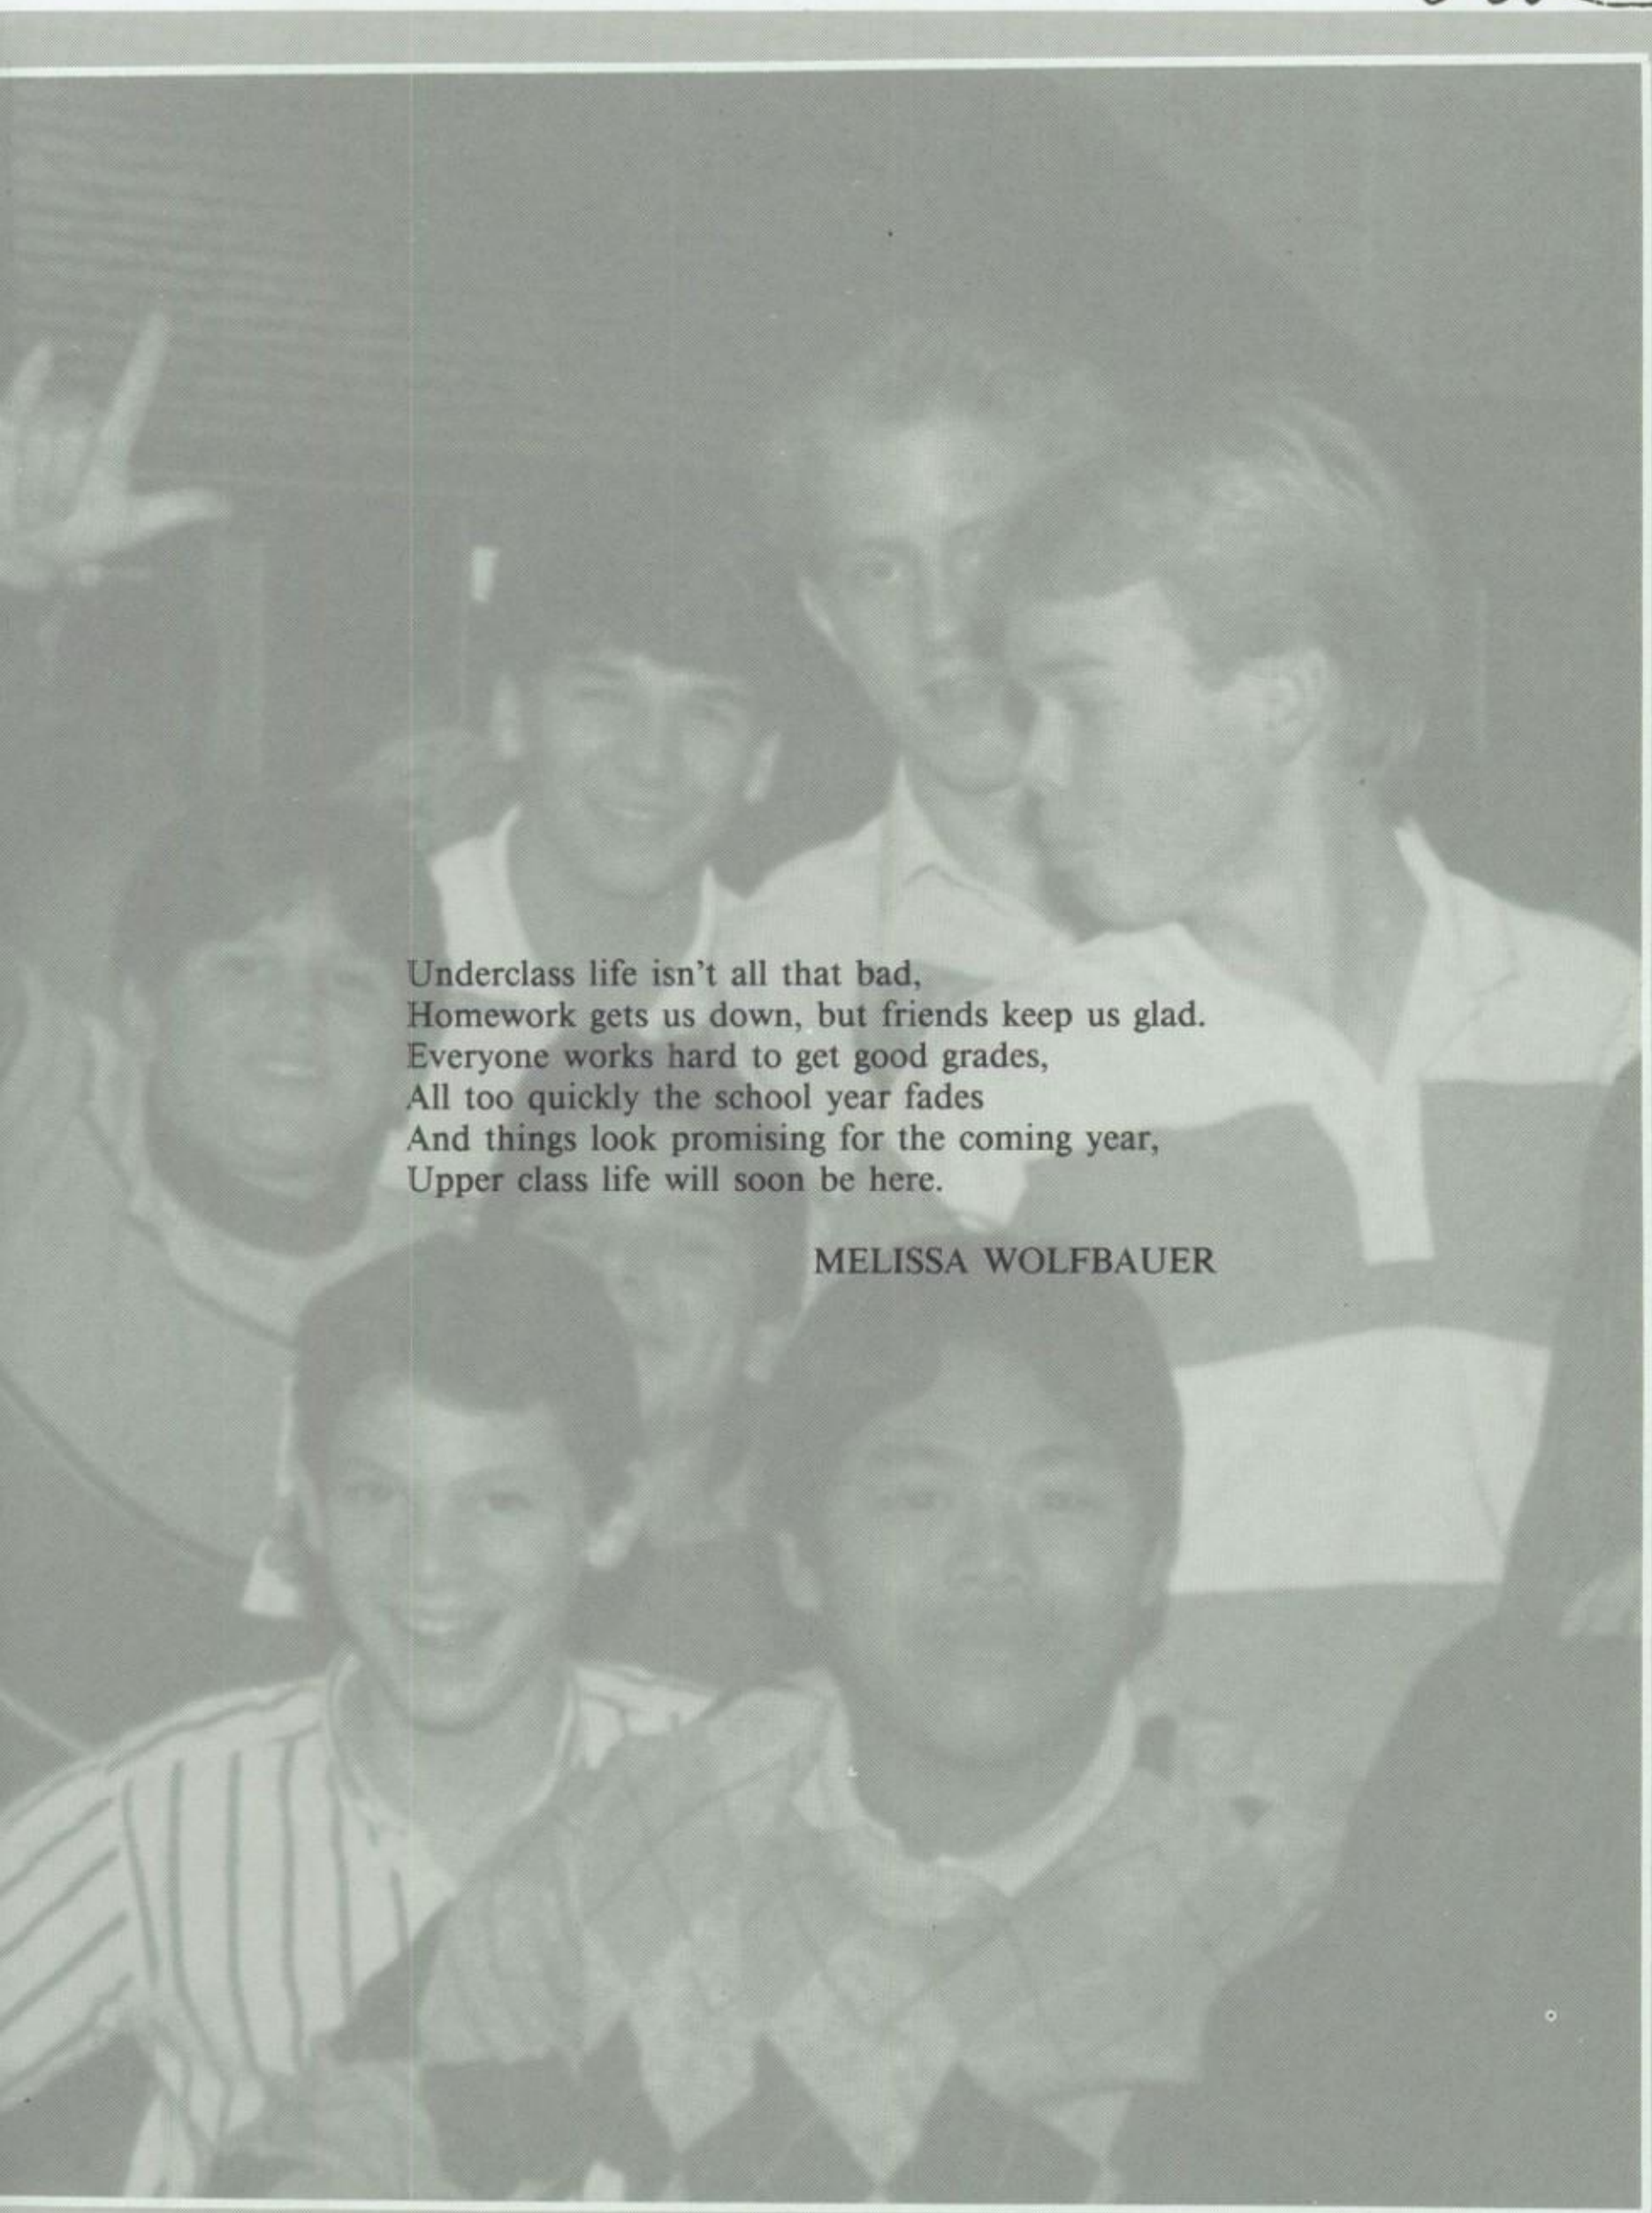
An Invitation To...





Underclass life isn't all that bad,
Homework gets us down, but friends keep us glad.
Everyone works hard to get good grades,
All too quickly the school year fades
And things look promising for the coming year,
Upper class life will soon be here.

An Invitation to Juniors

Who Invited You?

"My 8th grade year a friend of the family who was a Junior here showed me around the school during festival; after seeing all the nice people, I knew I wanted to come here."

Kelly Zook

Margaret Demers

"I went to a public school until I came here and I really didn't hear much about Foley in school. But I knew a few of the guys on the soccer team and from what I heard I thought it was interesting. After the Open House I wanted to come to Foley."

Tim Smith

"When I graduated from grade school I had a chance to pick my high school as long as it was Catholic. My first Open House I went to was Foley and from there I knew Foley was the school for me."

Greg Kareta

"My two brothers had previously attended Foley so my parents decided that I should also attend Bishop Foley High School to seek out the best education I could."

Lisa Horwath

"My older friends all attended this school. They would always talk about all the friends that they had made and the fun they shared in classes."

Krista Noldy

"My brother invited me to Bishop Foley. He made Foley and all the activities sound so good, that I knew there was no other school I would want to attend more. He said how friendly all the teachers and students are and how Foley is like a "family." Everyone is willing to help anyway possible; to think of your teachers as your friends as well as your teachers."

JoElena Ortisi

"My friends who came from Foley said it was a good school, with nice teachers, and it was very easy to get along with the other students here."

Glenn Hernandez

Do Bells Affect You?

"Bells actually never had any great impact on my life. I guess I look forward to hearing one at the end of 7th hour."

David Hill

"No, because in freshmen year I would run to my locker and then to class in three minutes or less. Now I walk into class just as the bell rings, maybe a minute before."

Laurie Vyncke

"No, freshmen year I was scared of being late for class, so I would carry most of my books around with me all day. Now, I'm more relaxed and take my time without being late."

Barb Kustrzyk

"As quoted from the late, great Edgar Allen Poe, "Bells, bells, bells, bells, bells, bells, bells, bells, bells."

Marc Woita

"No, freshmen year when the bells would ring I would run to class. Now as a Junior I kind of float to class."

Ron Griffiths

"What bells?"

Jeff Torzy

"No, because now I know the school and where to go."

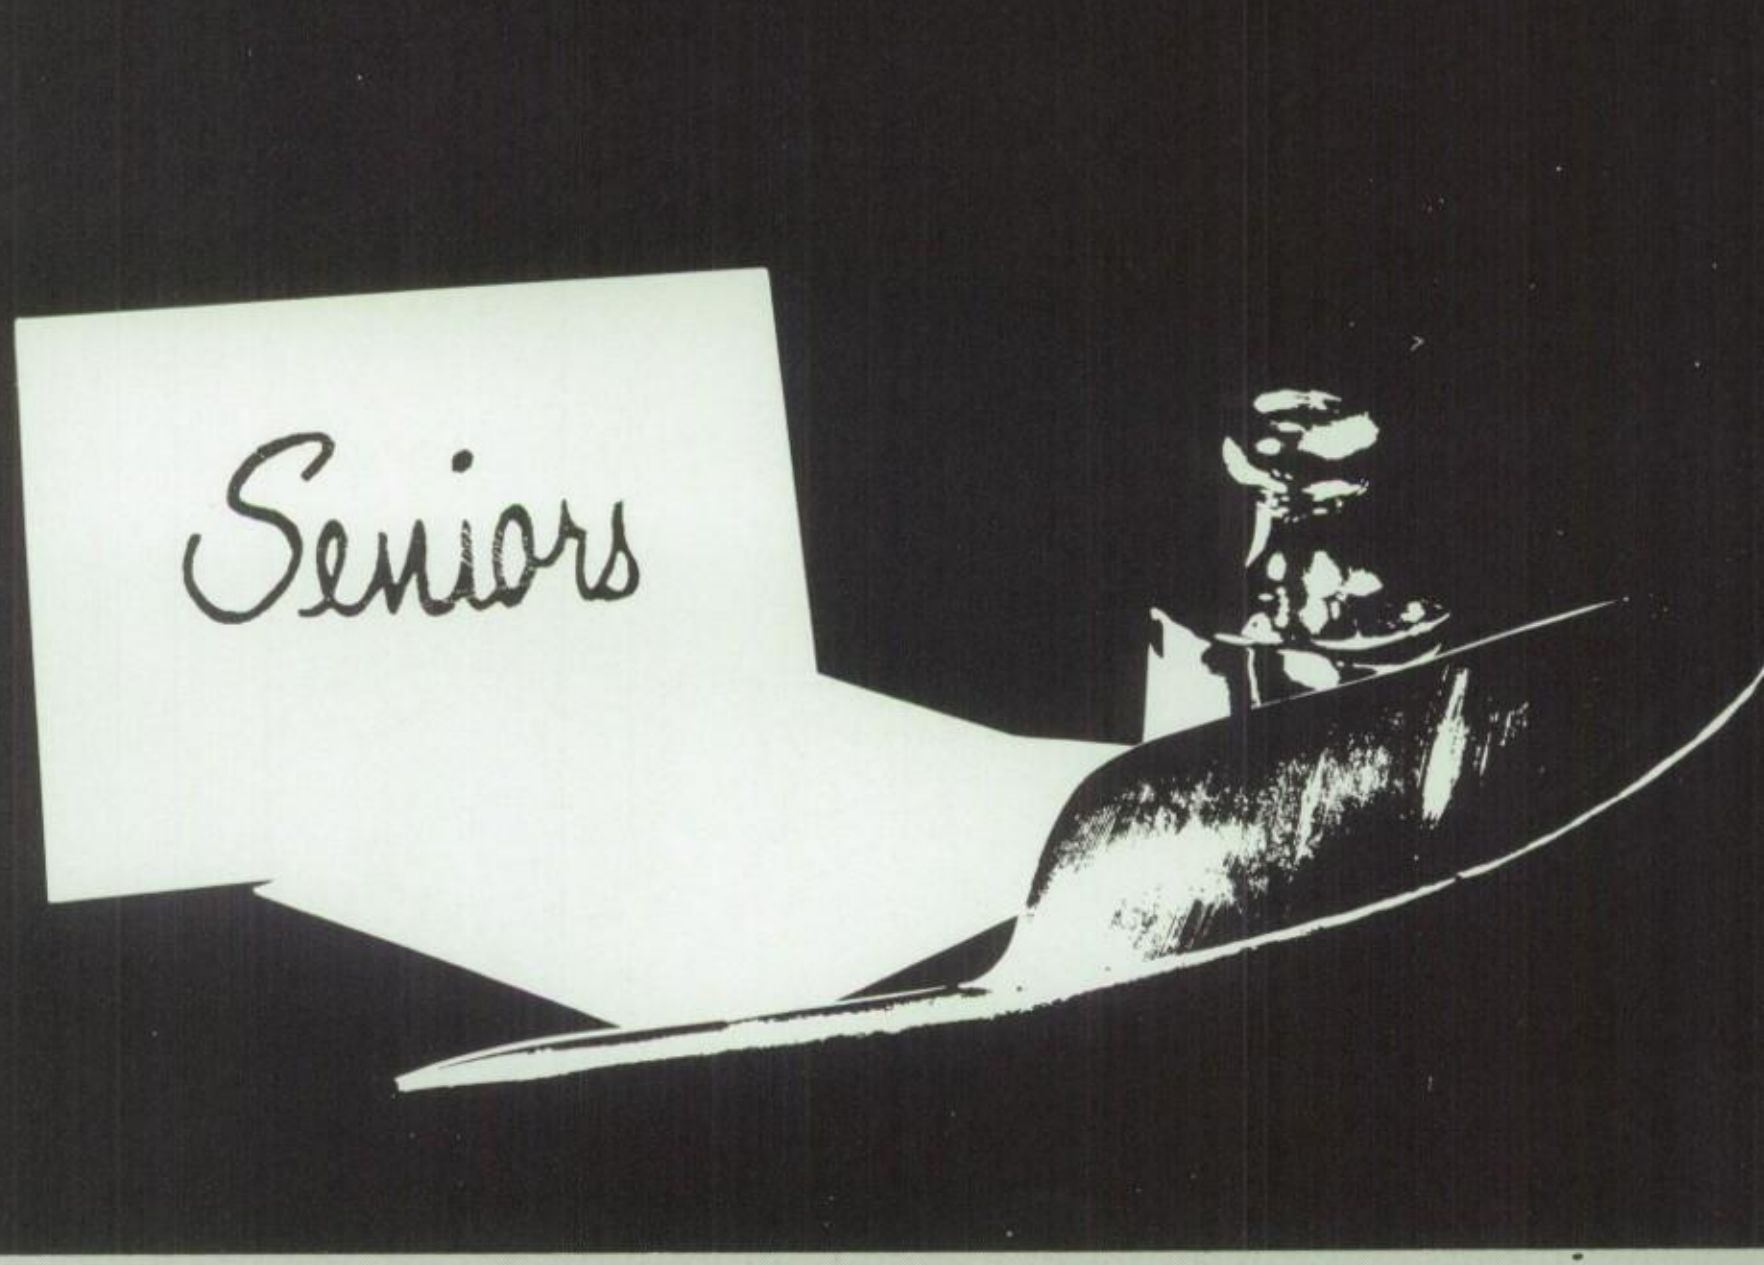
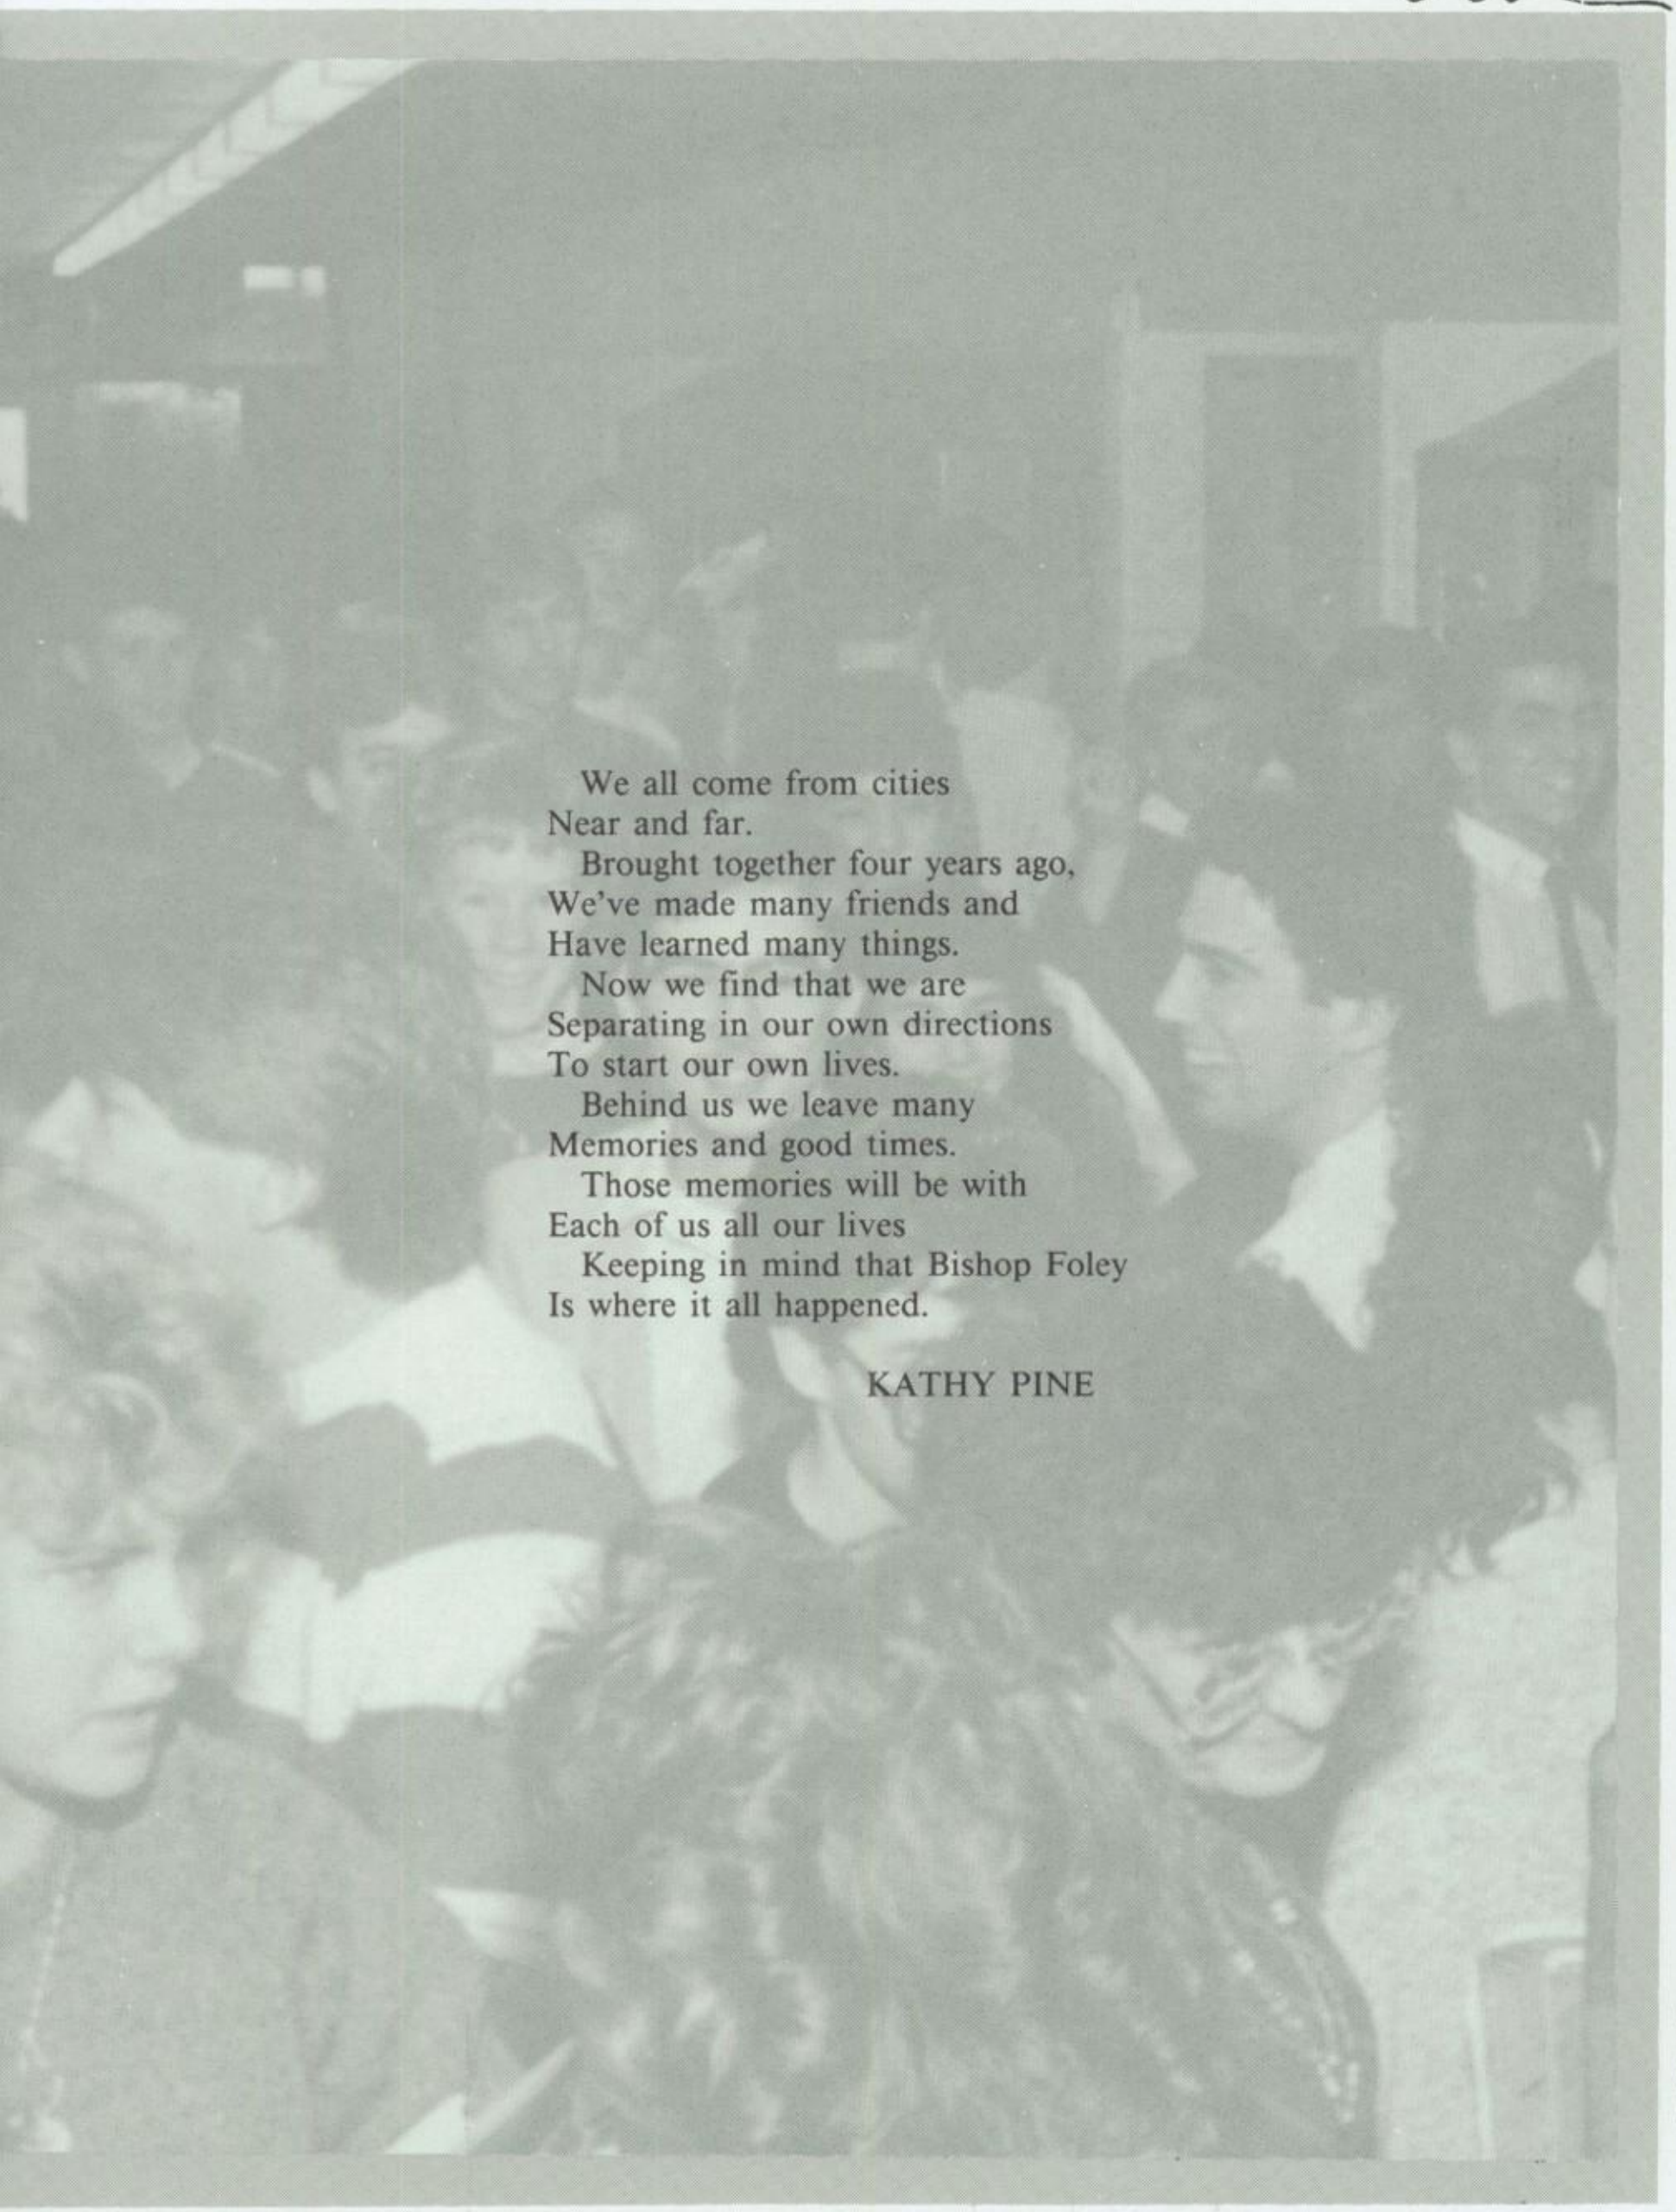
An Invitation To...





We all come from cities
Near and far.
Brought together four years ago,
We've made many friends and
Have learned many things.
Now we find that we are
Separating in our own directions
To start our own lives.
Behind us we leave many
Memories and good times.
Those memories will be with
Each of us all our lives
Keeping in mind that Bishop Foley
Is where it all happened.

As a senior here at Bishop Foley I can honestly say that this year has been the best one yet. Although they have all been great, this is the most significant to me. Unfortunately, it is quickly coming to an end. High school years will soon be only memories. Along with ends comes new beginnings though. Hopefully they will turn out to be as great as the past years at Foley have proved to be.

Foley has given me a lot, and I am grateful that I was given the chance to go to such a fine school. Without this chance, I would have never been able to know some of my closest friends, who have taught me a lot. I can say that I have gotten something out of Foley, and that I will not be leaving empty handed.

Senior Friendships

I can't believe that the class of 1987 is actually going to be graduating this year. Our big year has finally arrived. Being part of this SENIOR class I have been a witness to the growth and maturity of many people I would have never thought it would happen to. I have shared in many of the activities that many of us can look back and laugh at. I have enjoyed learning a variety of things with the help of some very helpful teachers. Most importantly I have had the opportunity to become friends with some of the most caring, funloving people that I have ever met. I would like to thank Foley for giving me the opportunity to do all this and so much more.

We Came, Enjoyed,

Our first invitation to Foley was when we decided to come here as Freshmen. Looking back now, as a freshmen Senior year seemed so far away, but now I wonder where all the years have gone. When we came here we left some friends behind but made many more. As we moved on through our years of school we find our group of friends and prepare for after high school life. By far everyone's favorite year is probably Senior year. By this year we have conquered most obstacles that have blocked our way and are enjoying some of the privileges of Senior year. But beginning and ending high school weren't the only high points. We had two years in between of fun filled times shared with close friends. But over all WE CAME, ENJOYED AND CONQUERED.

Senior Memories

The past four years here at Foley for me have been fun-filled, challenging and a very big learning experience. I've grown mentally, physically and spiritually. Being a Senior brings a lot of pressure, but it is meant to be rewarding and fun in the end. I got involved as much as I could to support my school and I've gotten a lot out of it. Working as a secretary in the Student Activities Office has brought me to know many faculty, staff and friends. Every year goes by faster and faster, so you have to give it all you have and make the most out of it. I strongly feel that you get out of Foley what you put into it. I'm thankful for the education I have had here at Foley and all the events that went on throughout the years. I'm very content with my memories of high school here at Foley.

To Watch

Four things a man must learn to do
If he would make his record true:
To think without confusion clearly;
To love his fellow-men sincerely;
To act from honest motives purely;
To trust in God and Heaven securely.

Humble we must be, if to heaven we go; High is the roof there, but the gate is low.

Three things there are that will never come back:
The arrow shot forth on its destined track;
The appointed hour that could not wait;
And the helpful word that was spoken too late.

God says to me with kind of a smile,
"Hey now would you like to be God awhile
And steer the world?"
"Okay," says I, "I'll give it a try.
Where do I sit?
How much do I get?
What time is lunch?
When can I quit?"
"Gimmie back that wheel," says God,
"I don't think you're quite ready yet."

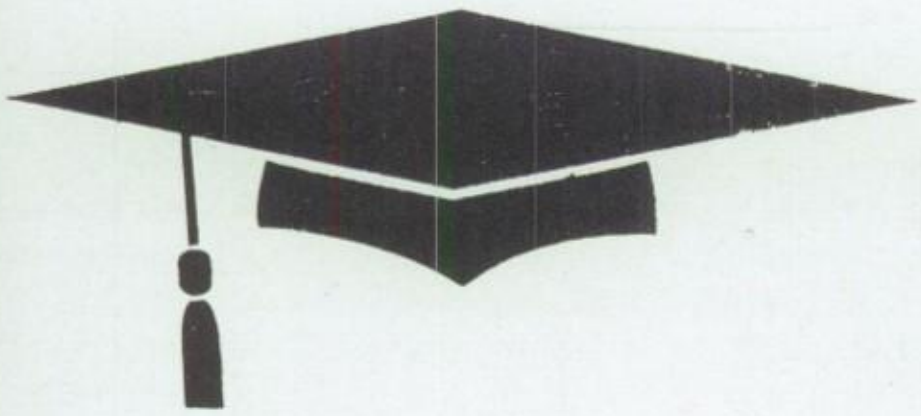
Ready for the Future



These last four years here at Foley have been filled with many memorable experiences. It wasn't too long ago when I was a scared freshman lost in the halls. Now that I am a senior I can look back and laugh. I can remember all the good times such as games, festival, retreats, dances and outings with my friends that have helped me grow into a mature and confident person. I can really believe that there is a "Foley Family" because of the closeness between my friends and teachers. All in all, these years at Foley have been the best times of my life. And I feel I am better prepared to face the challenges of life because of a strong foundation.

Senior Memories

Everyone says that Senior year is supposed to be the most enjoyable year, yet the funny thing is, every year at Bishop Foley has been the most enjoyable to me. Of course, there is something special about senior year and that was spending my last year not only in high school, but with my friends, dances, cold football games, pep-rallies, parties, retreats and most importantly, graduation. Nothing can replace the memories of the friends we've shared them with. So take my advice and live your high school years to the fullest because time slips by and you can only dream to do it over again!

Best Years of Your Life

Looking back at my years at Bishop Foley I can see that they truly are the "best years of your life". When I came to Foley as a Freshman, I came from a public school system. Not knowing what to expect I was surprised at how different things were from what I expected from a Catholic school. I thought it would be strict, you know no running in the halls, hickory stick over the knuckles kind of stuff. Was I wrong! The amount of love and caring that went from the faculty to the students was undescribable. It wasn't hard to make friends at Foley; all you had to do was to get involved in something, and at Foley thats not hard. As I look back upon my High School years, through the good, the bad, the happy and the sad they truly are the "best years of my life".

When we came to Foley as Freshen we were willing to open up to meeting new friends. As Sophomores we let these friendships mature. When Junior year approached and proceeded there were personality conflicts and differences of opinions between us all; and instead of working them out we all just let them draw us apart. There became a separation of our class that hurt each person who was a part of it. Alot of hard times came along with this separation, but those times made us appreciate the good times we might have taken for granted otherwise. The happy times we, then, had to share were the best and the bad times only helped us to learn and grow. We found out what true friendship is all about. I've learned a lot from my high school years and have come to the realization that everything happens for a reason. The deeper our friendships grow, the more difficult it is to think of college separations. But this is our time to move. I am forever thankful to the people I've had the privilege and pleasure to know, love, and grow with.

Good-Luck!

Hopes, Dreams, Laughter

Some famous person once said, "You never appreciate what you have until it's gone." Never have I realized the true meaning of that statement until now. I can remember friends, who are now Alumni, telling me to make the most of my four years at Foley—they will be the best of my life. Though it doesn't seem quite that way during the long hauls between weekends, I'd like to tell my not-yet-graduating friends that these high school years are the best.

Explaining what a senior is like is so difficult to do in such a short time: It's looking forward to graduation, yet contemplating on the five year plan. It's getting the cash, the car, and the late curfew because, "Hey mom, I am a Senior!" It's hopes, dreams, laughter, tears, and memories. In a word, it's Senioritis, and with a little luck and time you'll catch it!!

Enjoy Senioritis

Through my years at Foley, though I have been in about the same circle of friends, each year has been unique. I will never forget Freshmen year; I think it was the most exciting. I went to all of the dances and most other school events eager to meet new friends.

My Sophomore year I was just happy not to be a Freshman. During this year I learned how to play the teachers, the key phrases to assure you a blow-off class period. Ms. Hennessy—her trip to France; Mr. Clancy—whether or not to shave off his beard, and so on.

It seems each year passes by faster before I knew it; I was a Junior. I had no doubt as to where I stood in school. I knew how to treat the underclassmen as well as the Seniors. My last summer is approaching too quickly for my comfort because then I must say goodbye many good friends. I am not too sad yet because I acquired myself a fairly easy schedule and am enjoying a chronic case of Senioritis.

Seniors Way Too Hot

Being away from Bishop Foley my sophomore year taught me to appreciate the superior school I am gladly a part of. Just its stimulating spiritual atmosphere and its structured learning environment set Bishop Foley a step above the rest. I'll leave here with confidence, knowing that I have been well prepared for college and greatly able to tackle a career in the health field.

But it's the people of Foley that really make it special. The relationship between the staff and students is a comfortable and caring one. I have watched friendships grow stronger every year and have made many new friends through activities along with playing soccer, and I'm sure to make more in Daytona! Thinking realistically I know we'll all go our separate ways, but I will treasure everyone and everything I've experienced during my years here at Foley and will reflect on them in my heart.

The Years Fly By!

My four years at Bishop Foley have gone by at breakneck speed. I'm still amazed when I think about the fact that this is my last year in high school. I have a feeling that college is going to go by just as fast.

I feel that I have experienced the most growth during my high school years, and I'm happy that I did it in Foley. I'm not the same person that I was freshman year. I now have new experiences and memories to add to my old ones.

My senior year has been filled with fun, decisions and hard work. It's been a year to look back on and a year to look forward into the future. I've had some pretty special times, and have gained some special friends at Bishop Foley and I know I will keep their memories with me throughout life. I also feel that Foley gave me an appropriate academic background which will help me succeed in college. I know I will miss the Bishop Foley family, but I am also looking forward to the future and what's beyond the Foley halls.

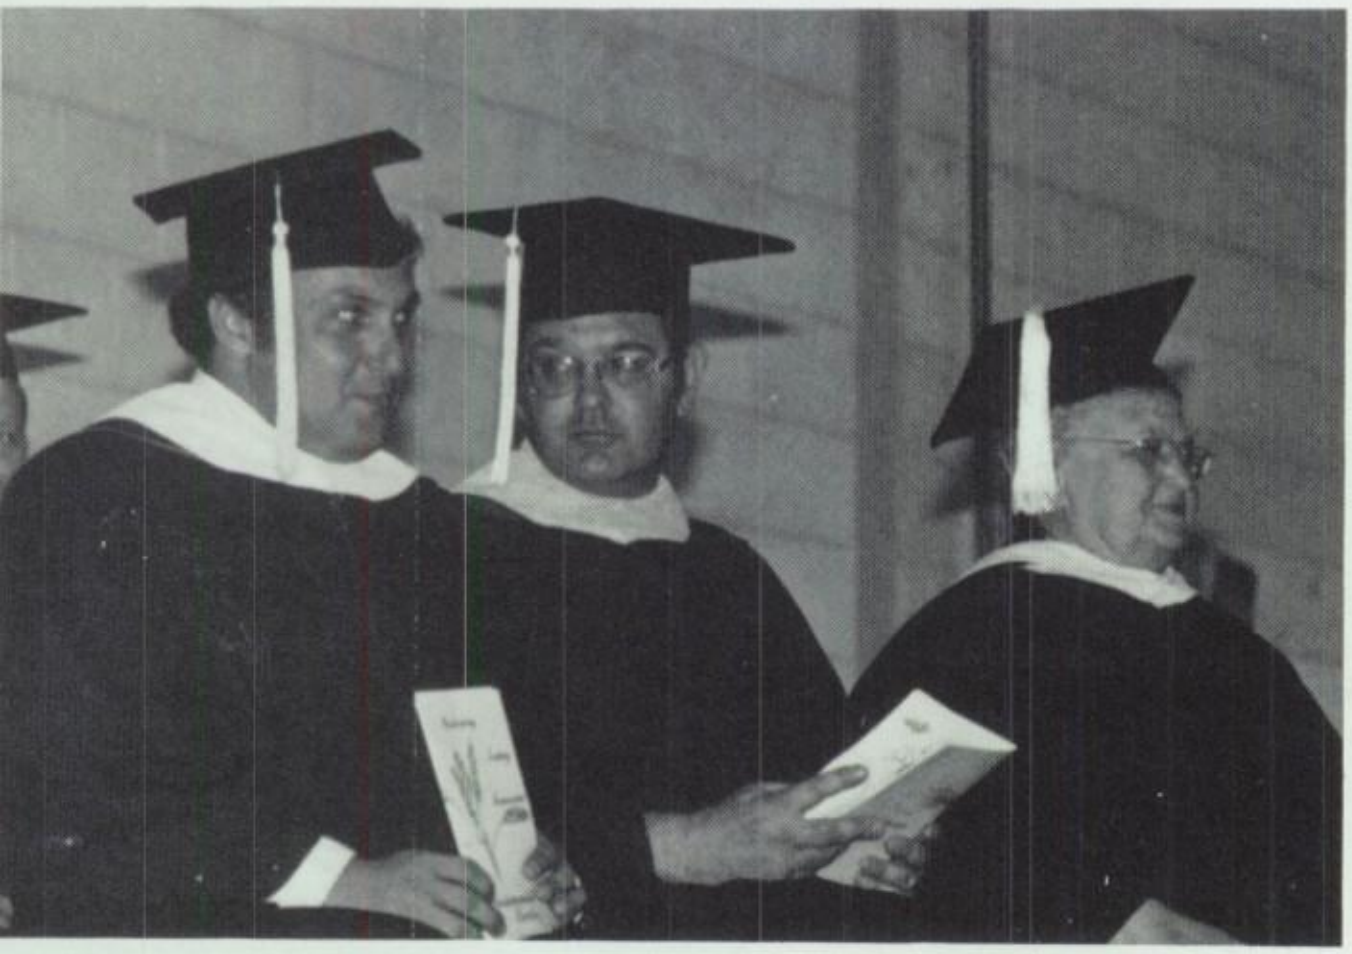
Remembering That Smile

Foley's Clown



Mr. Boulus was the student activities director here at Foley. He touched everyone he encountered in the same manner the clown did in this poem. Mr. Boulus had a natural glow full of love and vitality. He found the good in everyone and brought it out. As his last class, we celebrate him by remembering that smile.

One winter afternoon

(at the magical hour when is becomes if)

a bespangled clown
standing on eighth street
handed me a flower.

Nobody, it's safe to say, observed him but myself; and why? because without any doubt he was whatever (first and last)

most people fear most:
a mystery for which I've
no word except alive

—that is, completely alert
and miraculously whole;

with not merely a mind and a heart

but unquestionably a soul—
by no means funereally hilarious

(or otherwise democratic) but essentially poetic or ethereally serious:

a fine not a coarse clown
(no mob, but a person) and while never saying a word

who was anything but dumb;
since the silence of him—self sang like a bird.

Most people have been heard screaming for international measures that render hell rational

—i thank heaven somebody's crazy
enough to give me a daisy

e.e. cummings

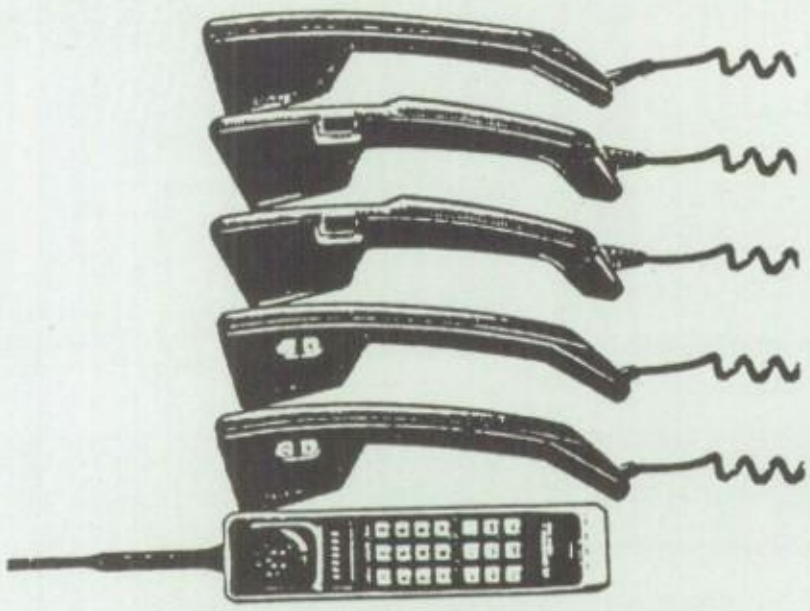
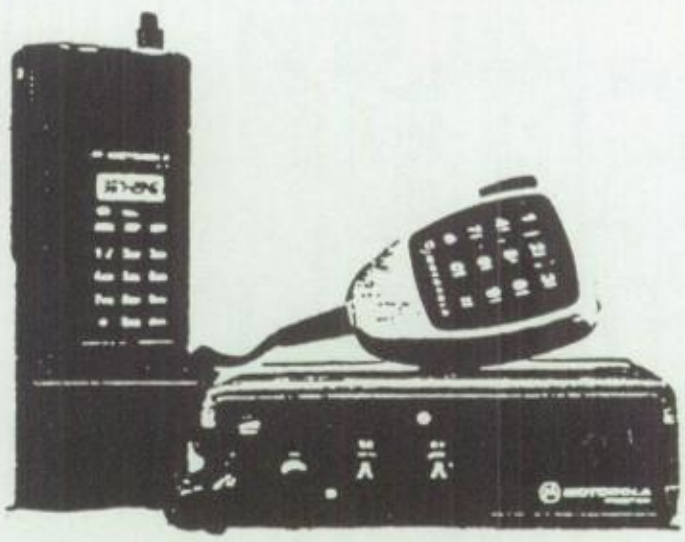
The difference between managing money...and making it.





A cellular car phone is a great convenience. Until you leave your car. Which is why Motorola developed a cellular car phone system that lets you talk while you walk—and while you're in your car.

We call it the Motorola 8000X System. It can put you in touch with anywhere in the world from virtually anywhere in a cellular area.

Here's how it works. When you leave your car, detach the portable unit and take it with you. It weighs only 30 ounces. Fits in the palm of your hand. And lets you make calls from the construction site, golf course, or in other cities with cellular service.

In your car, the mobile telephone handset has all of Motorola's advanced mobile features—such as 32-digit capacity to access economy long-distance service, 111 phone number memory and automatic redialing.

There's no question that personal computers and other kinds of office equipment can help you manage money. But Motorola mobile 2-way radios are designed to help you be more productive. Which can help you make money. Call us and find out how.

A Motorola 2-way Communications System is like having an extra driver out there generating income. Time isn't wasted between jobs, there are fewer delays, more productive trips. You stay in charge, serving more customers. All to help your business grow.

Call Motorola today for a free demonstration. Find out about the exciting, new developments in two-way communication. Motorola offers the fullest line of two-way systems—from inexpensive, no-frills portable and mobile radios to sophisticated systems that give you quick access to a private channel and are available with a mobile-telephone feature.

Motorola Communications can help your business make more money. And after all, you have to make it before you can manage it.

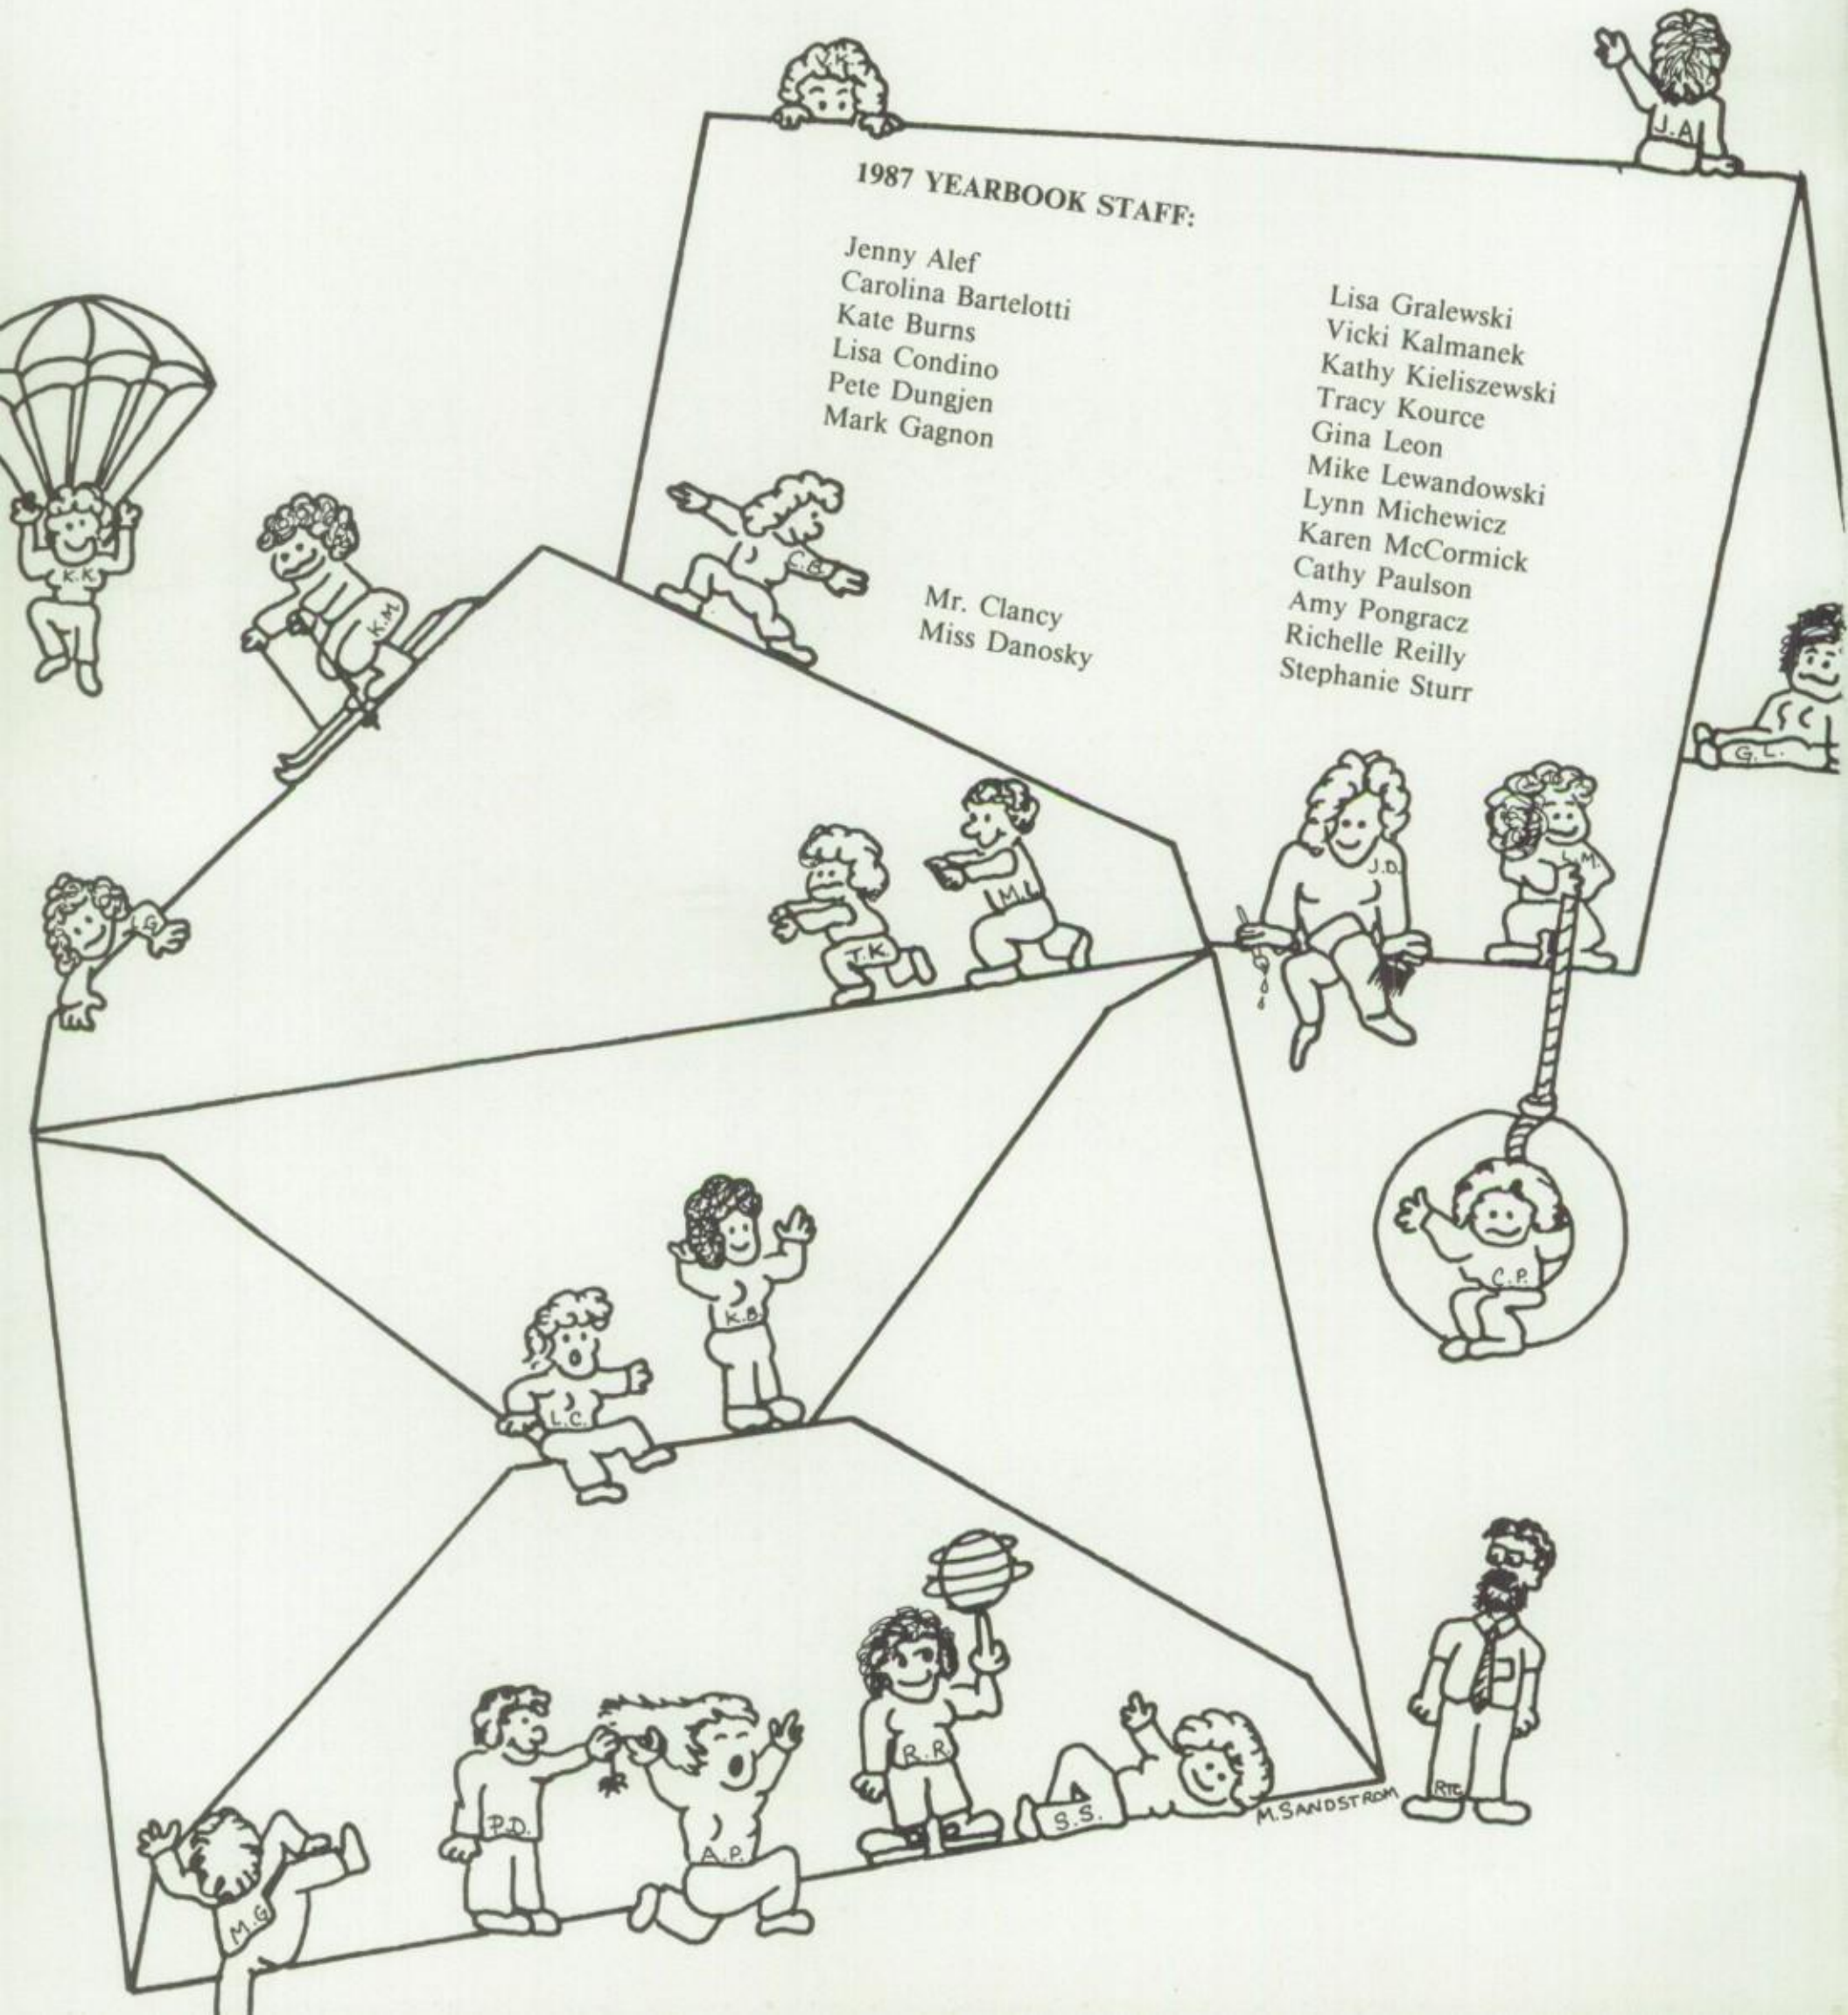
Thanks For Accepting Our Invitation . . .

We Hope You've Enjoyed It!



Barry,
My most
"compatible" guy.
Who would've ever guessed?! I still remember the first time we met & you made that nasty crack about me & Jim Abrew... get your facts straight, o.k.?! Anyways,
I forgave u for that — stay the sweet person u r. & Don't forget your buddy, Take care —

Ann

Barry, such a Bear.
You're such a great guy.
Hopefully you'll start hitting the weights soon
so we'll have a half way decent team.
Have a great Summer
but not too great.

You a great guy.
Who never did his homework
but was fun
to be in class
with you hope to have you
in some classes
next year

Mike,
You always welcome with your
Random little jokes A-TEAM to lunch. But I think that your a great friend, you are always cool to me, and a great pal.
